FORWARD

We, the students and inhabitants of the planet R. L. A. S. H. S., take great pleasure in showing you, the reader and astronaut, the many areas of our school life. Our faithful mascot and your guide, Leo, takes you on a trip through corridors and classrooms. This adventure, like all noteworthy Space Age events, exposes both the mysteries and expectancies of our school. Leo's tour spans the year 1963–64 and fills pages with happenings from concerts, rehearsals, tests, and experiments to assemblies, games, societies, and government.

Now Red Lion's seniority invites you to join them in this age of space and rocket travel as you leaf through the following pages and go ORBITING WITH LEO.

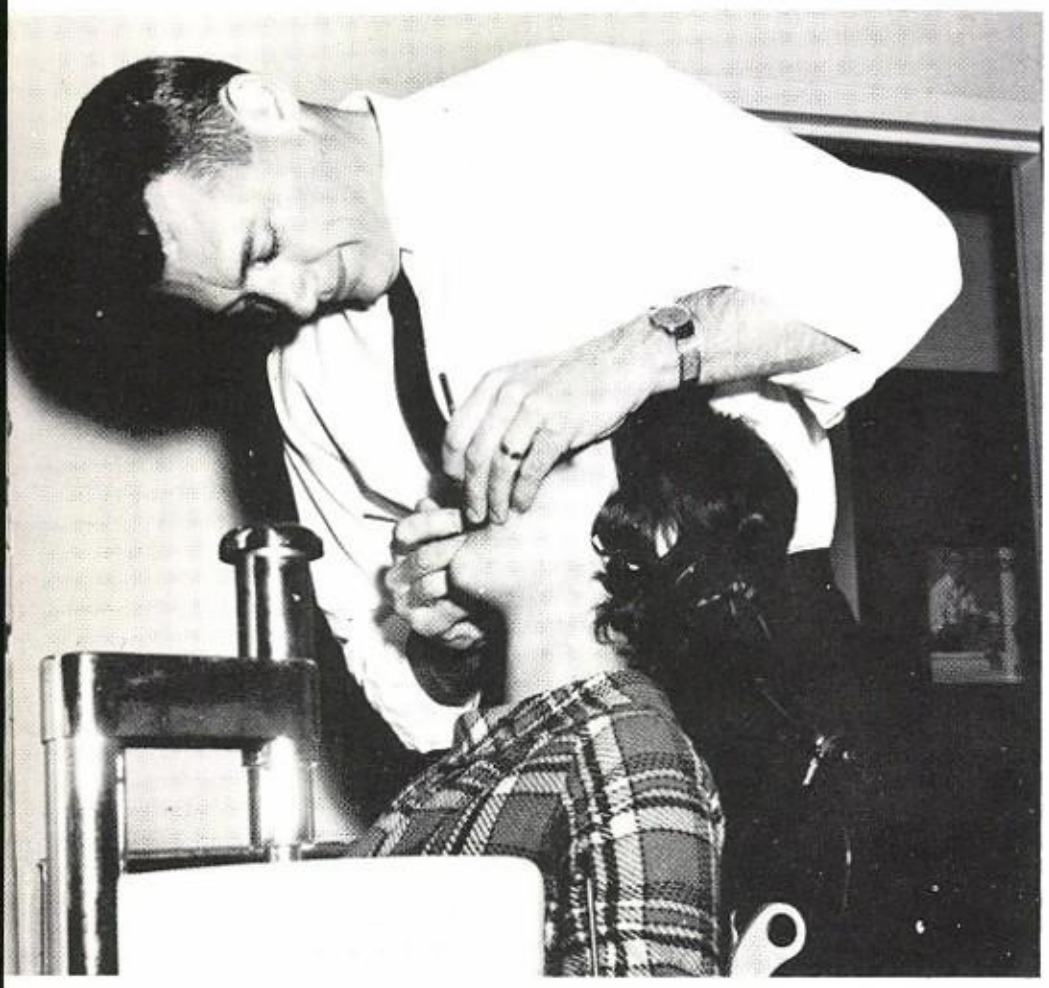
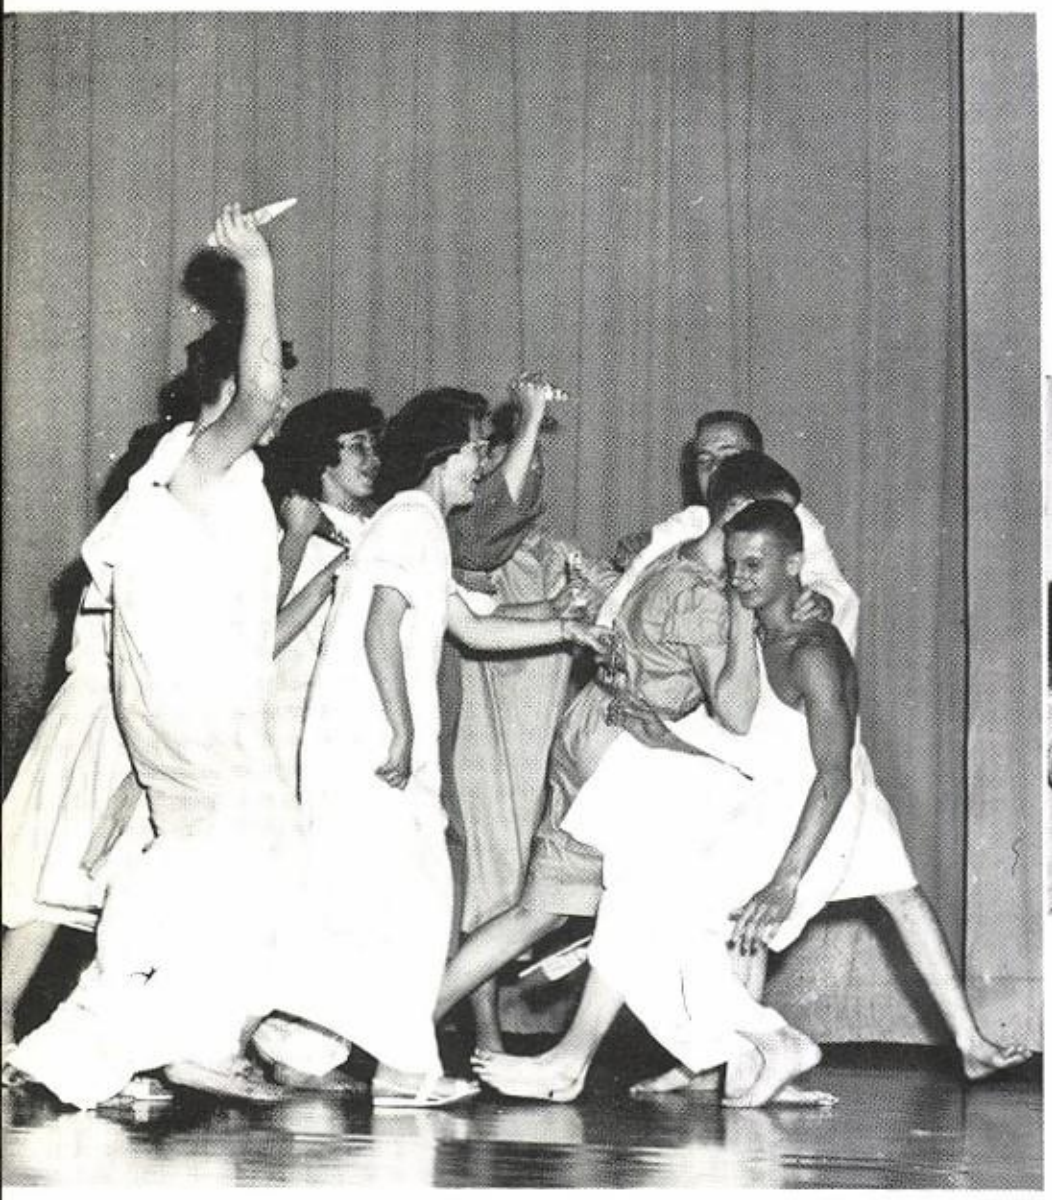
SPRING

R. L. H. S. Sets the Stage



Above: Dr. Flinchbaugh says "open wide" as he gives Connie Hake her required examination. Below: "Et tu, Brute!" Caesar's last hours are portrayed by a 10th grade English class. Jane Sechrist, Lucille Lehman, and Wayne Steffee look like they're having a good time.

Although the '63 school term neared its end, energetic students were still in full swing. Sophomores were scheduled for required dental examinations, and yearbooks were distributed by seniors. The faculty tea, sponsored by the Future Teachers' Association, allowed teachers to relax after a day in this busy atmosphere. Students also had their chance to sit back a few minutes and enjoy a fashion show produced by the Tri-Hi-Y. The year would not have been complete if these busy young lions were not repayed with words of thanks, certificates, or letters. Many students, athletic, scientific, and musical, awaited the awards' assembly.



Anxious seniors have finally received the notice to pick up the 1963 LIONS that are to be distributed to the many underclassmen, friends, and relatives who purchased them earlier in the year. By the smile on Barbara Anderson's face, you can see the excitement created on this day.

for Various Activities

Each year a breakfast or tea is sponsored by the Future Teachers Club for the faculty. Here several members are seen enjoying the services of their students. The expressions on their faces reveal that the topic of conversation must be very appealing. Even though Mr. Shaffer seems to be outnumbered, he is taking an active interest in the conversations of Miss Mitchell, Mrs. Smith, and Mrs. Sample.

Right: Here we see Delores Kline modeling a new style creation in front of the Tri-Hi-Y. The moderator, Brenda Gipe, gives a detailed description of the apparel which was provided by Klinedinst's. Below: Mr. Zerbe hands Mary Lou Prall her Letter of Commendation for her high standing in the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. Mary Lou was one of 32,000 seniors who competed for scholarships from all over the country and received recognition for achievement.

Busy Lions Find Time

As springtime rolls around, students are busily at work completing their required projects in time for the science fair. This spring the lab rooms overflowed with a variety of physics, chemistry, and biology projects, such as dyes, solar furnaces, and electric eyes.

For those not scientifically minded, interesting exhibits were on display in the home ec, art, metal, wood, and printing shops.

Choosing the right subject for a physics project is a very important decision. Here Mr. Shaffer is seen giving some helpful suggestions to Phil Renninger.

Laundry equipment, cleaning agents, and other sundries comprise many aids displayed by the Home Ec Department. Joyce Clark, Beverly Blouse, and Holly Fauth add finishing touches to this exhibit.

The big night has arrived and many interested parents and students view with pride the products of months of hard work. Here we get a bird's eye view of those projects on display.

to Complete and Display Projects

"This is how it works, Dad," explains Geraldine Shipp to her father, Reverend Shipp, as she explains the use of a mortar and pestle. As a student guide at the Science Fair, Gerry offered helpful information to puzzled onlookers.

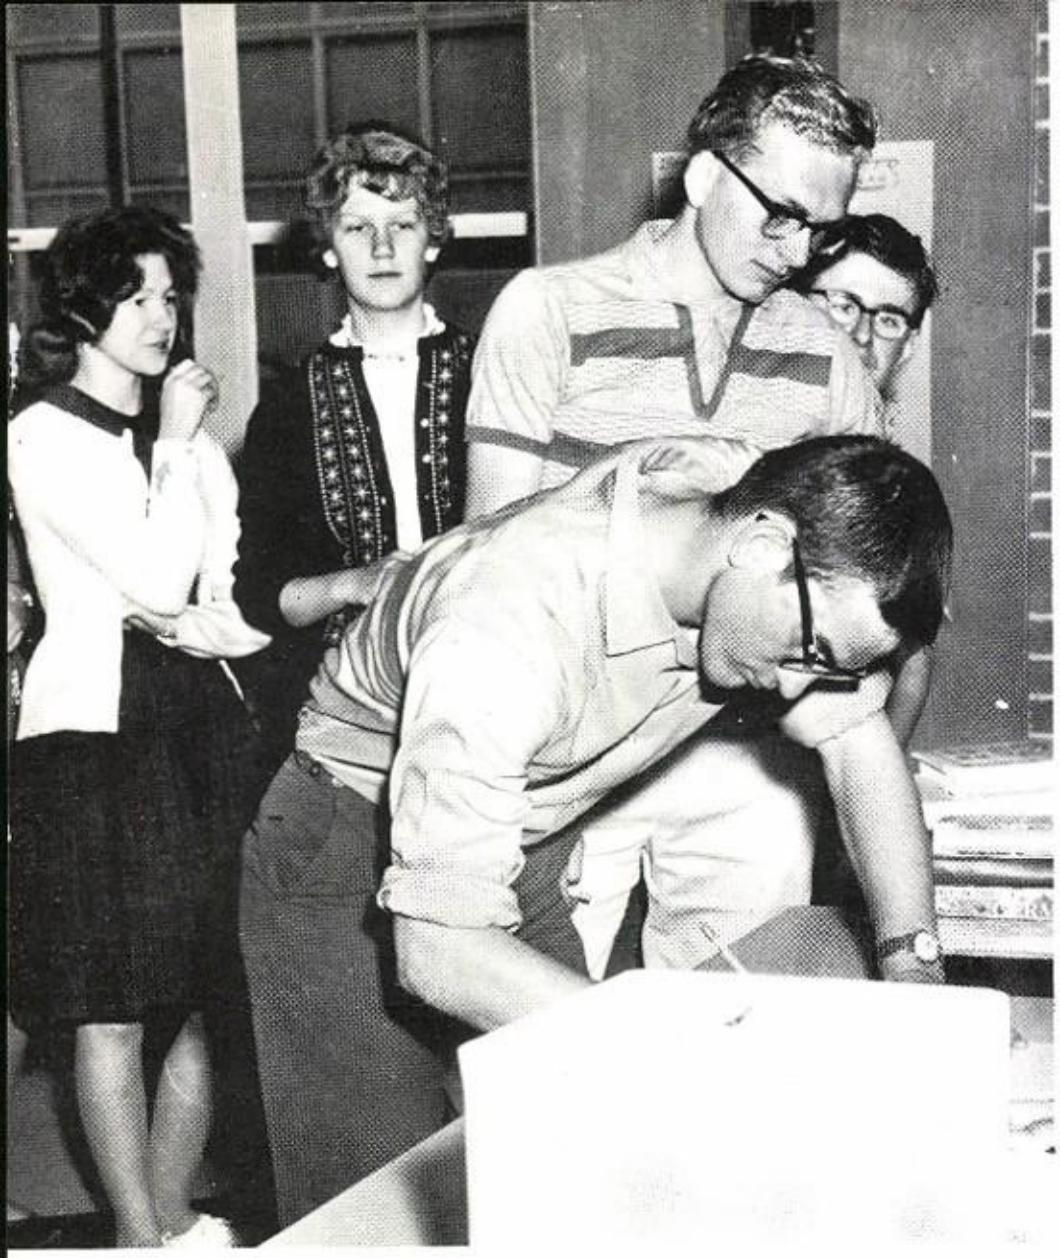
The shop departments also displayed projects at the annual open house. Susie Kohlbus and her father listen intently as Mr. Myers explains the workings of one of these projects.

All that glitters is not gold, but it may be any of a hundred and one different projects found in the metal shop. Reverend Shipp and Edward Sweeney admire a pair of candle holders made by some industrious students. Who knows, perhaps R. L. A. S. H. S. houses a future craftsman.

Young Lions Enjoy

The student body at Red Lion enjoyed varied assemblies throughout the spring of '63, including our annual Career Conference and the Dallastown exchange program. A number of musical selections highlighted our exchange program, and a pinch of humor was added for a change of pace. "Bloxom," a professional assembly, was based entirely on the laws of physics. The F. F. A. also provided an interesting concourse, loaded with entertainment that ranged from square dancing to an agricultural film.

Voting booths, distributed at various places around the school, set the scene for our Student Council election, held April 30. As the ballots came pouring in and were counted, word got around that Dale Emenheiser, Craig Ellis, and Linda Hess had been triumphant in the '63 election.



Leo reminds students—"Now is the time to come to the aid of your party." Here we find several patriotic Freshmen taking the advice of our loyal mascot by exercising their right to vote in the annual Student Council election.

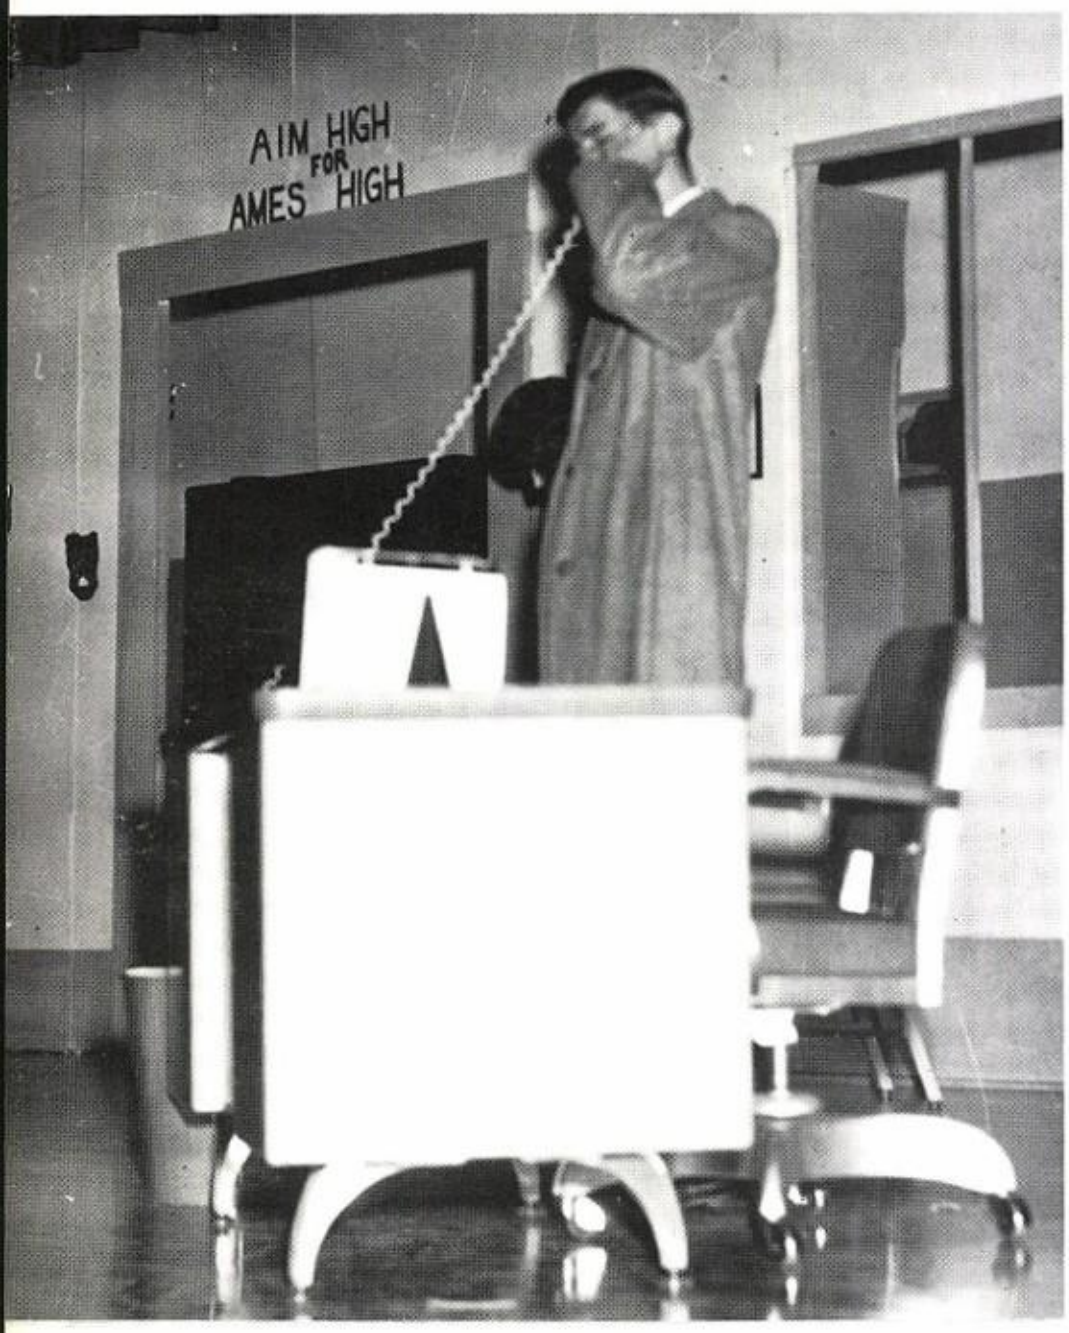
Varied Assemblies

In his hilarious commercial, Jim Ehrhart describes the "battle between the x's and o's."

Physics outside the classroom was the theme for the professional assembly put on by Mr. Bloxom. He is shown here explaining the principles behind the operation of a stroboscope.

One of the most popular musical groups at Red Lion this years is the "Lionnaires"—they favored the student body with many selections at numerous assemblies throughout the school term as well as for the Night of Music. Richard Smeltzer, organist; Beverly Blouse, pianist; Dennis Smith, cellist; and Darryl Smeltzer, drummer are shown here rendering a number to our young astronauts.

Among Many Activities, Music and Drama



A hectic day with the Student Council placed in charge of the school provided the setting for the Junior Play, "No More Homework." Fire drills, sick teachers, and a principal who was called away on business added fast moving action to this hilarious comedy.

On a warm evening last spring a passerby on Horace Mann Avenue may have heard the sharp notes of "Rhapsody in Blue" rising from our school. This music came from our own Night of Music. Various musical organizations gave their usual fine performance to an overflowing crowd of eager listeners.

Jan Seitz portrays the industrious principal at Ames High, and performs only one of the duties of a hardworking administrator. He seems to be quite engrossed in the conversation—wonder who's on the other end of the line?

Zero-hour is approaching quickly, and our photographer finds the cast of "No More Homework" getting ready for that first big scene with the help of the make-up committee. Jan Seitz seems to be thoroughly enjoying this part of the play preparation while Sandy Grove is busily searching for another "victim" to make up.

Determination and Work

Leo, invisible for a moment, helps Larry Rost over the crossbar. Unfortunately Leo can't soften those falls to the pit. Larry is one of the athletes who helped bring the Lions within two points of winning the division championship. Vaulting is one of the many events which make County Track meets.

In this day and age of Space travel our teams have really been orbiting. Among these sports activities, golf ranks high in the minds of many enthusiasts. Although the squad ended the season with rather an unimpressive record of 1 win and 8 losses, Coach Nitchkey says that this was a rebuilding season. Due to the playing experiences, he hopes for a better record in '64.

Our high-flying baseball team returned to their role as conquerors of the York County Baseball Loop. With scores of 14–2 and 11–3 the team had little trouble in disposing of most of their opponents. The squad finished the season with an outstanding record of ten wins, one loss, and a county championship.

The surprising track team, under a new coach, came within two points of winning the division championship. A heartbreaking loss to York Suburban spoiled the Lions chances for an undefeated season.

Rate High in the Minds of Young Lions

The Mixed Chorus adds a bit of the humorous side to the Night of Music as they sing "Grandma Grunts." Under the direction of Mrs. Adams, this vocal group has aided many of the assemblies and programs sponsored by the school.

Our dance band, always a treat for listeners, is shown here during one of its appearances. Nancy Kauffelt, behind the ivories, displays the special talent that has made her a well-known pianist throughout our school.

Talented musicians, Carolyn Brant, Greg Spurley, and John Gouker, were featured Night of Music soloists.

Two of spring's most popular sports are baseball and golf, and these activities play a big role in the astronaut's extra-curricular life. Below: Fred Cope is caught in the act of swinging that all important golf club, while John Pitzer is also taking an important swing—if it meets the ball John will land on first base, and possibly bring in a run for his team.

Deiter Kreig, our great miler from Germany, displays his running ability by defeating Paul Hoffmaster in the track meet with Northeastern. Red Lion won the meet with a score of 17–92. Deiter was a great help to the 1963 track team which came very close to the championship.

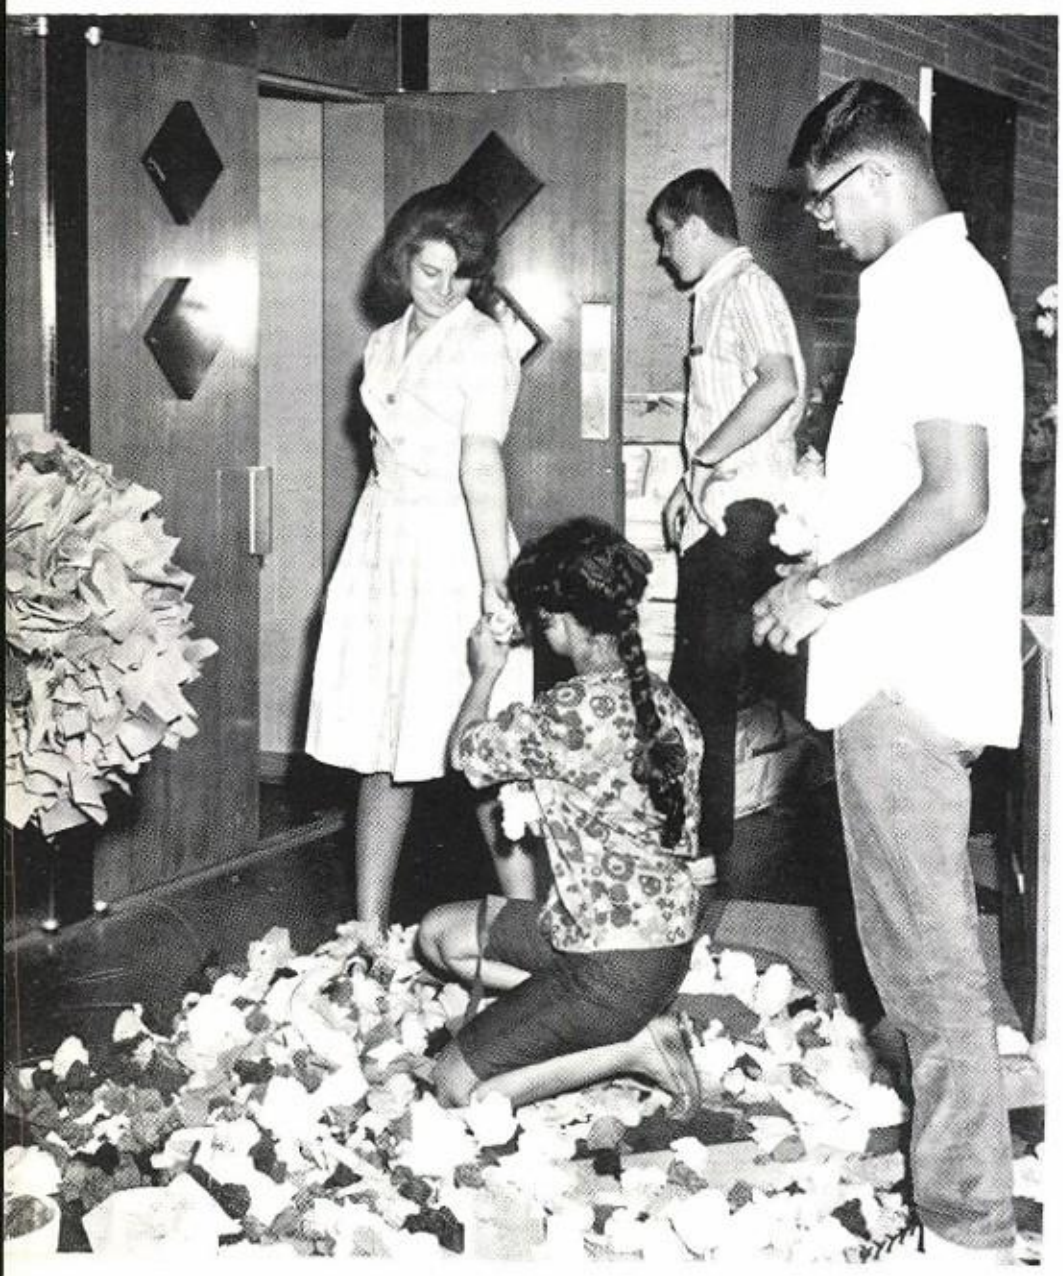
Hard Work, Long Hours

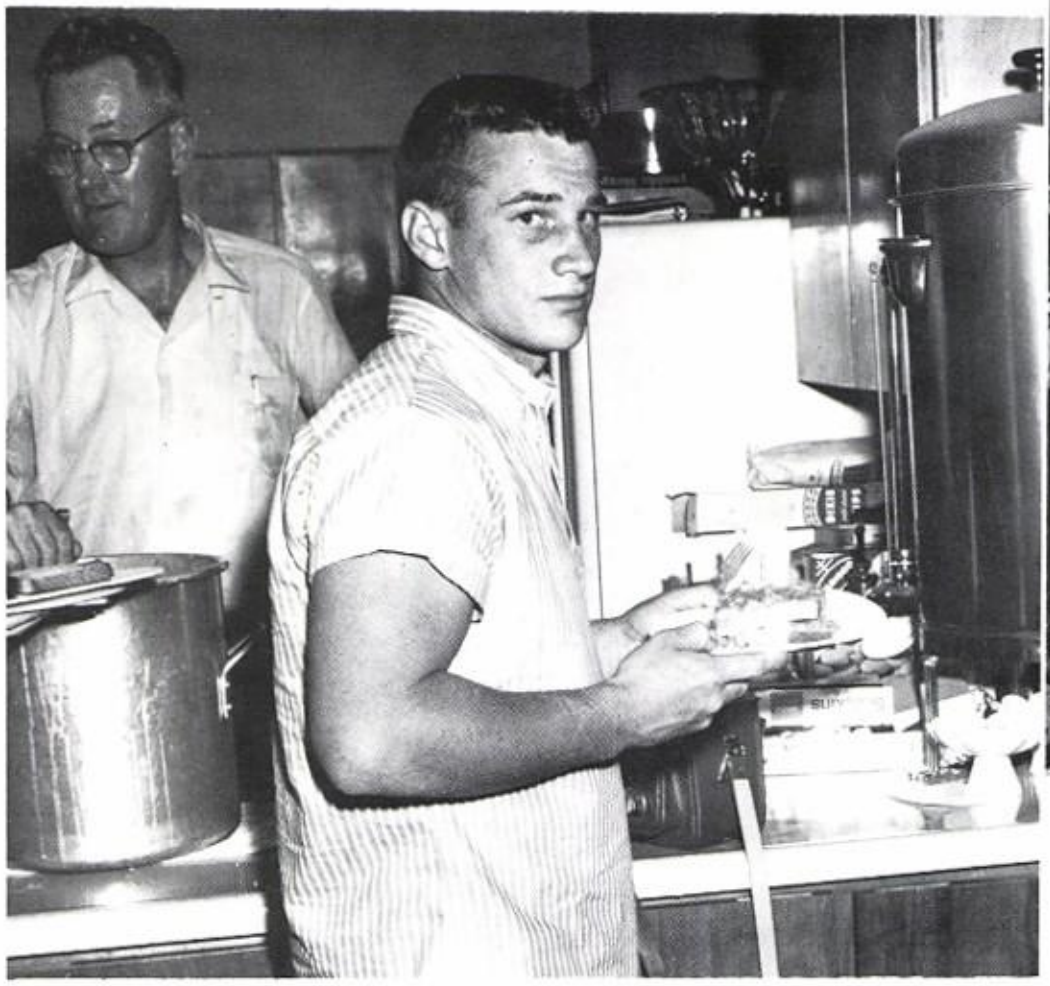


A colored fountain, Magnolia trees, and soft lights portrayed the theme, "Southern Sophistication," for the '63 Prom. Dancers swayed to the musical entertainment provided by the Tune Stylists. Following the formal dance, ties and high heels were replaced by sneakers and bermudas, as the anxious students hurried to catch buses for an entire night of fun-filled activity. Saturday morning found the sleepy party-goers being transported home.

Linda Zarfoss lends a helping hand to her co-workers, Patti Grove, Tom Galbreath, and Ken Sechrist in preparation for the prom. They are busily engaged in making the many colored flowers and scenery used in the decorations for the prom.

Art instructor, Mr. Barclay, casts a critical glance at the work completed by his hard working assistants on prom decorations. Bonnie Downs hopefully looks on for some sign of approval. Fellow classmates Jackie Vilmar, Mark Frey, and Patti Leach, along with other students are adding their own special touch to the scene. Each year, the gym is magnificently transformed into a world all its own.

Reap Rewards



As the sun begins to rise and the all-night party draws to an end, breakfast is served to all the guests. Curvin Kraft who is still wide awake enjoys the tasty breakfast provided by the Lions Club.

Brad Stell and his belle, Sandy Ward, pause for a moment to admire the colored fountain. Many hours of work went into this center attraction of the theme, "Southern Sophistication."

Everyone is enjoying the long awaited prom night but Dennis Deardorff, Bob Landis, and their partners have decided to sit this one out. Wonder what they're thinking about—perhaps thoughts of the past school year or plans for the summer are filling their minds? Meanwhile other guests are dancing to music by the Tune Stylists and viewing the true southern setting of Magnolia trees, light poles, and a genuine showboat.

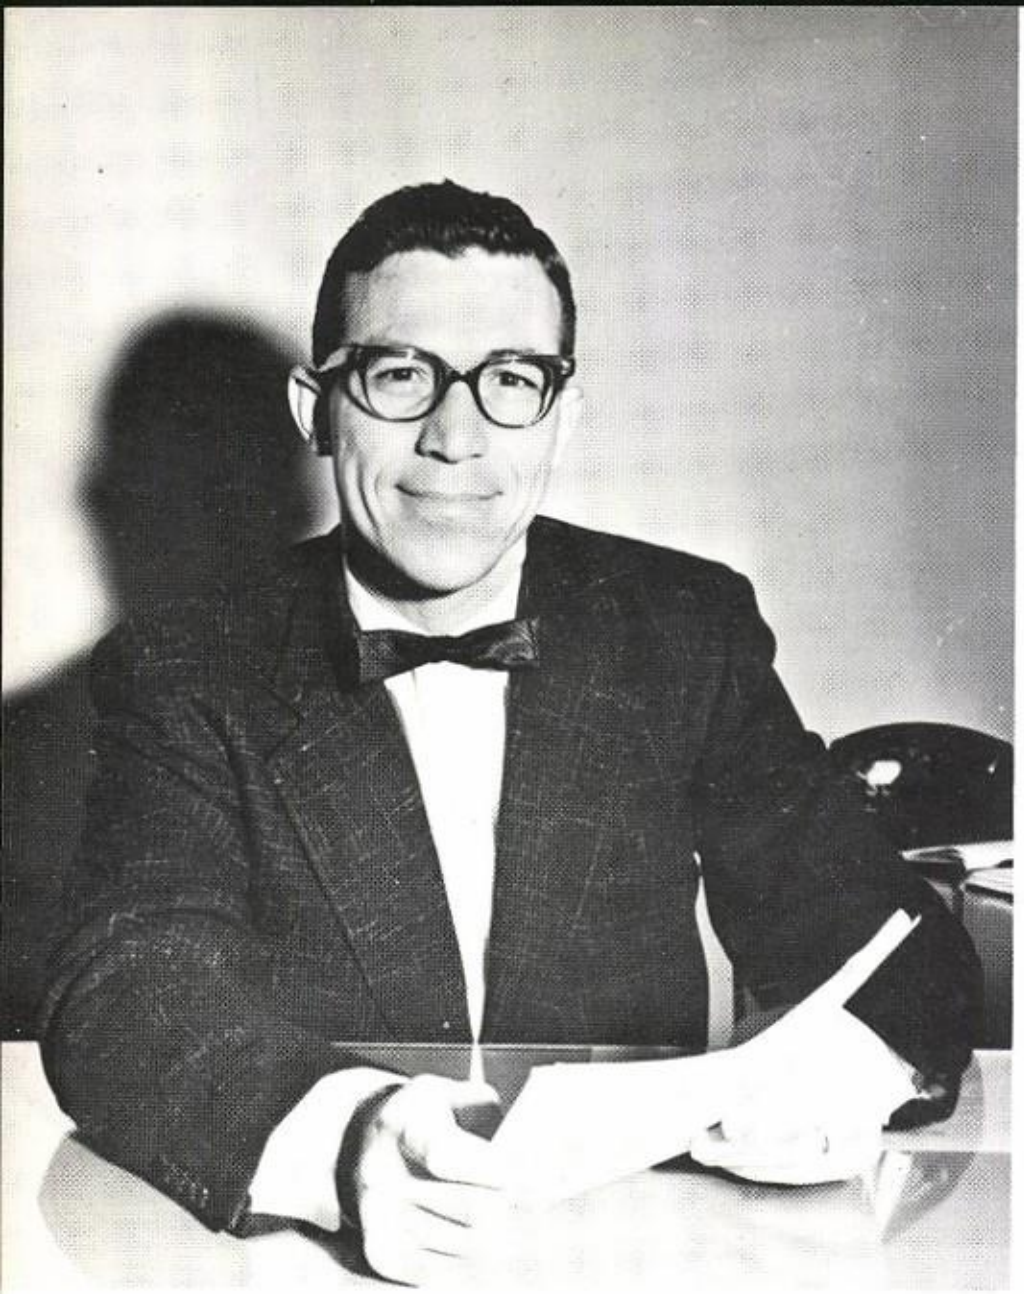
FALL



Mr. Frederick P. Sample, B. A., M. Ed. . . . Supervising Principal . . . Mr. Sample spent the summer working towards his Doctorate in Education. This is Mr. Sample's final year as Supervising Principal of the Red Lion Area.

Administration Forms

To the Students:

The school you have been attending is a unique feature in the world's history. Many people have hoped and prayed to have education for all, but only in America have the doors to the search for truth been opened so widely.

We in our community, as do those in communities throughout our land, take pride in extending to you this unusual opportunity to learn and to think. We admit freely the impossibility of our doing your learning and thinking for you, but we choose wisely to provide the vehicles by which you can do these precious things for yourselves.

We teachers recognize that, "a democratic society is an enlightened society and depends for its greatest effectiveness on enlightened individuals." This recognition is reason enough for your striving to be one who is worthy of our community's efforts and one on whom no experience is lost.

Ideals to Improve

To our students,

Your generation, more than any other in history, faces an era of automation, technology and changes. None of you can be satisfied with only nostalgic memories and a minimum of facts and skills from your school experiences; the challenges of your generation will demand much more from you. To be successful in your world you will need higher capacities for adapting to new circumstances, new ideas, new techniques and new inventions.

As our school changes to help you meet the needs of your times, I urge all of you to extend your curiosity into the school's most challenging and demanding disciplines and to use its resources fully to prepare for successful living. People in your future will not be interested in your memories; they will be interested in what you can do, what you are and what you can become.

THOMAS E. ZERBE

Mr. Thomas E. Zerbe, B. S., M. A. . . . High School Principal . . . Although his chief duties revolve around our high school, Mr. Zerbe enjoys participating in recreational activities including, music and golf.

Red Lion Area Operating Committee

Secretaries Offer Services

Mr. Carl E. Seitz . . . Secretary of Red Lion Area Schools . . . Official representative of the school board in cases of school attendance law violations . . . When not involved in the many tasks and duties for which he is responsible, Mr. Seitz enjoys the hobbies of horticulture and music, with hunting as another interest.

Employed as administrative assistants, Mr. Robert Tschop and Mr. Martin Miller serve the staff equally well in their respective fields. While Mr. Miller is involved with pupil personnel, Mr. Tschop's duties are in the purchasing of materials and student transportation. Also in the hum of school activities is a group of very efficient secretaries who manage the bookkeeping, typing, and mimeographing departments.

Mr. Robert P. Tschop, B. S. . . . General Assistant in administration of all Red Lion Area schools . . . Besides being actively engaged in school administration duties, Mr. Tschop finds time to enjoy reading, spectator sports, and enriching church work.

Mr. Martin F. Miller, B. A., M. S. . . . Administrative Assistant . . . When not busy keeping up with the questions and problems of pupil personnel, Mr. Miller enjoys listening to music, operating his miniature railroad, and collecting and reading current literature. He also owns a large library consisting of many valuable volumes.

to School Personnel

Mrs. Colleen Grove, general secretary and Mrs. Edna Mae Tracey, secretary for the administrative staff perform vital services.

Mrs. Nalda Tschop, Mrs. Reba Berwager, and Miss June Miller, secretaries to Mrs. Miller, Mr. Zerbe, and Mr. and Mrs. Sheckart respectively, help lighten the work of these Red Lion administrators.

Any visitor to the general office may notice Mrs. Nona Burk busily signing absentee slips for students. In this office there is always a smell of mimeograph ink and the pleasant click-click of the typewriters as the secretaries perform their daily tasks.

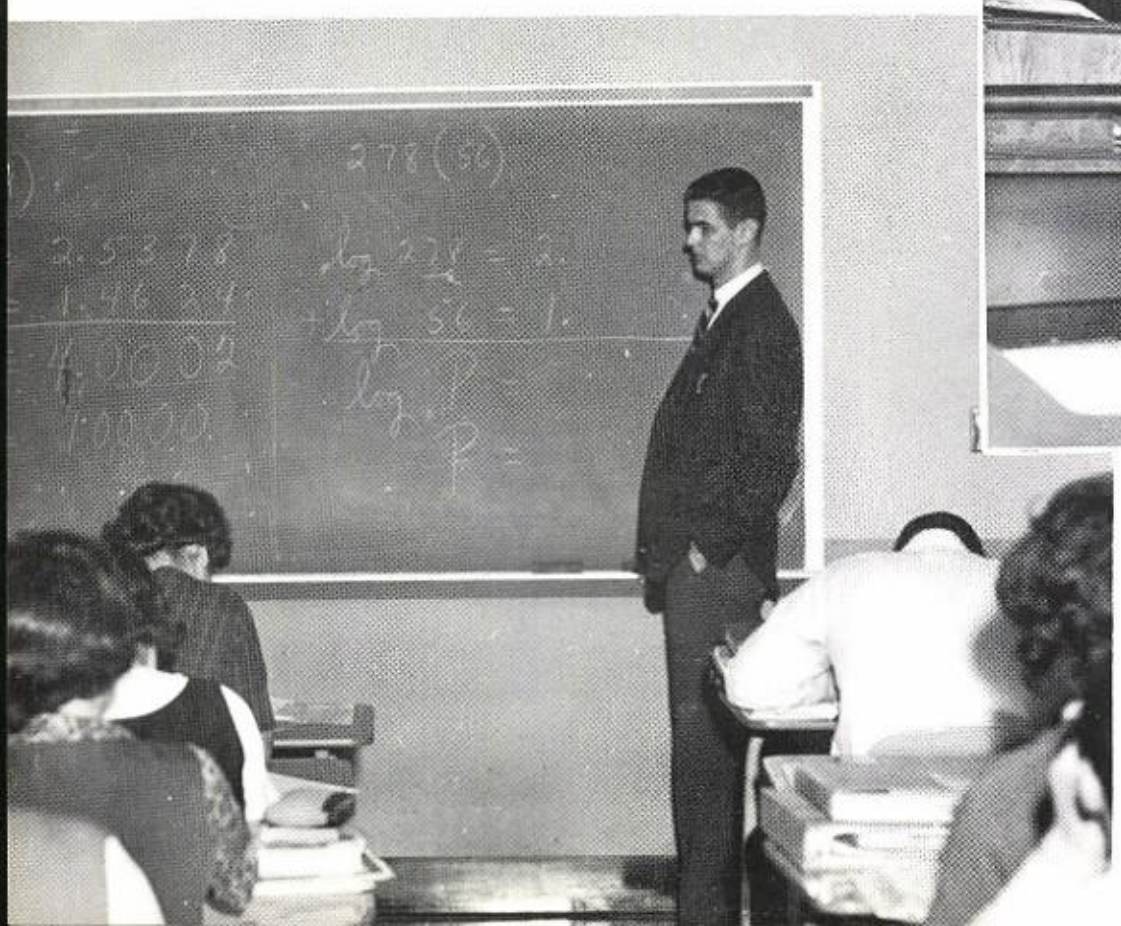
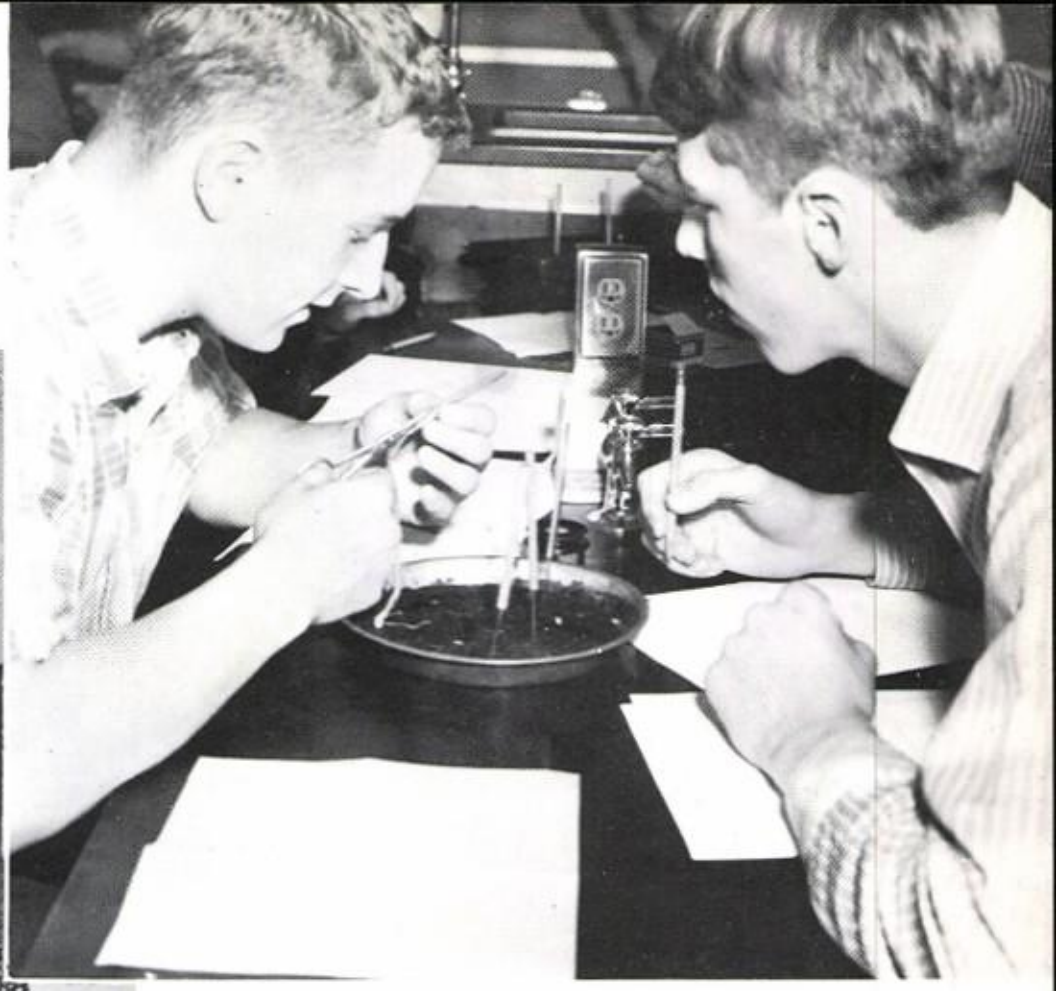
Days Are Filled with

The academic department of Red Lion provides the mold for the building of the future of many students. Languages, sciences, and math are important to the basic curriculum of each Lion. People from diverse backgrounds formulate the faculty so greatly needed. Although much time and energy is spent in the classroom, these faculty members also devote talents to extracurricular activities. Many of them participate in school organizations such as: Mathematics Club, Electronics Club, and LION and LEONID Staffs. These efforts are deeply appreciated by each student.

Below: Logarithms and antilogarithms are some trigonometric problems that Mr. Stover is explaining to his advanced math students. Right: Donna Workman and Mr. Knisley delve into the mysteries of electricity and light.



Hard Work for All



Topics ranging from dissection to the Romans can be found in any sophomore class; Joyce Grove, Linda Cooper, and Caroll Ehrhart (left) search for an answer to a Latin question, while Danny and Herb Smith explore the nervous system of a worm.

Mrs. Dorothy Adams, B. S. . . . English, Music . . . Mixed Chorus, Girls' Chorus . . . Although church music involves many of Mrs. Adams' hours, she still finds time for travel.

Mr. John Beckley, A. B. . . . General Science, Life Science, Biology . . . Although Mr. Beckley spent several weeks at Western Maryland College, he found time for a trip to Maine.

Miss Helen Clevenger, A. B., M. A. . . . English, Latin . . . Miss Clevenger's hours are filled with a variety of activities, including knitting, reading, and gardening.

Mr. David Coren, B. S. . . . English . . . Music is Mr. Coren's main extracurricular interest; he is quite active in the York Symphony Orchestra.

Miss Joyce Dixon, A. B. . . . English . . . Leonid Advisor . . . Miss Dixon spent her vacation working at the Colonial York Tourist Bureau; her interests include folk singing.

Faculty Provides Knowledge

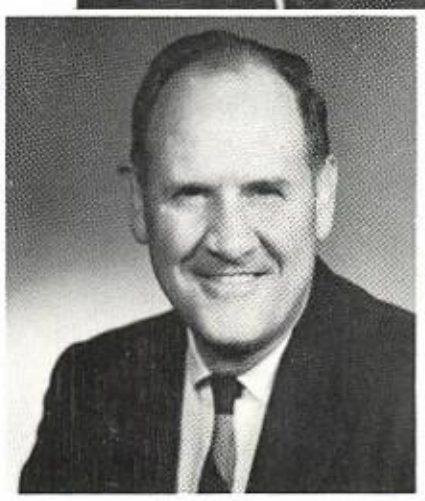
Mr. Robert Eveler, A. B. . . . Algebra I, Consumers Mathematics . . . Freshman Football . . . Mr. Eveler, who enjoys all kinds of sports, vacationed in the mountains.

Mr. Clair A. Frits, B. S., M. Ed. . . . Sociology, Political Science . . . Mr. Frits looks forward with keen interest to the World's Fair and enjoys reading on a wide variety of subjects.

Mrs. Irene Hangen, A. B. . . . English . . . Mrs. Hangen's life is filled with music—her special talent, but she still accompanies her husband on various "explorations."

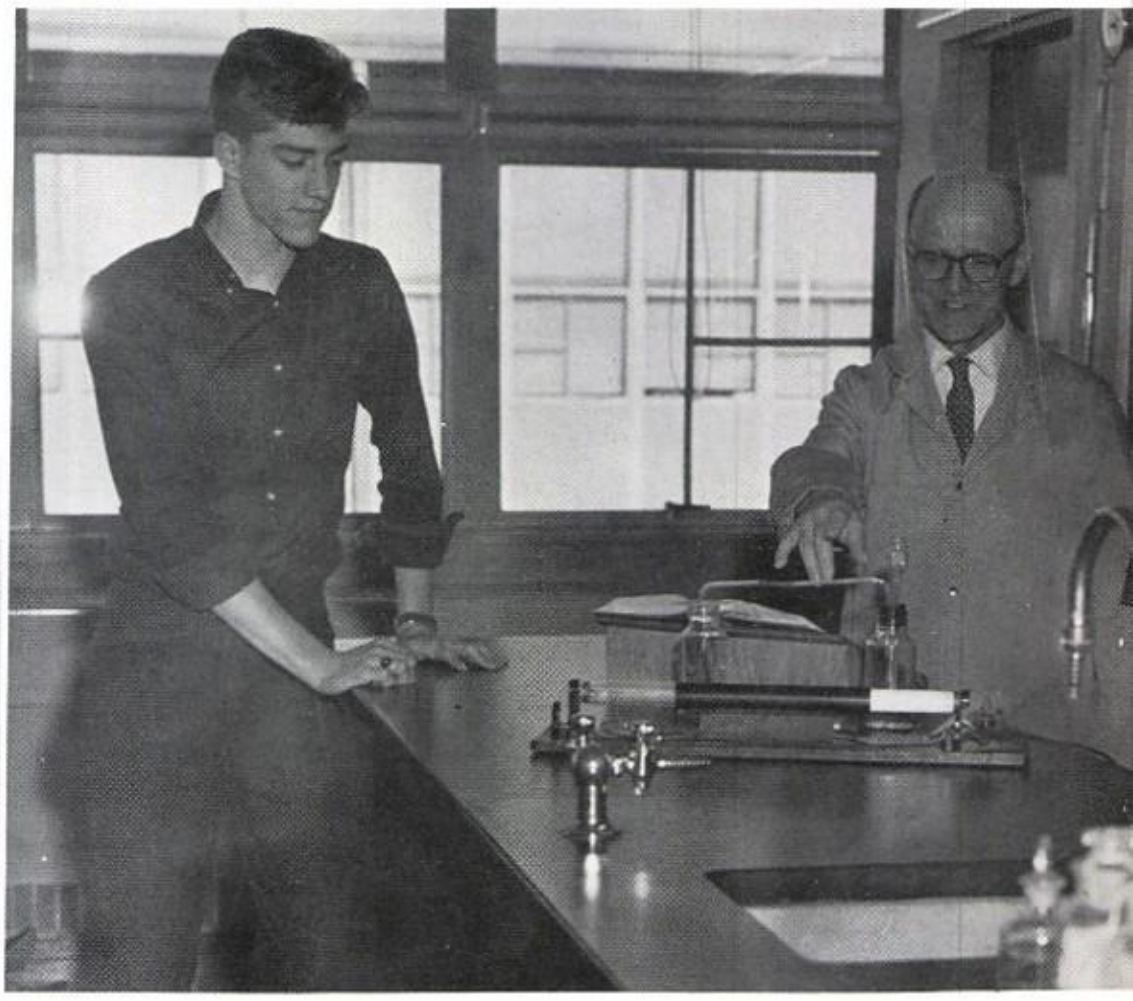


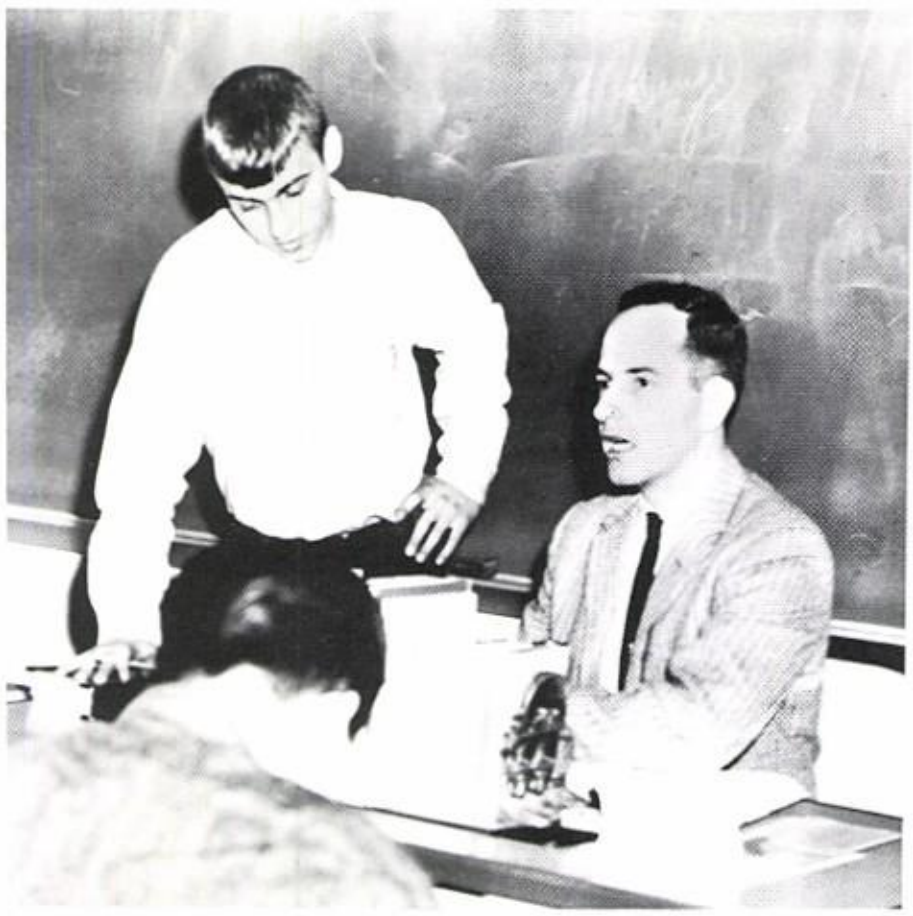
Mr. Paul Hangen, A. B. . . . Civics, Political Science . . . An exciting game of bridge, rifle shooting, and tennis are among the various hobbies enjoyed by Mr. Hangen.

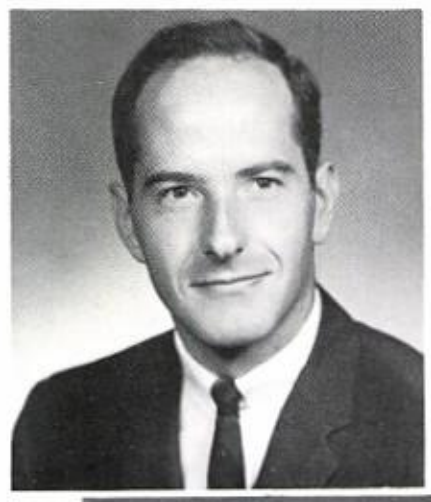
Mrs. Hilda C. Jackowick, B. A., M. Ed. . . . English, Latin . . . Senior Play, Class Day, Dramatics Club . . . Mrs. Jackowick spent most of her summer attending an English workshop at Shippensburg State College.

to Launch Young Astronauts

Mr. Donald Jones, history instructor, explains some basic principles of world history while he marks the report card of an engrossed sophomore student, Tom Dull. He seems to be getting his point across because Tom appears interested in the subject. Mr. Amos Knisley, science instructor, points out the scientific apparatus and explains the proposed results from a general science experiment to a freshman student, William Koons.







Mr. Donald L. Jones, B. S. . . . World History, American History, Civics . . . Student Council . . . Vacation days for Mr. Jones were spent working; however, music and sports are his means of entertainment.

Miss Marie Keeports, B. A., M. A. . . . English III, IV . . . Because of a deep urge to travel and her interest in people, Miss Keeports spent six weeks on a world tour to many major countries.

Mr. Amos Knisley, B. S., M. Ed. . . . Consumer Science . . . Mr. Knisley has returned to teaching after spending the last 22 years in business; he enjoys baseball as a special interest.

Mr. Fred Miller, B. S., M. Ed. . . . Algebra I, Plane Geometry . . . Mr. Miller places his family first among interests. Last summer, he worked as a playground director.

Teachers Guide Lions

Mr. Hugh Miller, B. S. . . . Shop Math, Basic Math, German I, II . . . Mr. Miller enjoys photography and serves as advisor for the photography club and photography staff of the '64 yearbook.

Mr. Daniel Myers, A. B., M. A. . . . General Science, Life Science . . . Golf and church work rank high in Mr. Myers' extracurricular interests; he also enjoys touring Pa.

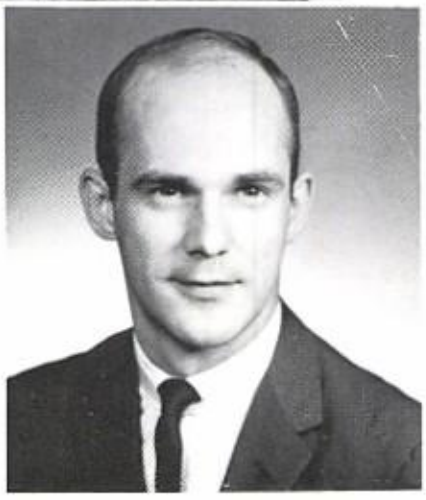
Mr. Harold Myers, B. S., M. Ed. . . . Am. History, Economics . . . Mr. Myers taught Am. History in summer school and spent some time at the seashore. He enjoys woodworking, gardening, sports, and reading.

Miss Naomi Myers, B. S. . . . English . . . Freshman Class Advisor . . . Although her students take up a great deal of her time, Miss Myers still finds a few moments for reading.

through R. L. A. H. S.

Miss Linda S. Nonemaker, B. S. . . . French II, III, IV . . . Miss Nonemaker toured Europe for six weeks. She enjoys listening to her hi-fi, and is superintendent in the children's department of her church.

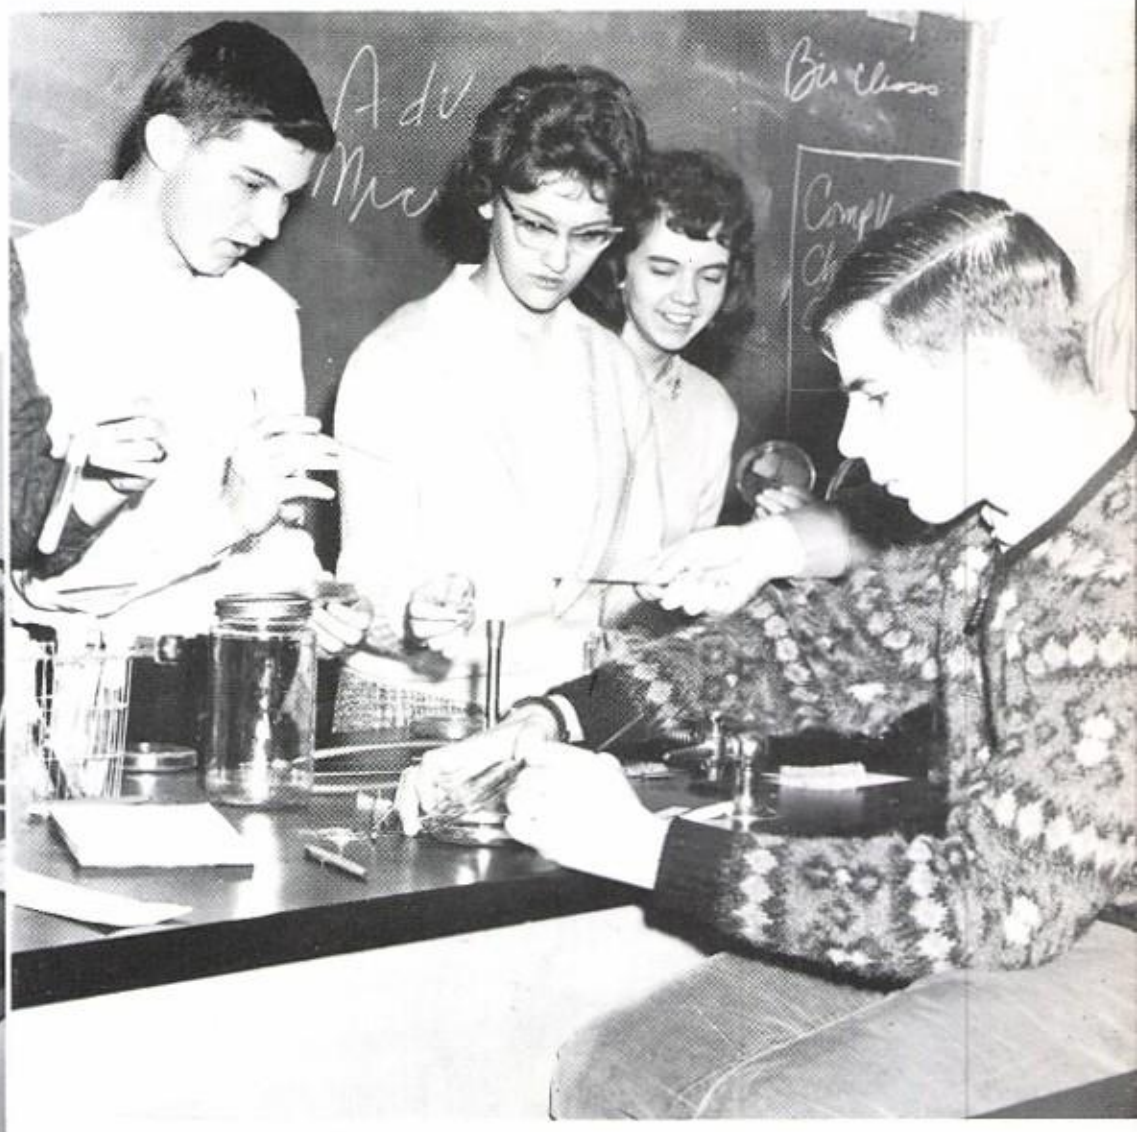
Mr. Carroll Posey, B. S. . . . Life Science, Biology, Advanced Biology . . . Biology Club . . . Interested in the out-of-doors, Mr. Posey enjoyed camping with his family.



Mr. Carlin R. Rhine, A. B. . . . American History, World History . . . Freshman Basketball . . . Mr. Rhine spends most of the winter months teaching basketball fundamentals, but when away from the courts, he enjoys reading.

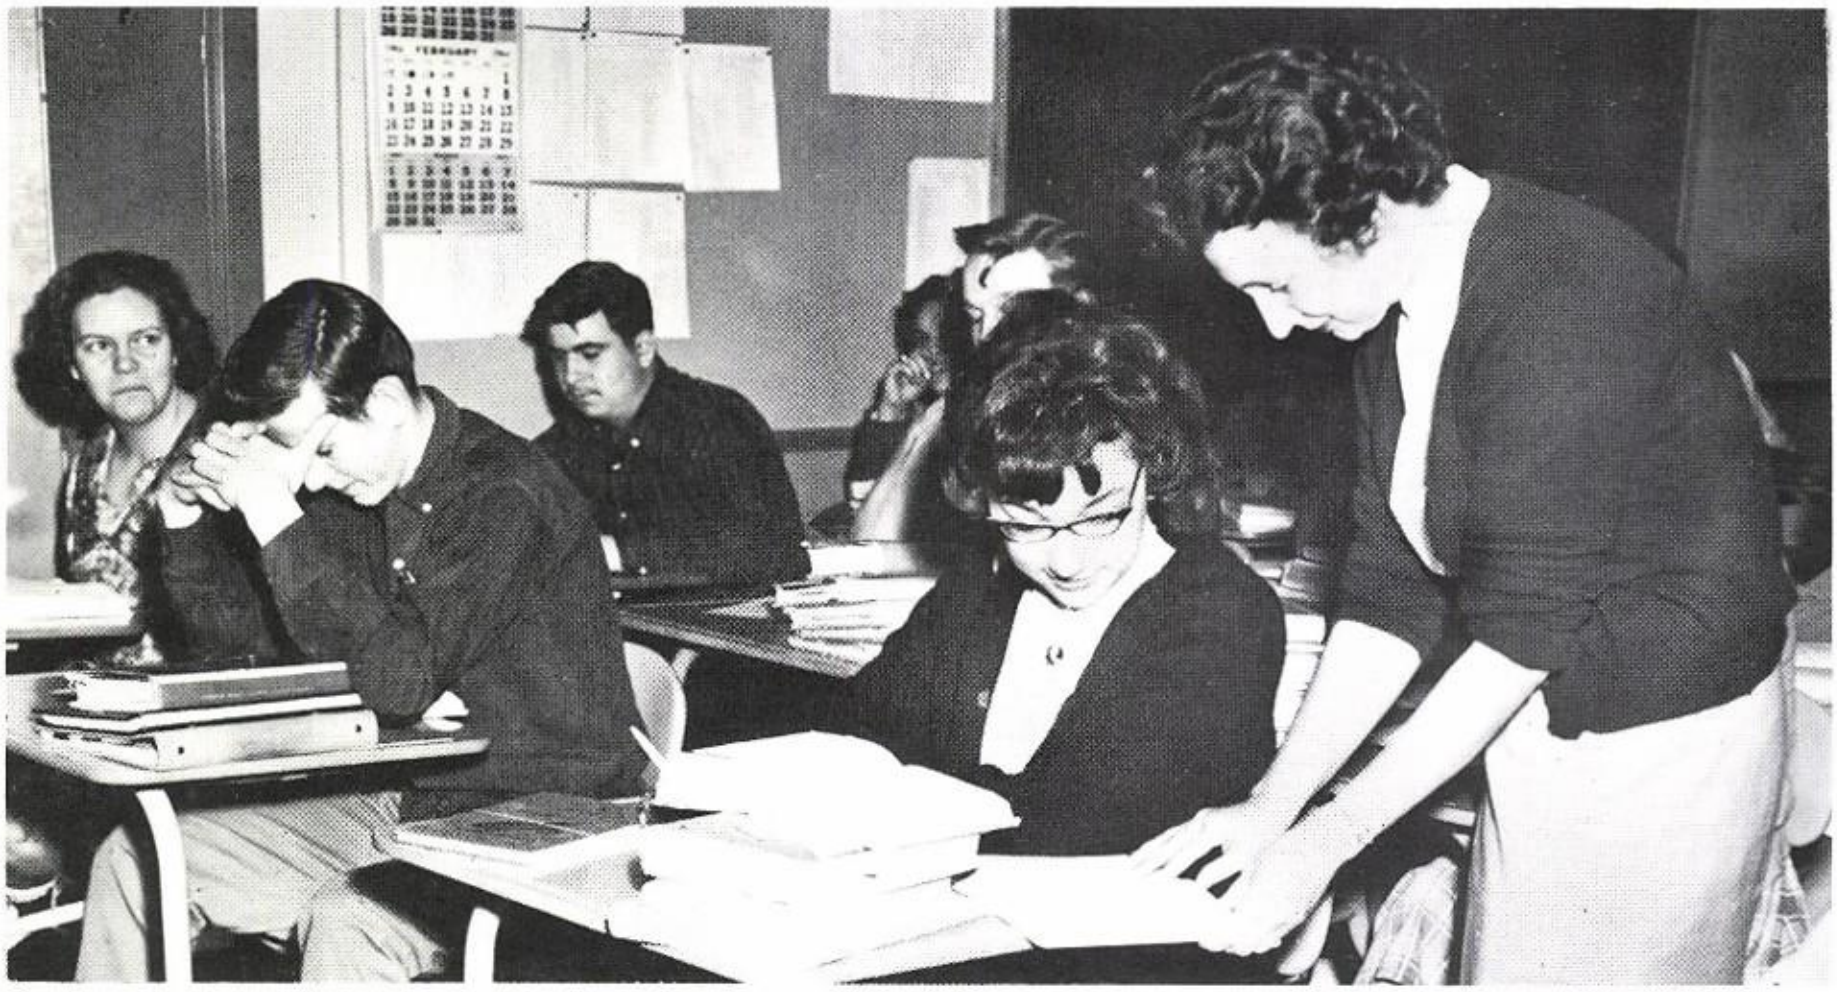
Mr. Freeland E. Shaffer, B. S., M. S. . . . Chemistry, Physics . . . Electronics Club . . . While catching up on the latest data in the electronics field Mr. Shaffer, an avid outdoorsman, spent the summer camping with his family in Maine.

Jewell McCliment, Donna Dunlap, and Robert Ruff delve into one of the many recondite wonders of science as they perform a laboratory experiment in physics class, dealing with the coefficient of linear expansion.



Denny Thompson, Kathy Posey, Ralene Flaharty, and Fred Cope explore still another field of science-biology. These advanced biology students are preparing bacteria cultures from which they will later make slides.

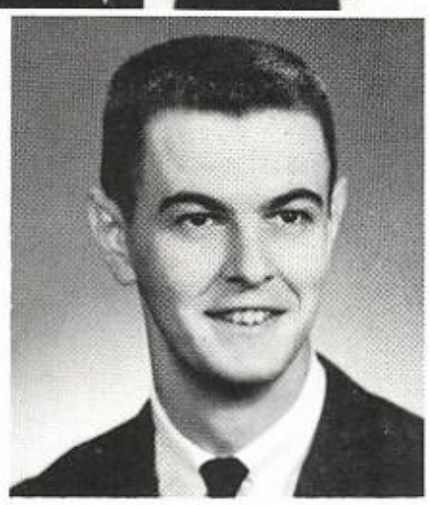
An Experienced Faculty Shares



Mrs. Starke interprets one of the many facets of the English language to Nancy Keesey as her fellow classmates look on. These industrious juniors seem very serious as they concentrate on their grammar assignments. Although the English language is one of the world's most complicated languages, it is of greatest importance to all students. This year the English department has been reorganized to form a new system of planned curriculums for the many students who study it.

Mr. Dale L. Shellenberger, A. B. . . . World History, Civics . . . Assistant Football Coach, Sophomore Advisor . . . Mr. Shellenberger spent his vacation working for his Master's Degree at Temple University.

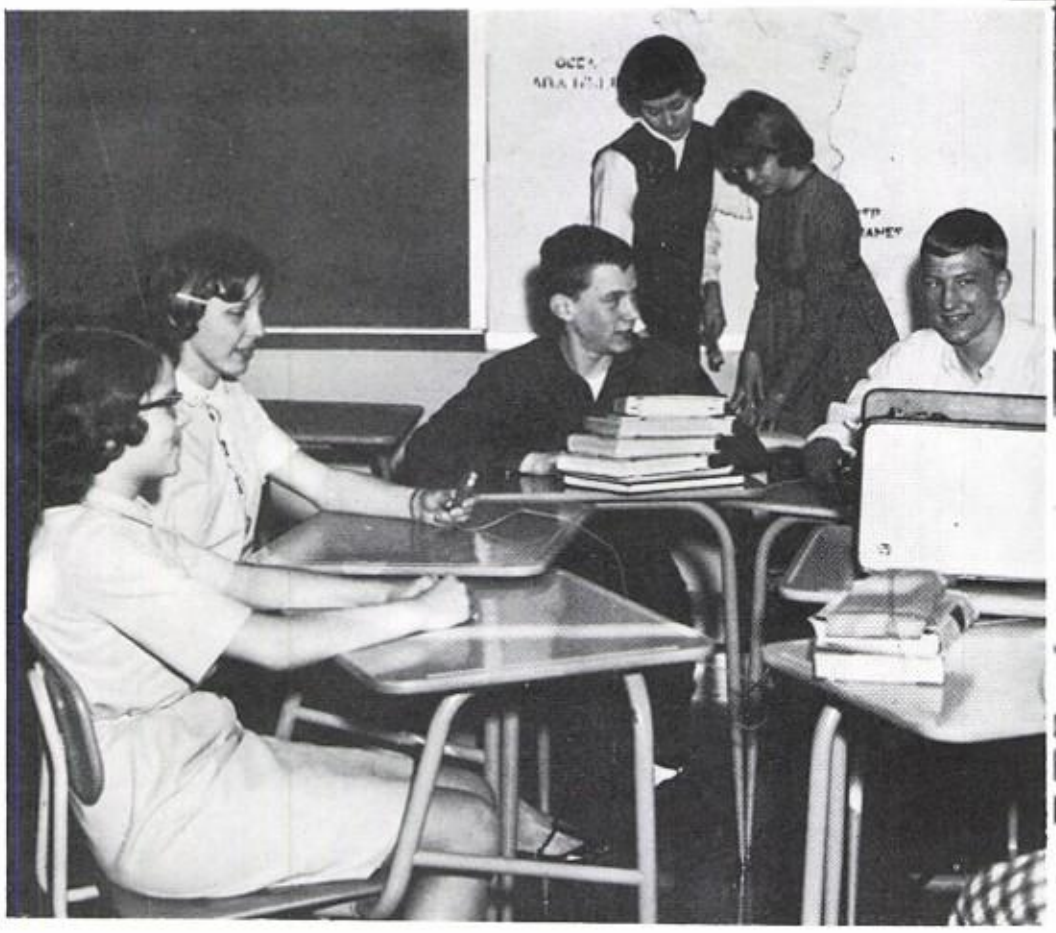
Mrs. Isabel Starke, A. B. . . . English . . . Enjoying a well deserved vacation, Mrs. Starke filled many of her hours relaxing in Savannah, Georgia and Cape Cod, Massachusetts.



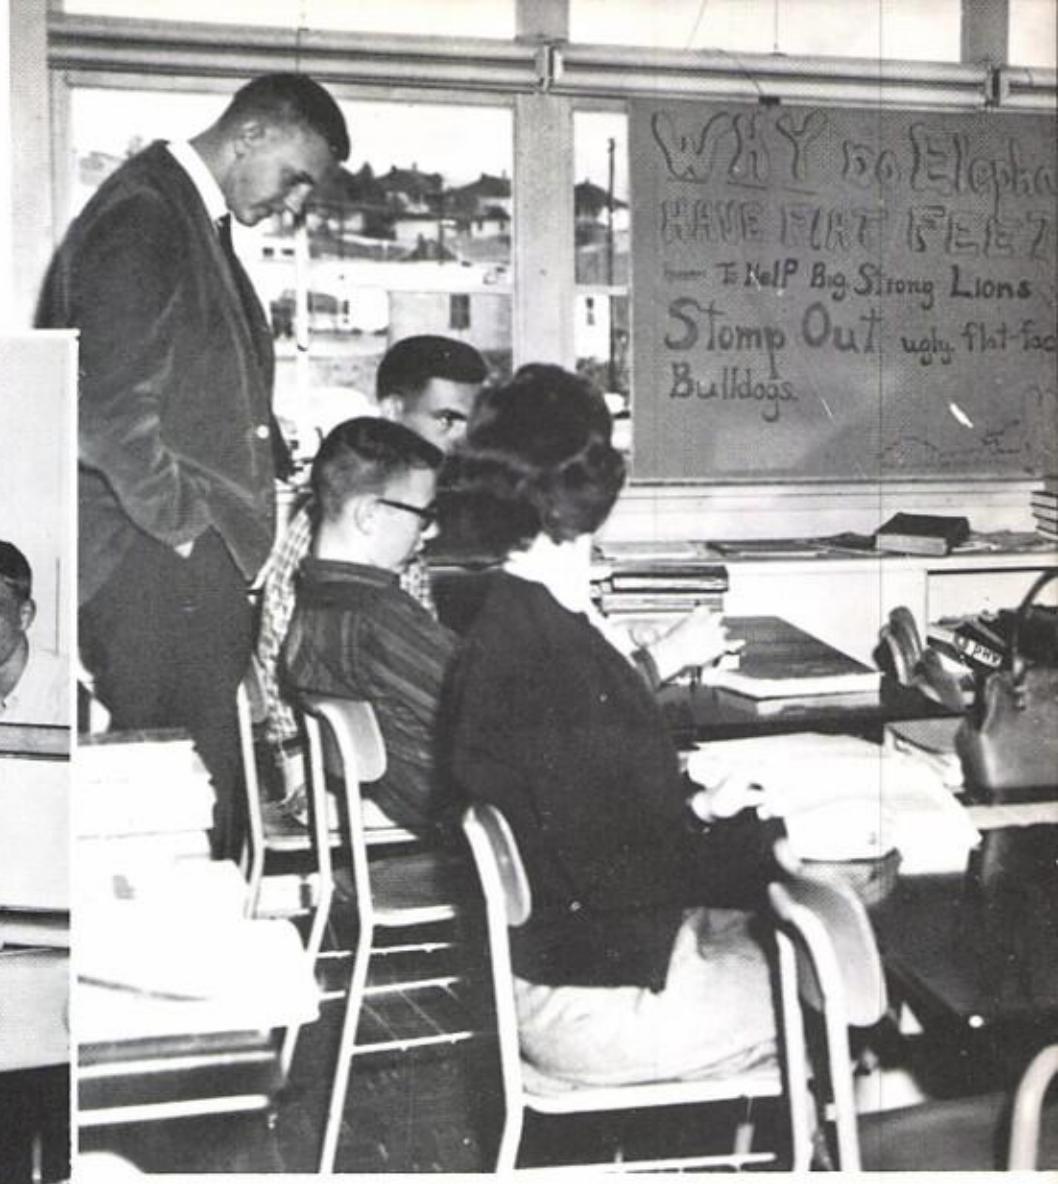
Mr. J. Robert Stover, B. S. . . . Algebra II, Trigonometry, Advanced Algebra . . . After five weeks at summer school, Mr. Stover and his wife toured Canada and the New England states.

Mrs. Melanie Stover, A. B. . . . French I . . . LION . . . Mrs. Stover's vacation activities included a five weeks course at Western Maryland and a trip to the French section of Canada.

Knowledge with Students



Is this a round-table discussion? No, it's a French recording session—French I students M. Shue, D. Oberlander, D. Hannigan, D. Arnold, A. Miller, and S. Neff are taping French dialogues. This is a portion of the newly instituted French program.



Mr. Urey observes the busy activities of his homeroom students, Philip and Louis Kauffman and Cynthia Kaltreider, as they prepare their assignments. The bright poster, illustrating a popular "elephant joke," adds enthusiasm to the football season.

Mr. Charles W. Tome, Jr., B. S., M. Ed. . . . World History, Am. History . . . Senior Class Advisor . . . Mr. Tome enjoys singing, playing the piano, and following all sports—especially baseball.

Mr. Russell Urey, B. S. . . . General Science, Chemistry . . . Assistant Football Coach . . . During his vacation, Mr. Urey managed the Windsor Playground and Baseball for Boys.

Miss Ella Warner, B. S. . . . English . . . Ice skating and reading rate high in Miss Warner's activities; but she, also, enjoys occasional horseback rides.

Mr. David Ziegler, A. B., M. A. . . . Algebra I, II, Plane Geometry . . . Senior Math Club . . . After studying a year at Boston College, Mr. Ziegler took it easy—relaxing and playing golf.

Instructors Prepare

Steady hands and nerves of steel are needed in order to become a skilled woodworker. It looks as if sophomore William Shaw is going to turn out a lovely finished product as he efficiently operates the shop lathe.

The non-academic department of Red Lion extends its services to many students. It provides the background for entrance into a variety of fields. Much time is devoted to business, agriculture, and home economics. A well-rounded school program would not be complete without instruction in health, music, and art. This faculty not only plays a role in the classroom but also in the extracurriculum of the school. Many of them head organizations such as chorus, band, and tumbling.

Below: Miss Espenshade peers over the shoulder of Shirley Koller as Delores Kline quickly "balances the books" during Bookkeeping class. Right: Ann Hannigan and Phyllis Haines learn all the facets of the mimeograph which is being demonstrated by Mrs. Ehrhart.

Lions for the Future

Mr. William Amspacker, B. S. . . . Mechanical Drawing . . . Faculty Auditorium Manager, Stage Equipment Manager . . . Archery is one of Mr. Amspacker's favorite sports and he spends much of his free time participating in this sport.

Mr. Kenneth Bachman, B. S. . . . Industrial Arts, Woodworking . . . Stage Crew . . . Besides working on his Master's degree, Mr. Bachman enjoyed camping with his family.

Mr. Joseph W. Barclay, B. S. . . . Art . . . Art Club . . . Prom decorations, Jr. and Sr. Play . . . Although hunting and fishing are popular with Mr. Barclay, he would rather paint an inspiring picture.

Mrs. Aleta S. Ehrhart, B. S. . . . Shorthand II, Office Practice, Typing 2.5, Transcription . . . Mrs. Ehrhart is interested in knitting, bowling, and is quite a collector of colored goblets.

Miss Jeanette Espenshade, B. S. . . . Bookkeeping, General Business . . . Football Programs, Prom . . . When not performing her duties as Assistant District Director of the Professional Women's Club, Miss Espenshade enjoys reading and traveling.

Mr. Ronald Fitzkee, M. Ed. . . . Health and Physical Education . . . Varsity Club, Football, Baseball . . . Mr. Fitzkee places his attention on playing golf, enjoying his family, and winning football games.

Artists Jim Overmiller and Ann Walker are hard at work producing an asthetic form that has caught Mr. Barclay's eye. Lonnie Mundis, Steve Tolley, and Pam Shockney seem to be having an interesting conversation; perhaps they're discussing one of Picasso's paintings!

Education Launches

Mr. Donald J. Johnson, B. S. . . . Driver Education . . . Besides camping last summer with his family, Mr. Johnson taught a course in Driver Education.

Mrs. Emma L. Miller, B. S. . . . Typing I, Basic Math, Business Arithmetic . . . Business Club . . . Although Mrs. Miller spends much of her spare time doing her housework, she still enjoys some traveling.

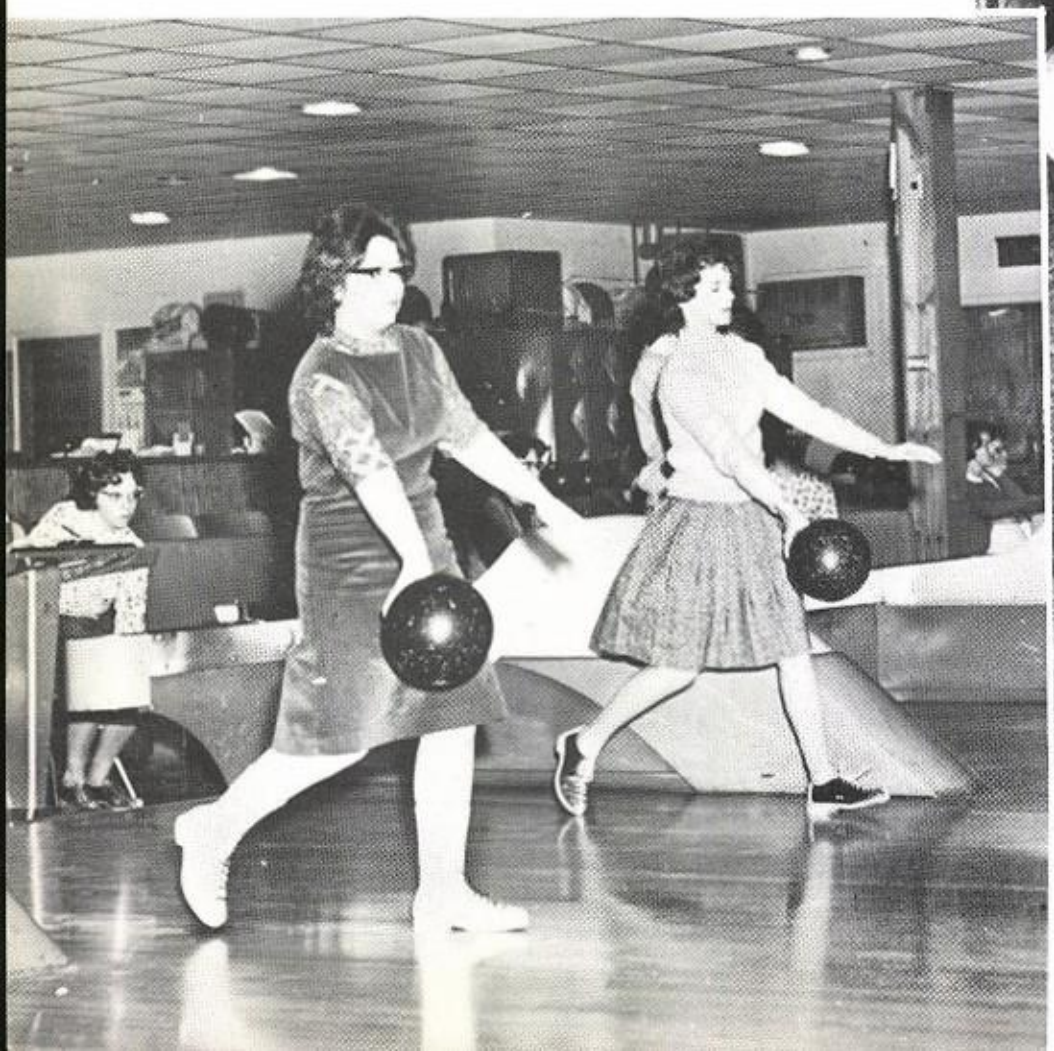
While judging this year's door decorations, Mrs. Smith, Mr. Nitchkey, and Mr. Barclay had a difficult task. From the many attractive doors, their choice required much deep concentration. Their quizzical looks lead us to believe this door could be a winner.

As shown by their solemn expressions, Carol Frey and Ann Hartman confirm that bowling can be fun but it takes practice and concentration to perfect the sport.



Leaders of Tomorrow

Joel Sechrist listens intently as Mr. Sheckart gives some sound advice on career selection and future college plans. The many different pamphlets and bulletins found in the Guidance Office, as well as the counselors offer a great deal of help to students.

Looks like another busy day for Mr. Yinger and his 9th grade math students. By the various expressions on their faces, the busy bees of B-204 don't seem to mind the work or their just posing for a good picture.

Industrial arts has proven to be one of the most interesting subjects for the male students of Red Lion. Mr. Yorks seems to be all involved in his work while he explains numerous rules for printing.

Janitors, Cooks, and Custodians Keep

Janitors, Ammon Markel, Marvin Overmiller and Charles Blouse, help to keep the building in top condition.

Behind the scenes of Red Lion High there are many people who do not receive all the credit which they heartily deserve. Among these people are those who are included in the cafeteria and maintenance staffs. Though many disparaging remarks have been directed toward the cafeteria, everyone truly appreciates the staff's every effort.

Summer, fall, winter, and spring are all busy seasons for the maintenance crew. Careful attention must be given to all areas of the school and this crew of men and one woman ably tackle their overwhelming job.

Everyone definitely owes both of these staffs a debt of gratitude for many jobs "well done."

Behind the scenes there are many jobs which must be done so that the school will function smoothly. Two of our janitors, Mr. Wiley Flinchbaugh and Mr. Cletus Mitzel, seem all prepared to face another day full of its numerous problems.

Night custodian, Truman Erhart, seeing our school at its quietest, polishes up for next day's classes.

Ever faithful members of the cafeteria staff: Mrs. Treva Burg, Mrs. Ida Fauth, Mrs. Phyllis Keller, Mrs. Viola Schmuck, and Mrs. Sara Grove, take time out from their busy schedules to catch their breaths after preparing the noon meal.

Mrs. Ida Stabley begins the seemingly endless task of cleaning up after lunch while Mrs. Theresa Waltemyer, Mrs. Alma Smith, and Mrs. Viola Schmuck gather the remaining dishes and trays for their daily trip through the automatic washer.

Fall Ushers in the Sounds of Clashing on the Many exciting events prepared our astronauts for the football games this fall. Spirit among the young Lions was high on various Friday afternoons during the pep assemblies as our cheerleaders led many encouraging cheers. The annual ritual of float-making also held a keen interest for our students as each class competed for that coveted first prize, which was awarded to the Seniors. The Homecoming Dance was enriched this year with the addition of our Homecoming Queen, who reigned for the entire evening. Needless to say, Fall '63 provided the Lions with fun-filled hours of enjoyment.

The seniors buzzed their way around R.L.A.S.H.S. with the prize winning float, "Sweet Smell of Success." Two members of the class, Terry Rohrbaugh and Mark Frey, were with the float every step of the way.

It's Friday afternoon, and everyone is enjoying the outdoor pep assembly as they listen to John Pitzer give his opinions of the forthcoming game. Members of the marching band, as well as the cheerleaders are on hand, ready to back up whatever John says.

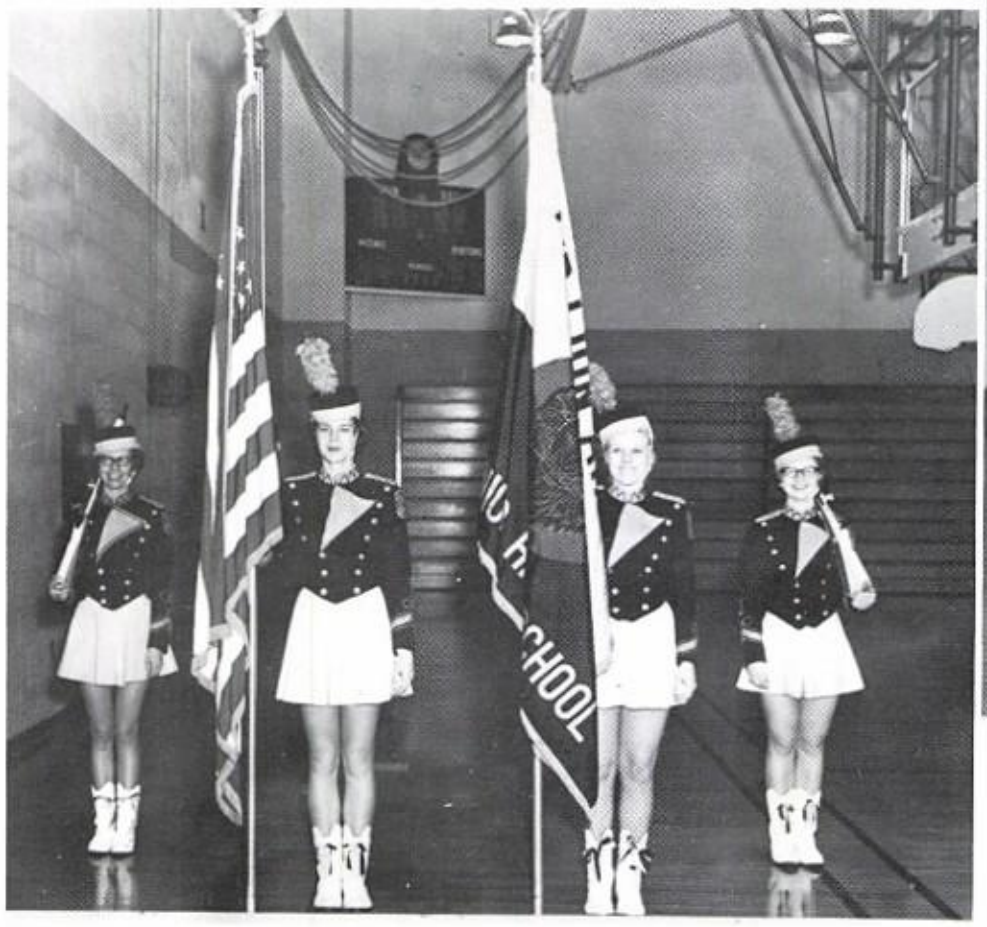
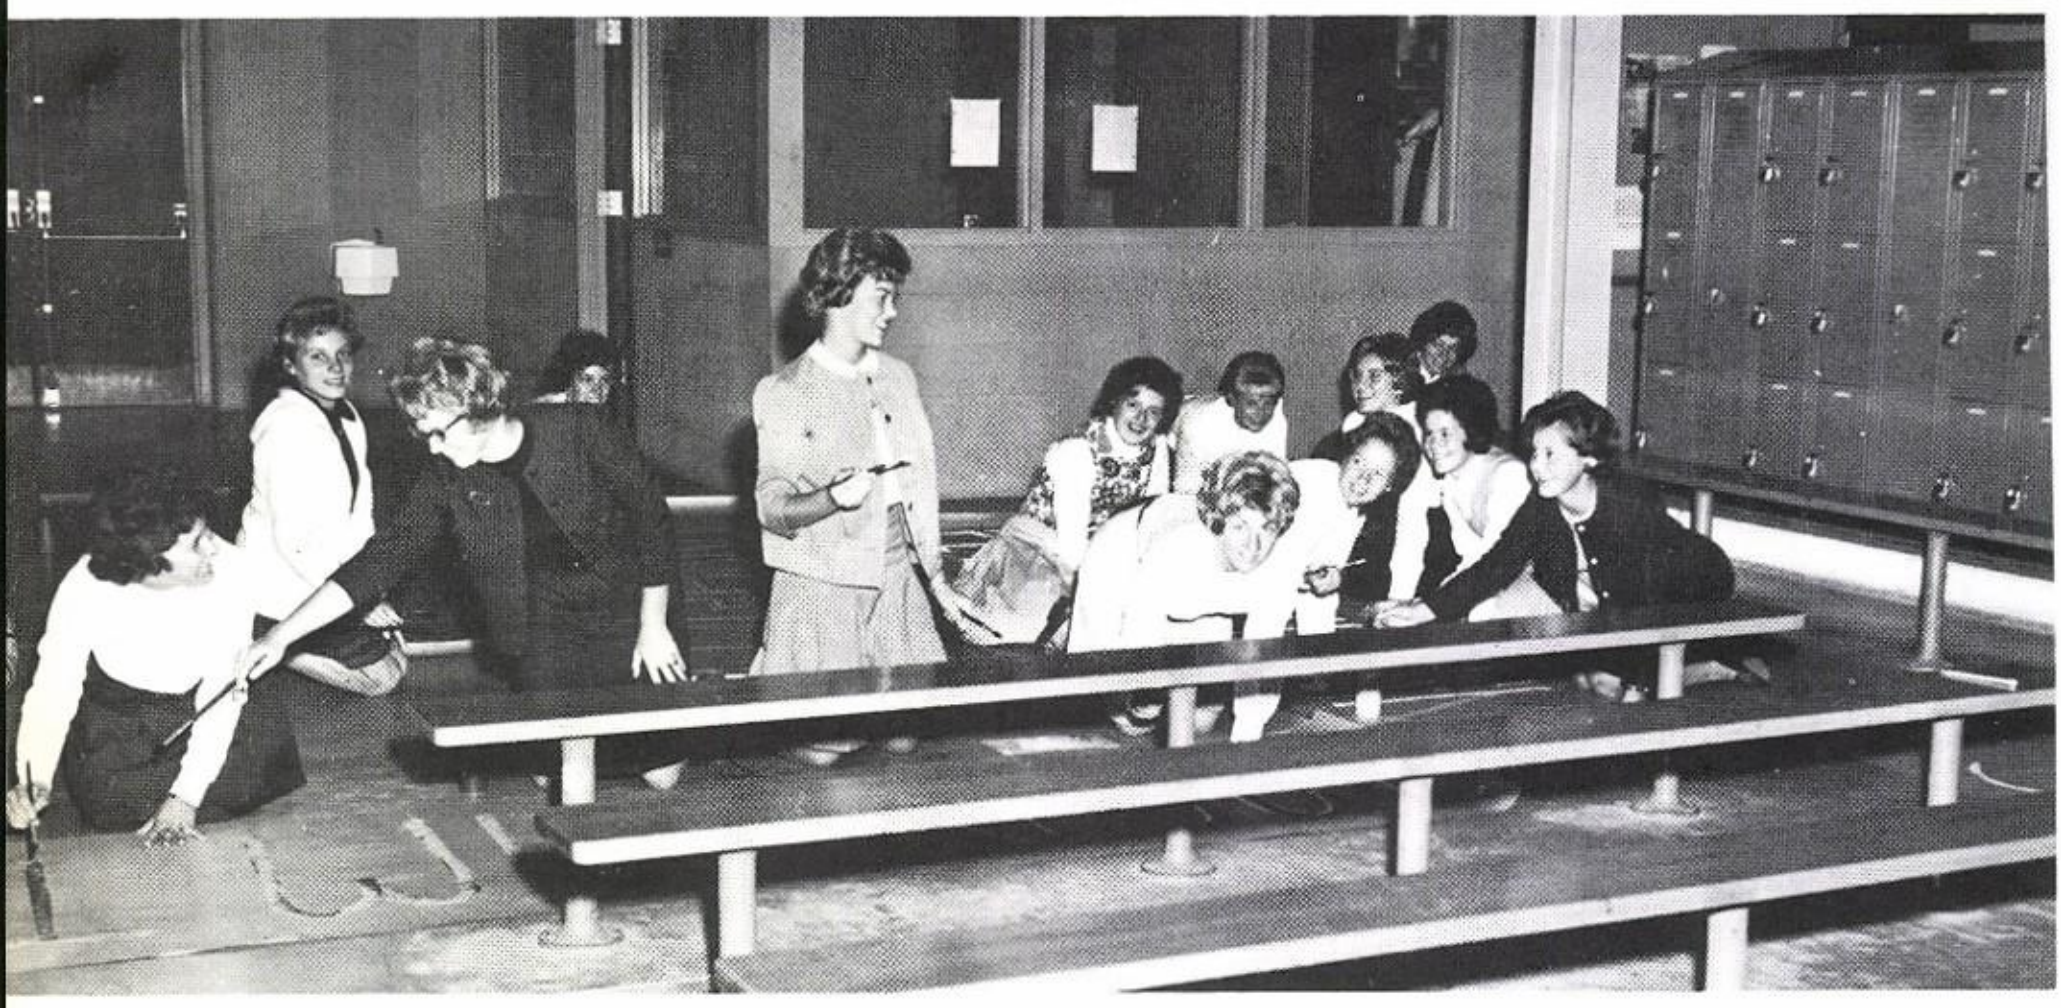
Our four-members color guard: Carol Hoffmaster, Kathy Bonness, Stephanie Stabley, and Linda Clark. These girls led the band in the six long marches and ten routines in the '63 football season.

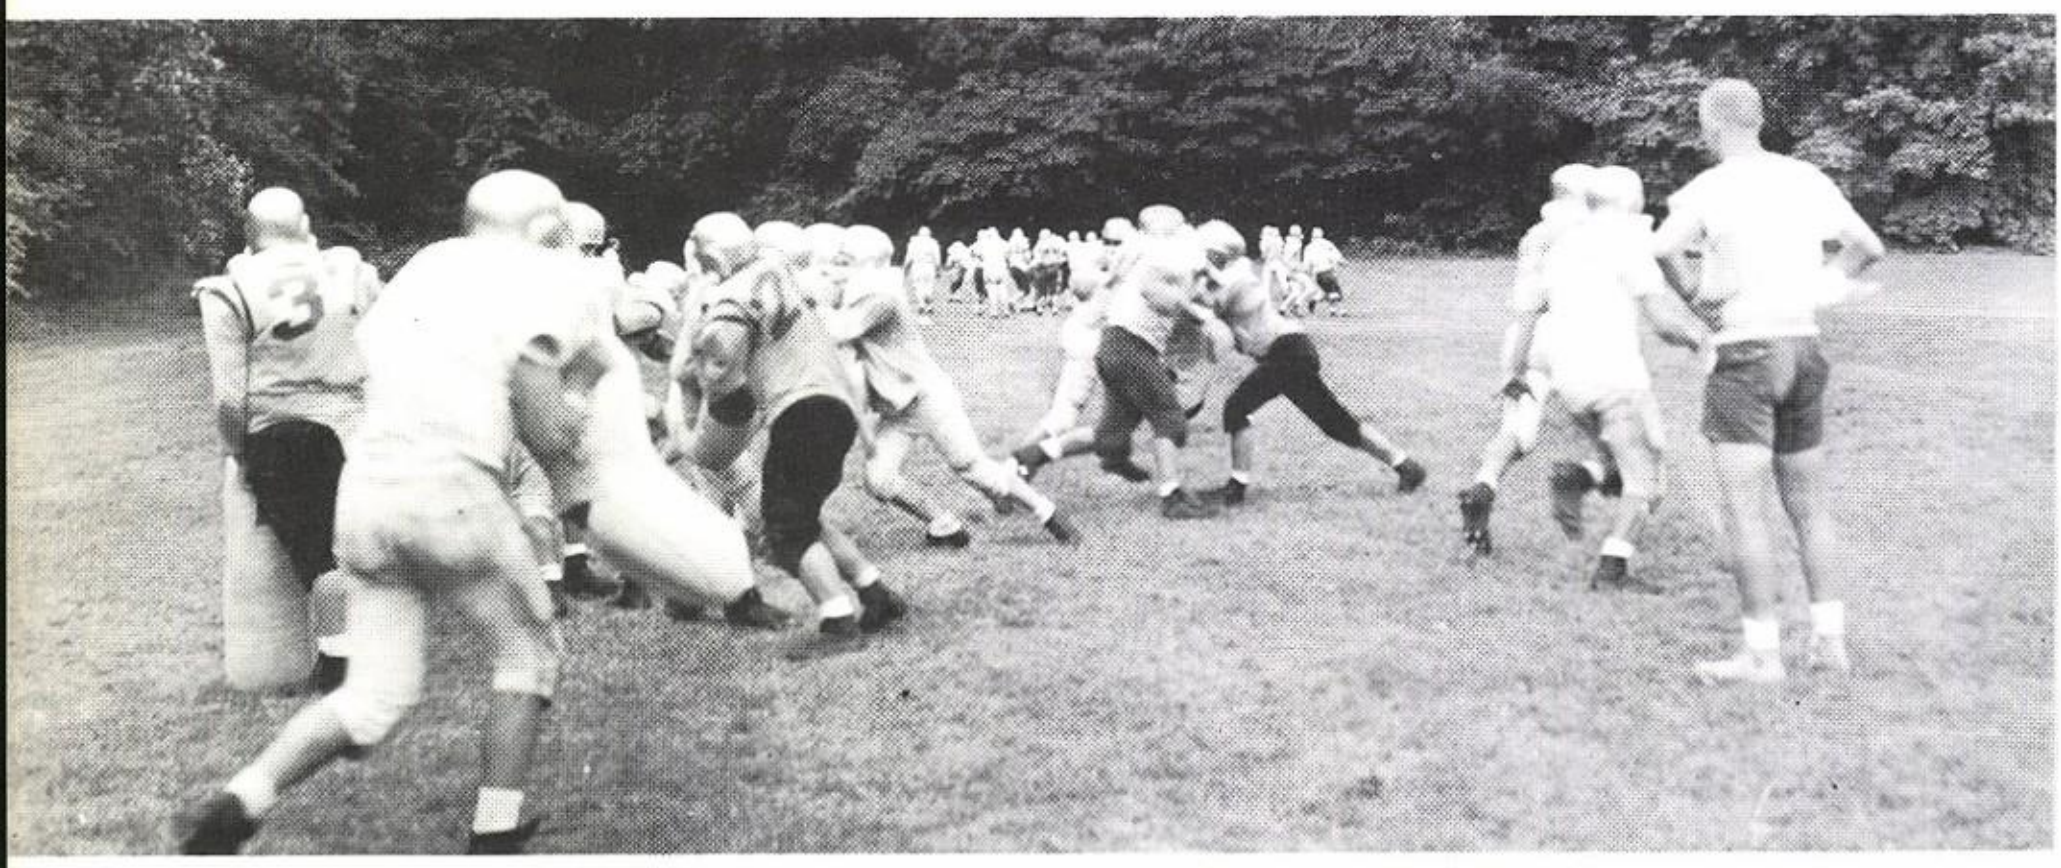


Leo the lion, our school's mighty mascot, helps the cheerleaders arouse school spirit and enthusiasm at various sports events. Sharon Stabley, who holds this job, poses in costume for our camera.

Floats, Parades, and Pep Rallies

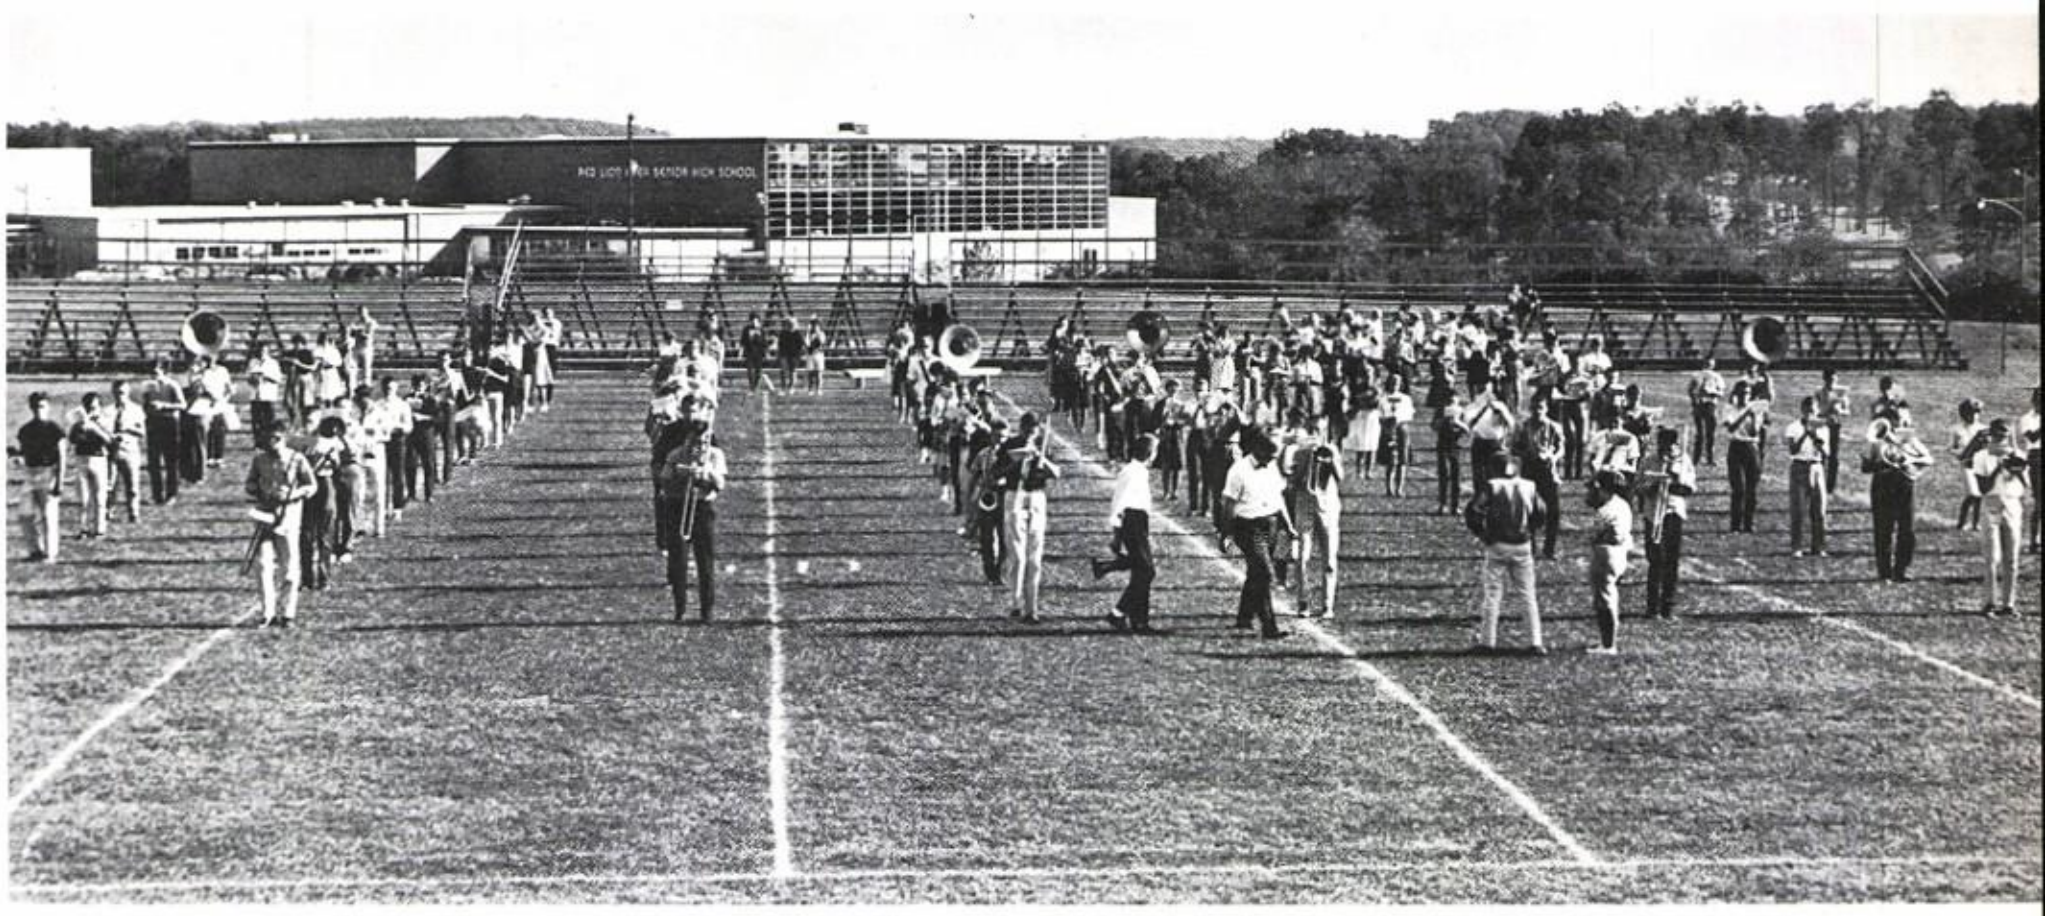


Wouldn't our school's hallways look drab without the artistic productions of the peppy cheerleaders? Everyone at one time or other has admired these beautiful masterpieces. During the football season, the Varsity and Junior Varsity cheerleading squads worked long hours to create colorful posters which most surely inspired our team on to victory. During the half time routine, the posters came in handy as they were used to identify all the teams that comprised the Conference of Roses.

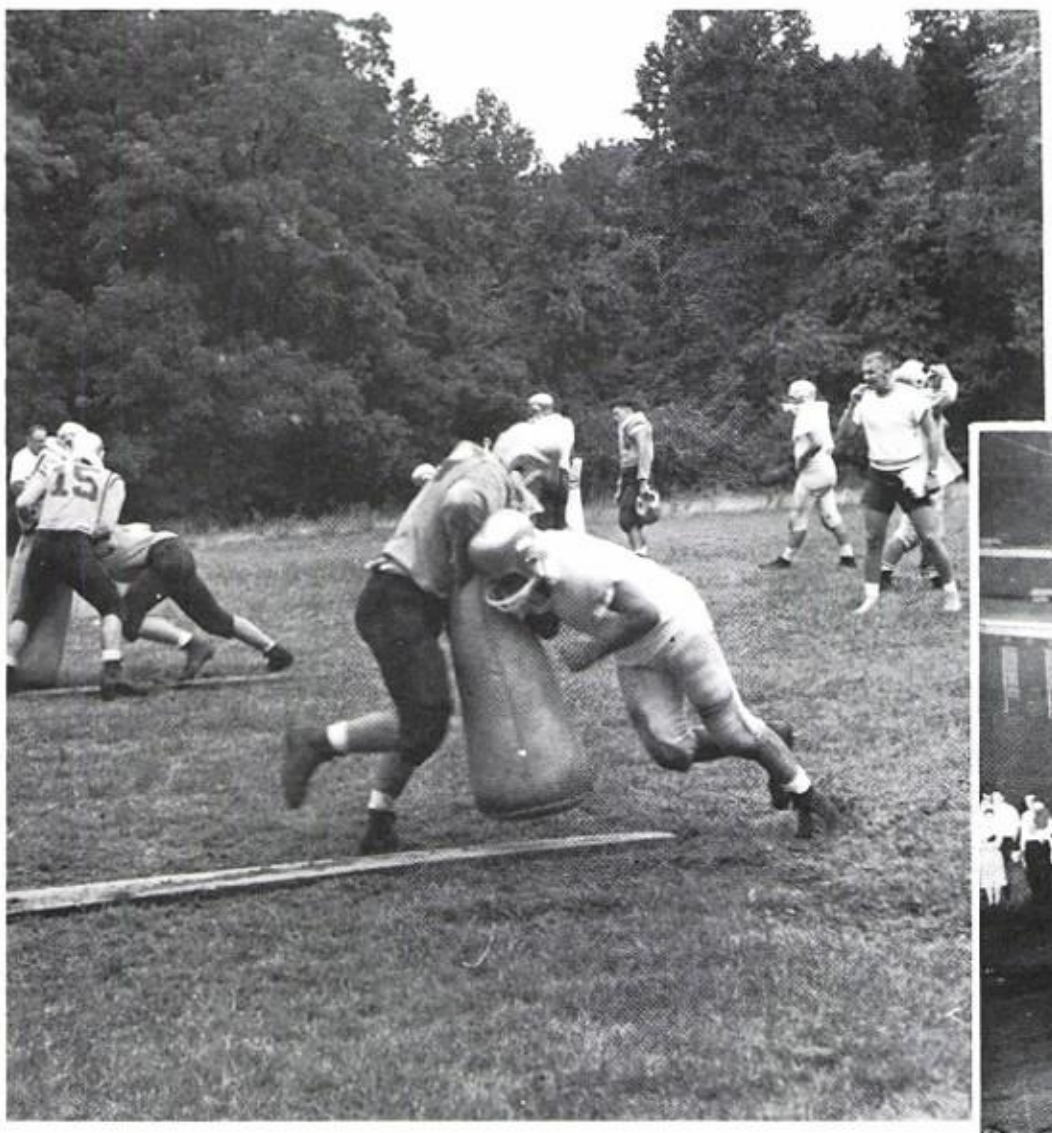


During the month of August the Varsity football team packed up their helmets, jerseys, and shoes and set off for Camp Echo Trail. Above the boys are split into small groups as they practice their blocking techniques before the watchful eye of Mr. Urey. After a hard afternoon, sweating under the sun, the boys were given a recreation period in which they were allowed to go swimming, play softball, or participate in any other active sport.

Set the Scene for Action

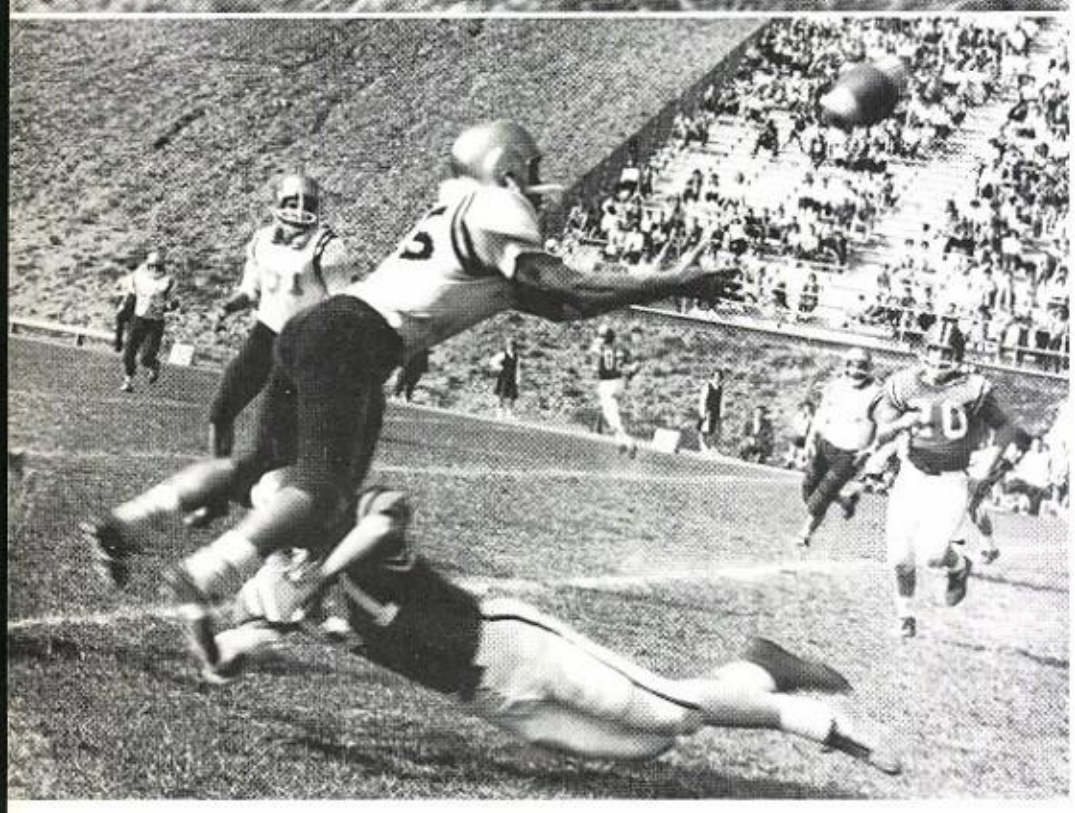


"Practice makes perfect" is an old adage—Mr. Ward and his marching band seem to agree wholeheartedly with the saying as they practice diligently each Wednesday and Thursday after school. Anyone passing the football field on these two afternoons can hear the strains of "Bill Bailey," "Peter Gunn," "Wonderland By Night," etc. and watch various precision drills and formations. This work pays off when the band entertains the football spectators at half time.



It's that time again. Coach Urey looks on while players rough it up getting in shape for the coming season. Those long hours of body building were rewarded by the co-championship.

The juniors have decided it's time to get on the bandwagon and support their float. Students and spectators alike eagerly await the moment when the winner is announced.



Lions March

The close of the '63 football season marked the end of an era in sports at Red Lion. Our fighting Lions climaxed our last year of competition in the Conference of Roses with a highly successful record of seven wins and one loss, sharing the co-championship with Manheim Twp. and Donegal. The team also gained additional prestige for our school through their defeat of West York and the return of the Principal's Trophy to our showcase.

Two opposing tacklers team up to bring down a Red Lion ball carrier during an exciting moment in the West York game. Experience has taught our veteran halfbacks that fighting for those last few inches sometimes pays off.

During the game with Warwick, Bill Workinger picks off a pass as the pass receiver tries to keep his team in possession of the ball. Fortunately for the Lions, Bill held on to the pigskin as our team went on to victory.

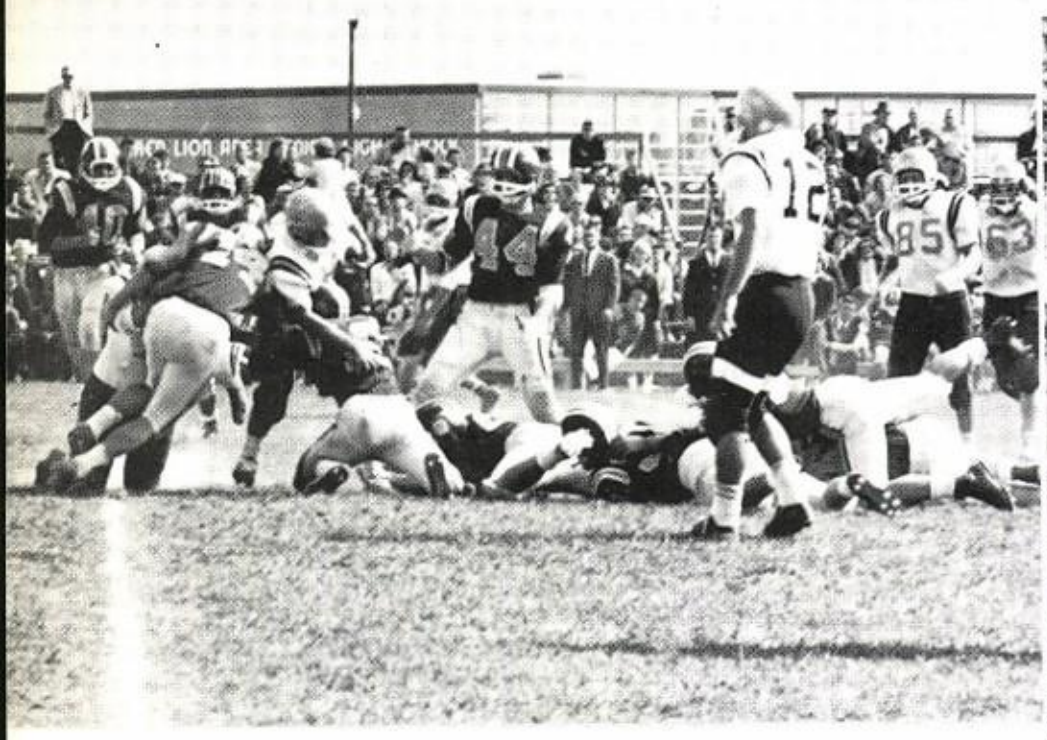
WHO wants a touchdown? RED LION does, of course, and it looks as though halfback, Danny Smith, is doing his best to add six more points to our team's score. Perhaps there's another victory on the way!



Here we see mass confusion—not really, however; this is only one of the intricate set plays run by the offensive team. John Pitzer, the ball carrier, tears a hole through the Warwick line and breaks away into one of his long gallops.

Determined John Pitzer fights his way down the gridiron, with the opposing team in close pursuit. John's strong will proved to be an asset in the formation of the conference's best defensive team.

Activities Highlight

As the football banquet brings the football season to a climax, the young Lions look forward to new fall activities. Included in these are the Senior Play, College Entrance Examinations, the annual School and College Night, and the observance of National Education Week. Sounds coming from the activity office also seem to indicate that the LION and LEONID staffs are at work frantically trying to meet their deadlines. Yes, fall is a busy time for our astronauts.

Business Manager, John Sprenkle, seems to be enjoying his part in the yearbook sales as he receives money from Kathy Brown, Doris Kreeger, Ed Smith, and Nancy Kornbau during the campaign, which lasted three weeks.

The Motet Choir of Susquehanna University presented a late November assembly. The choir consisted of eleven members—five men, five women and their accompanist. During their performance, the choir presented many favorites, including "Comin' Thro' the Rye" and "Swing Low Sweet Chariot." During a brief intermission the announcer added various interesting comments about Susquehanna's campus.

Our second professional assembly took the form of a hilarious pantomime by Mr. Harry Bartron. Besides his pantomimic talents Mr. Bartron also related some background information on his profession.

Mrs. Elizabeth Conrad Tuttle presents "Oliver" in all its grandeur. Dressed in a gaily colored costume, Mrs. Tuttle dramatically brings the great broadway hit, based on Dicken's "Oliver Twist," to our stage. Besides her amazing theatrical ability, Mrs. Tuttle also gave a biographical sketch on Charles Dickens.

Senior, Eleanor Pickel, smiles shyly as Mr. Hillman measures her for her cap and gown. While making this her biggest year in school, Eleanor, like most members of the class of '64, looks to the future.

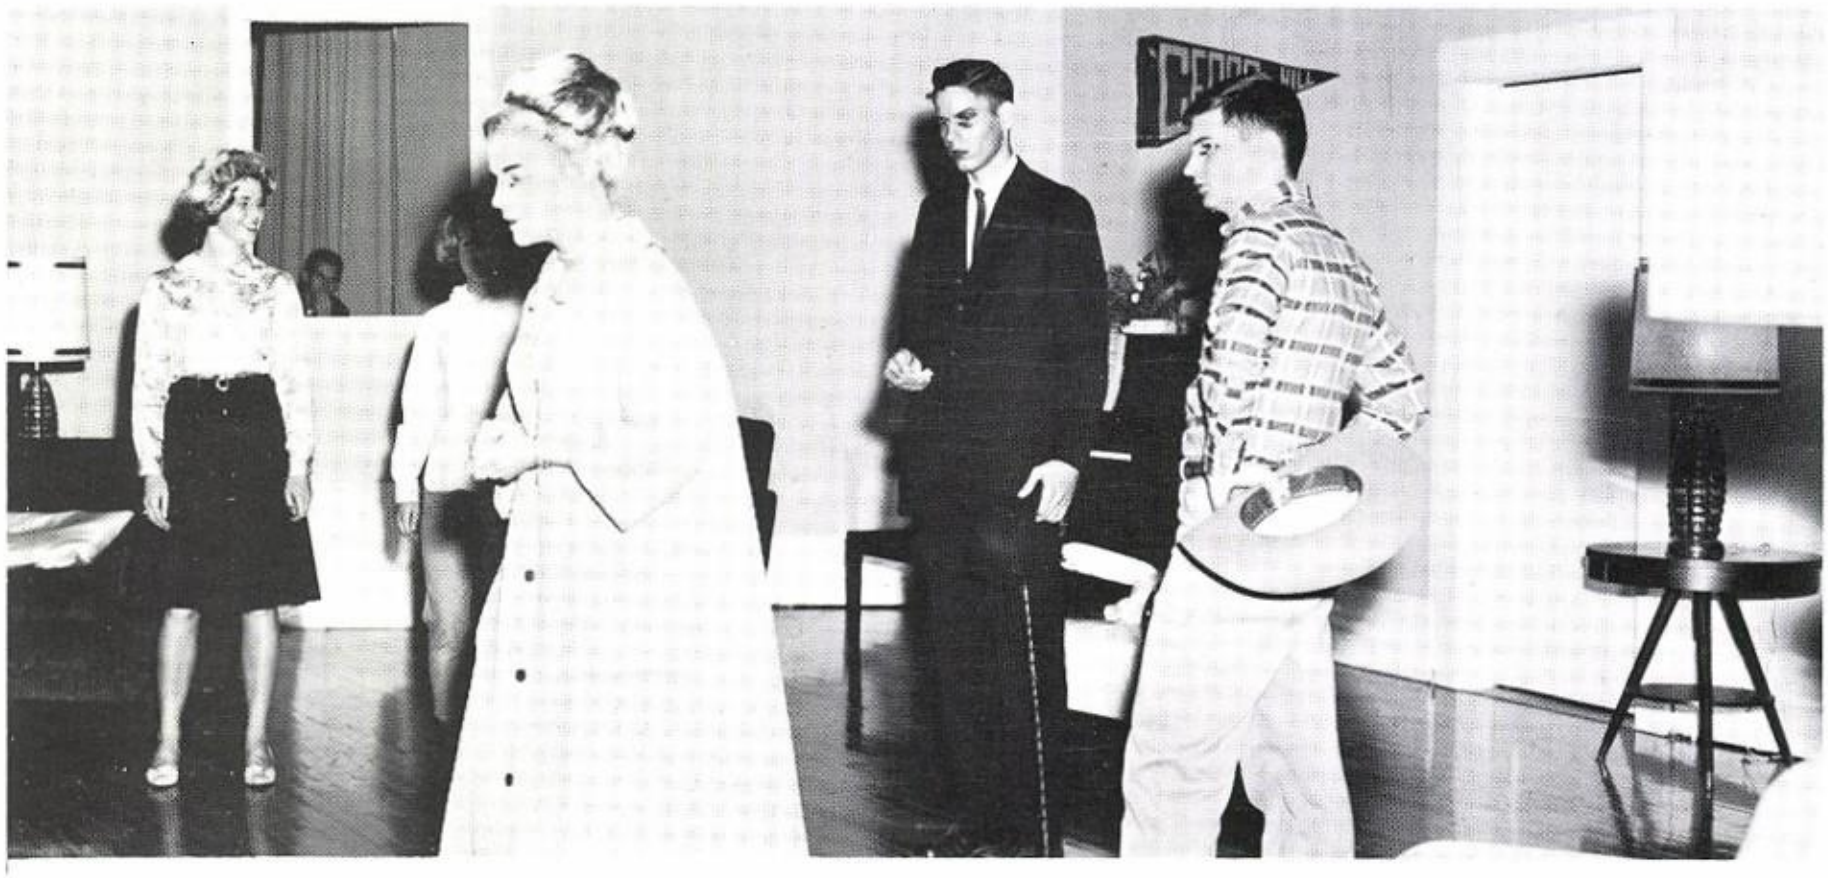
Seniors Go Out West

Amid the hustle and bustle of the Senior Play we find two members of the make-up committee, Sharon Fisher and Sandra Eckert, preparing Kathy Bonness for her part in the production. Watch the powder, girls!

Cedar Hill, an exclusive girls' school sets the scene for the riotous comedy "Mr. Coed." Presented in three acts by our young Senior Thespians, the play heralds the arrival of a new student, Lotus Smith. On the surface, this seems perfectly normal, but who would suspect that Lotus is a boy!

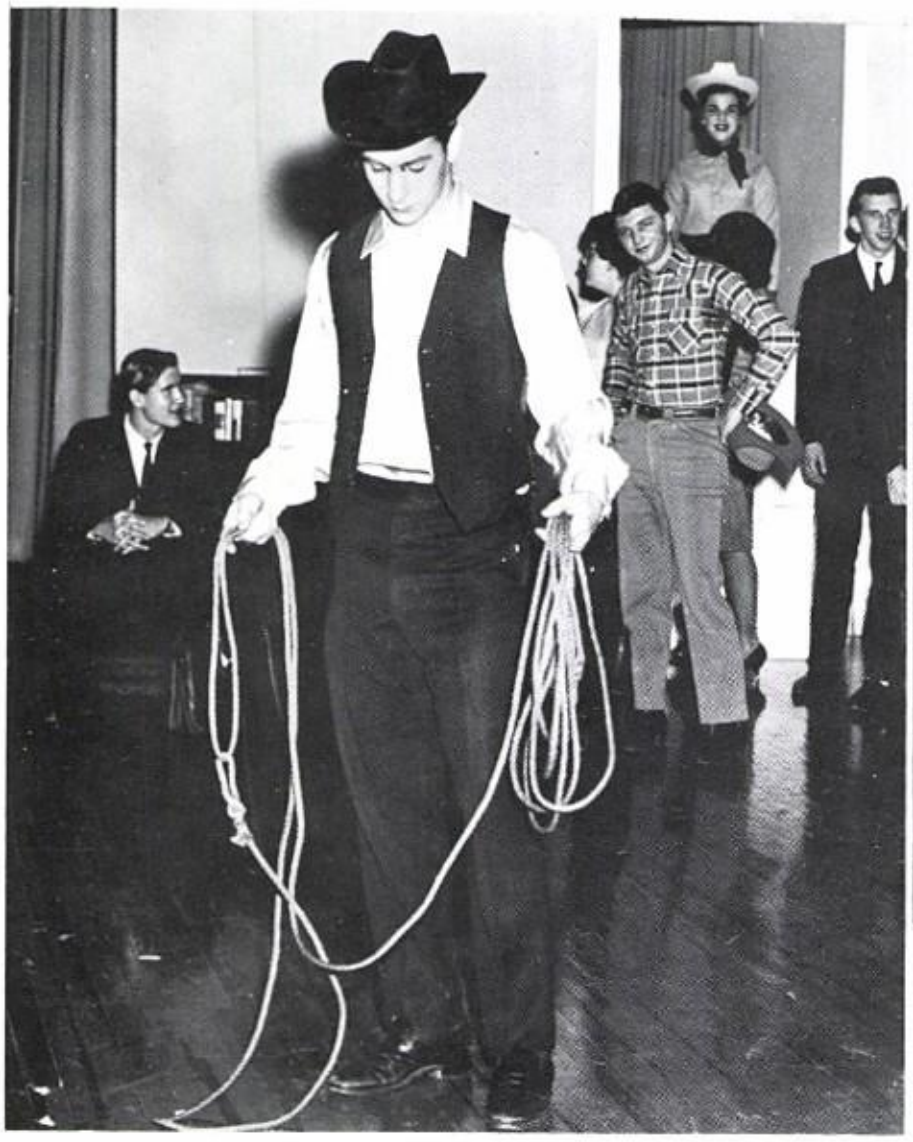
Under the direction of Mrs. Hilda C. Jackowick, the cast, featuring dancers and dormitory girls, favored the audiences with enjoyable performances; and a precision drill by the cadets added some military spirit to the production.

"Mr. Coed" takes on a serious note as Deanna Kline, Dave Pfaltzgraff, and Denny Thompson strike a solemn pose. The situation must not be too grave, however, since Kathy Bonness and Patti Grove are all smiles. Perhaps these two know something about the future of Cedar Hill that they're not telling now, but soon the secret will be divulged and the whole group will be happy once again.



for Three Evenings of Riotous Entertainment

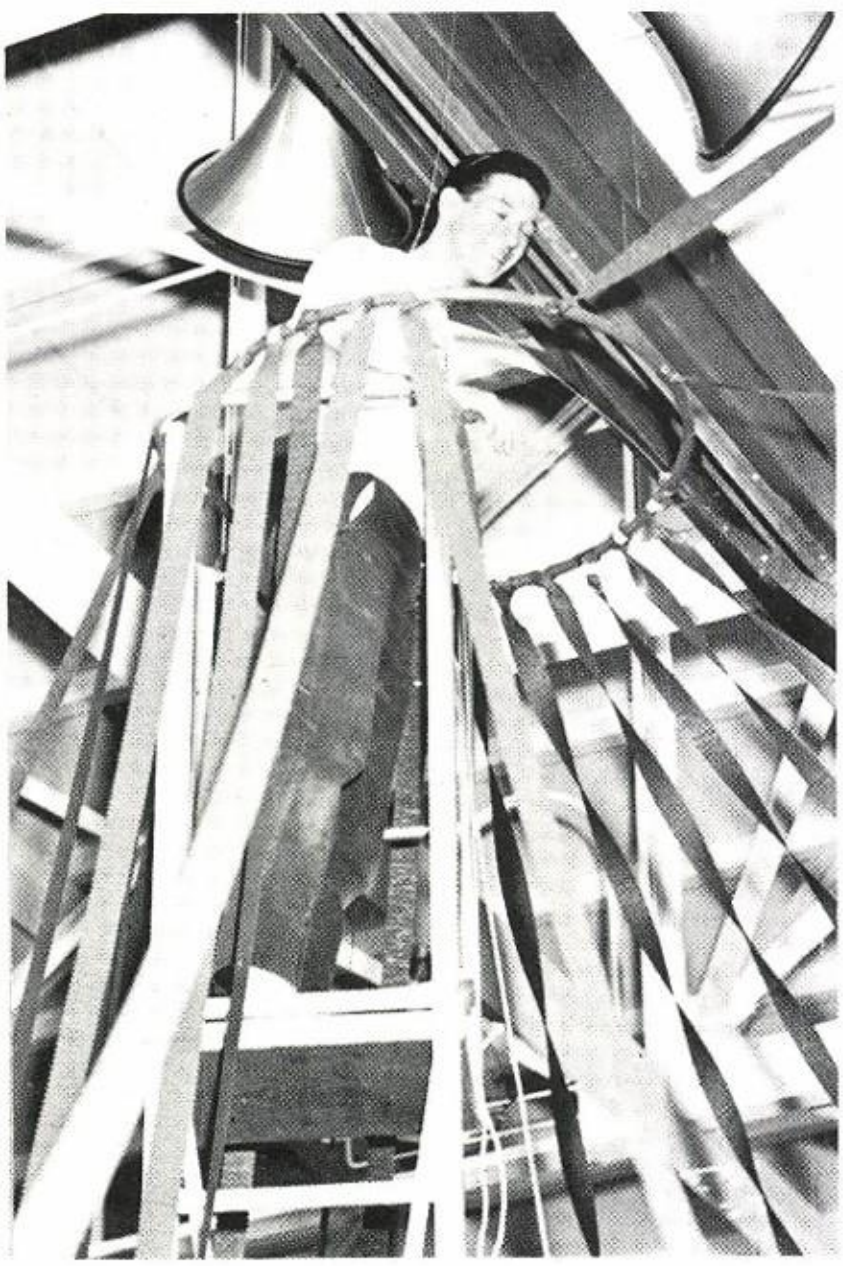
Lariat lessons, anyone? It looks like Paul Keperling has many eager onlookers including Jan Seitz, Linda Shultz, Denny Thompson, Deanna Kline, and Denny Slenker, who would appreciate training in this field.



Atten-shun! As the command is given, the snappy cadets come to attention—heads erect, shoulders back, eyes straight ahead. These boys from the military academy eagerly anticipate their marches to Cedar Hill.

Homer Quakenbush, portrayed by Paul Keperling, appears to be getting in shape for the fulfillment of his lifelong ambition—to go out West. Jan Seitz, Patti Grove, Dennis Thompson, and Ottilie Jones look on in amusement.

The Student Council Provides



Our enthusiastic student council works vigorously on many projects throughout the school year. Ranging from dances to car washes, their busy schedule takes them through day after day of constant preparation. Wanting to please everyone, our eager student council tries to plan projects which attract the attention of the student body—for example, at Christmas time they sponsor the door decoration contest. Though not all of their endeavors attain recognition, the student council still looks forward to the day when they acquire more acknowledgment.

High, high up on the ladder, our energetic Student Council President Dale Emenheiser does his part in the preparation for the Valentine Dance, "Cupid's Caper." Hope he doesn't get lost in all that red crepe paper!

The Student Council Executive committee, center of student government, is responsible for many of the social functions included in school life. Members of the group are Craig Ellis, Georgia Kowach, Denny Thompson, Mr. Jones (advisor), Rodney Koons, Dale Emenheiser, Linda Hess, James Delhammer, and Barbara Holtzapple. The regular meetings seem to bring forth many interesting and unique ideas that are displayed in annual dances, fund drives, and other events in and out of school.

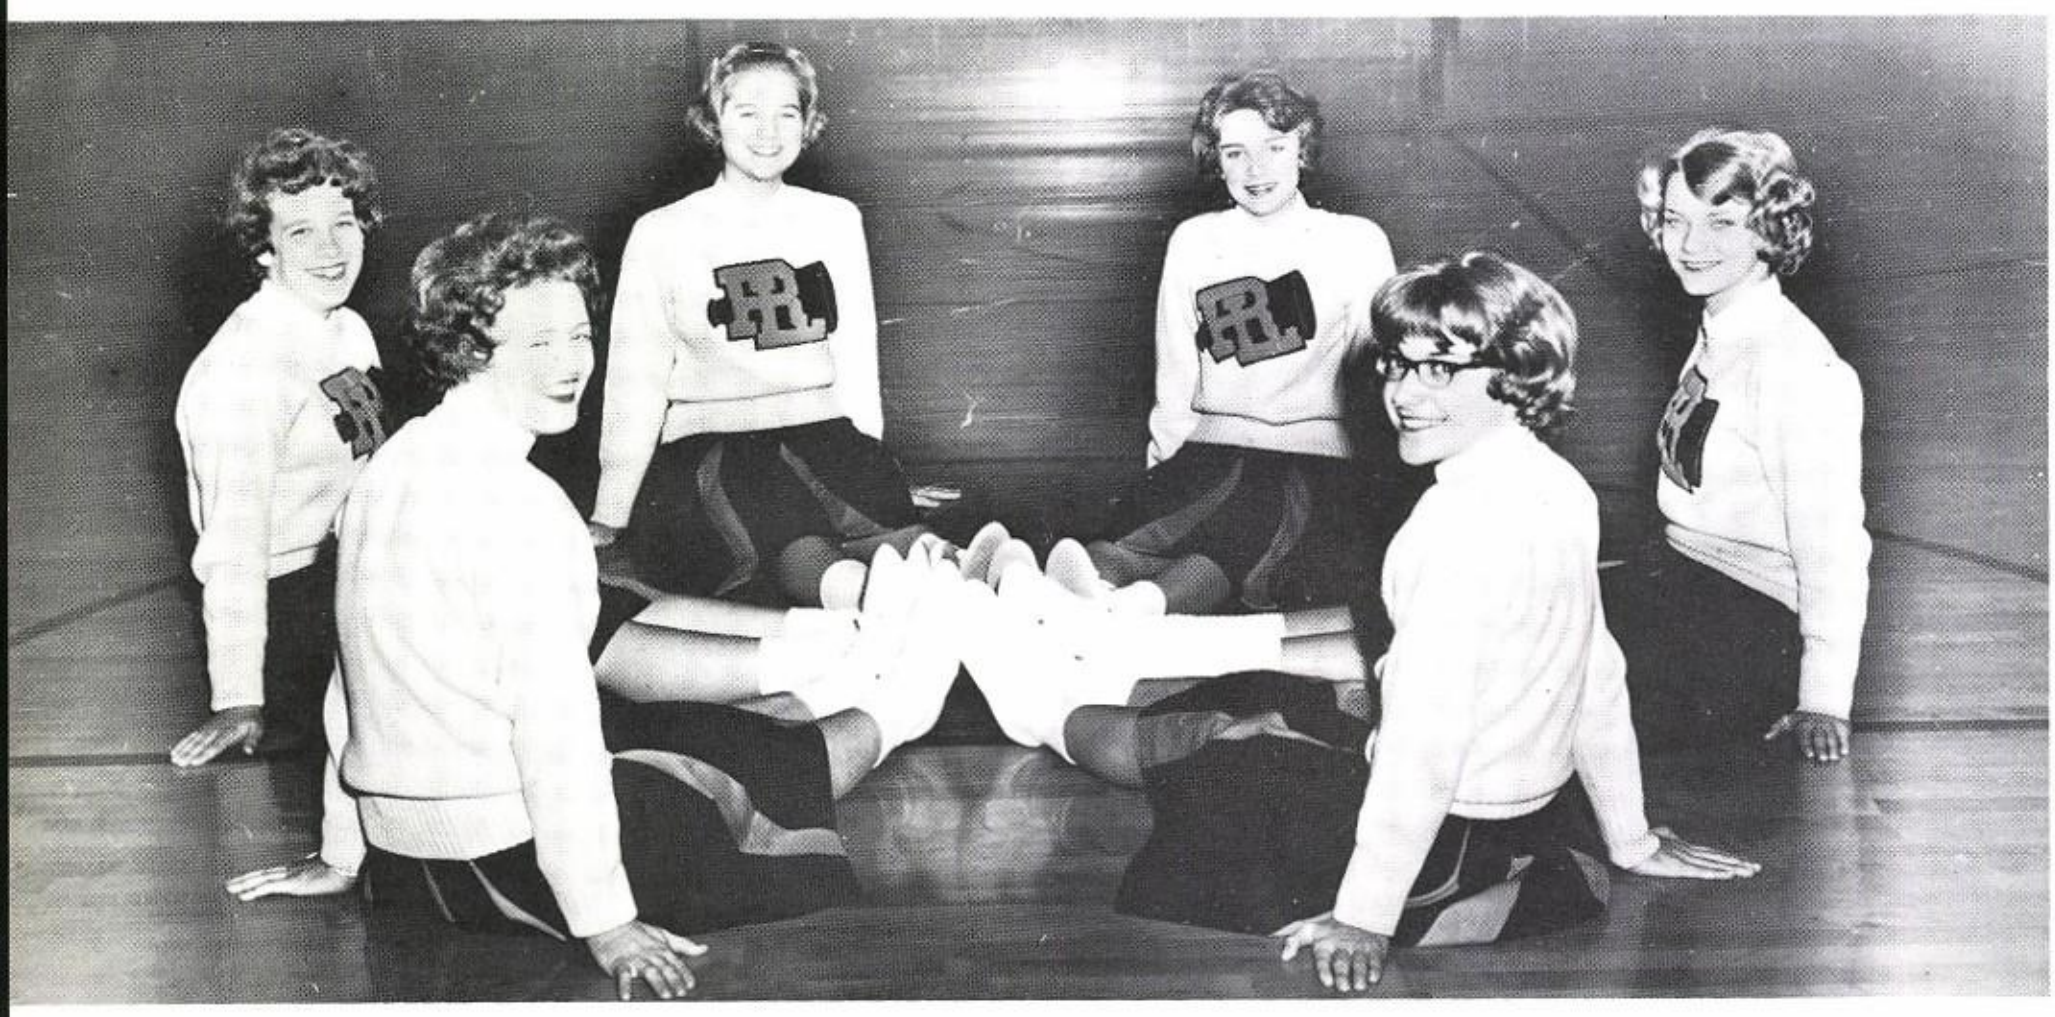
Lionesses Lead Many

Cheering fans, who are led by our cheerleaders, are as important as the athletes. Among these loyal spectators are girls who each year compete for a coveted position on one of the cheerleading squads. These bouncy, enthusiastic, cheerleaders spend many hours practicing and preparing in various ways for the future sports events. All their work proved rewarding as they brought honor to our school with their championship cheering.

Being the newest members, the Freshmen Cheerleaders take great pride in showing off their skill. The peppy freshmen are: Lorna Laucks, Barbara Holtzapple, Bonnie Campbell, Shannon Rexroth, Kathy Klinedinst, and Lydia Phillips.

Our enthusiastic Junior Varsity Cheerleading Squad takes a well deserved break from their hectic schedule to pose for LION photographers. Being an asset to the J. V. basketball players, our pert cheerleaders work very hard to lift the spirit of this team and send them on to victory. These energetic squad members are: Patricia Markel, Mary Eaton, Tina Sheffer, Debbie McGuigan, Jinny Lou Frey, and Pat Geesey.



a Loud, Spirited Cheer

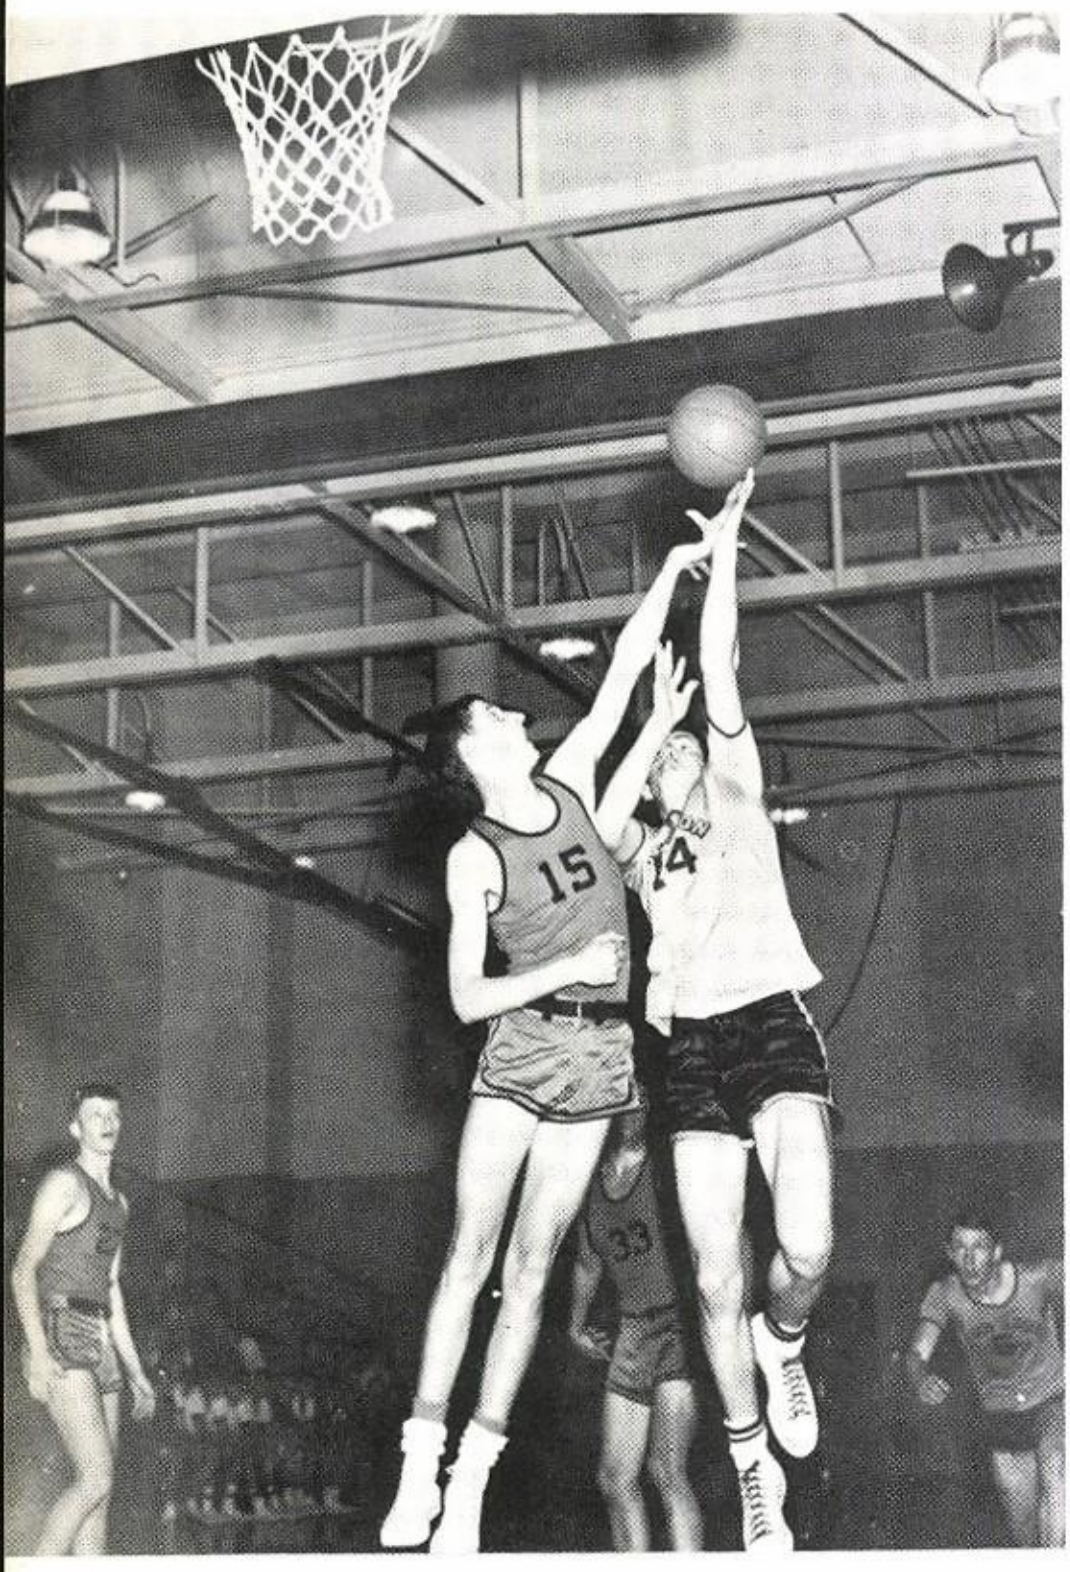
Yea, Dave! Yea, Skeets! A number of our bouncy cheerleaders welcome the basketball team on court. Seniors, Rodney Koons and Dave Miller, lead off as the team members enter through the welcome line for their warm up.

Bradley Smith slowly hands his ticket to Sharon Stabley as Mr. Stamets looks on. At each game at least two faculty advisors and members of either the G.A.A. or F.H.A. collect the tickets.

The Varsity Cheerleaders kick up their heels, while performing one of their numerous original cheers. Vigorous practices contribute to the precision of this organization. The bubbling enthusiasm of these high-spirited girls encourages the zealous fans to cheer. These girls are: Barbara Jackson, Joyce Markel, Delores Kline, Joan Ellis, Cynthia Garner, Judy Beth Warner, Jill Toomey, Susan Godfrey, and Lynn Markel.

Cagers Combine Speed

Time after time during the 1963–64 basketball season our speedy cagers grabbed early leads only to see them vanish. On the court the Lions proved to be very erratic. There were many games in which the team couldn't miss from the field and then there were others where there seemed to be a lid on the basket. Although the Varsity, under the coaching of Gable Snyder, did not show an impressive record, they were involved in many heartbreaking losses. Who could ever forget those exciting home games with Dallastown, Kennard Dale, and South Western in which the Lions lost by a combined total of eight points, or the hard fought game with Eastern in which the team finished the game with only four players.



Rodney Koons, one of our star basketball players, is trying his best to add two points to Red Lion's varsity score—hope this lay-up shot puts York Suburban even farther away from victory!

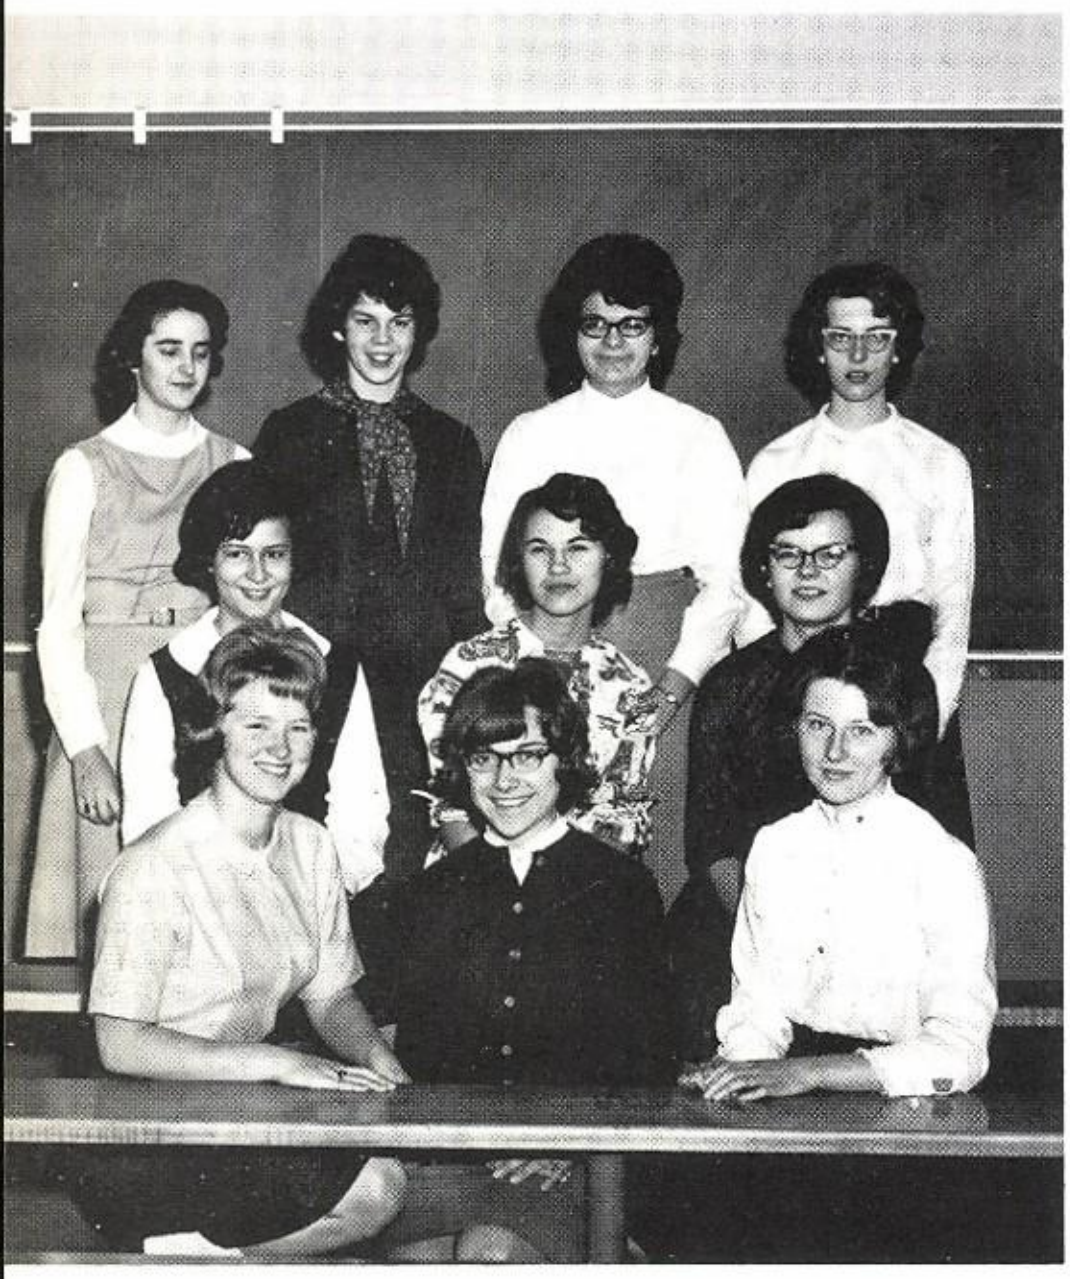
Feminine Organizations Prove to Be Quite



Not to be outdone by the male organizations, the fair sex of Red Lion maintains three clubs solely for their own enjoyment.

Several days a week after school, the young Lionesses scurry to the gym for an hour of supervised exercise, ranging from volleyball to tumbling. Girls in G.A.A. also help to sell refreshments and collect tickets at the games.

Helen Kowach, Patti Grove, Ronald Grim, Linda Pomraning, and Cheryl Davis work to meet a deadline.

According to the smile on Miss Dixon's face, she must have received a perfectly typed article from Helen Herman. Helen is one of the LEONID's four skilled typists who eagerly work to turn out articles each month.

Anyone who peers into the Activity Office will find a group of energetic seniors who make up the LION staff. This group combines their talents of writing, designing, typing, and photographing to produce the '64 LION. As the deadline draws near, the movement in the Activity Office increases in pace. The photography staff hurries and scurries to get clear pictures and the make-up staff cuts and pastes to complete the "dummy." Meanwhile the editorial staff is busy putting the finishing touches on their copy and the business staff is hard at work managing finances. All this hard work is certainly gratifying when the yearbooks are distributed at the end of the school year.

Brass, Woodwinds,

Participating in a variety of organizations, our musically inclined young astronauts look forward to spring and the Night of Music. Both parents and students enjoy the performance given by the music department which spends many weeks of long practice in order to do their best. Practice paid off for Carolyn Brandt who played the Overture "Rhapsody in Blue" in last year's presentation. Besides the snappy Concert and Marching Bands, the musicians display their talents in the Orchestra, Dance Band, and Assembly Band.

Music Fills the Air

Nancy Kauffelt, Brian Spurley, Carolyn Brant, and Linda Hess accompany the instrumental and vocal groups which perform at special functions throughout the year such as The Night of Music and the Christmas Assembly.

For the musically inclined student, there are various activities in which to participate. Top musical performances result from the many long activity period singing sessions for the choruses. The Girls, Boys, and Mixed Choruses under the direction of Mrs. Adams and Mr. Ward perform in many assemblies and in the annual Night of Music. Combining to form these vocal groups are students from all four of the classes. Their excellent representation of the music department brings honor to the school.

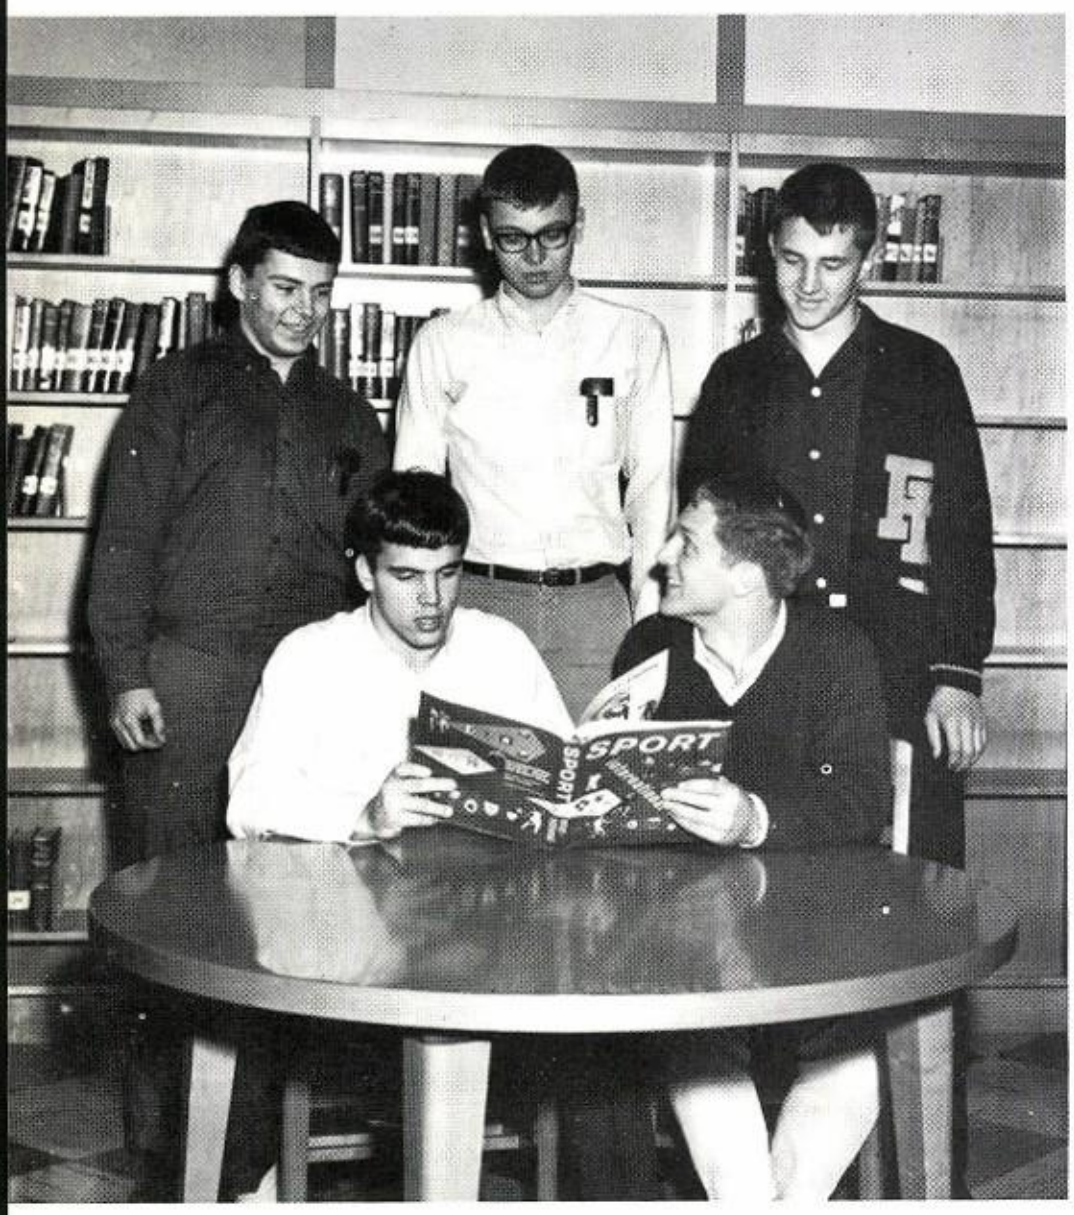
Honors Are Received



Leadership, service, scholarship, and character form the basis for selection in the National Honor Society. Elected from the top one-fourth of their class, junior and senior members are inducted into the society in the beginning of April. At this time, members are also chosen for the National Latin Honor Society and the National Athletic Scholarship Society. These selected students receive rewards for their outstanding achievements.

A newly formed organization, the Business Club, headed by Mrs. Miller, learns various "tricks of the trade" which will be useful to them in later life.

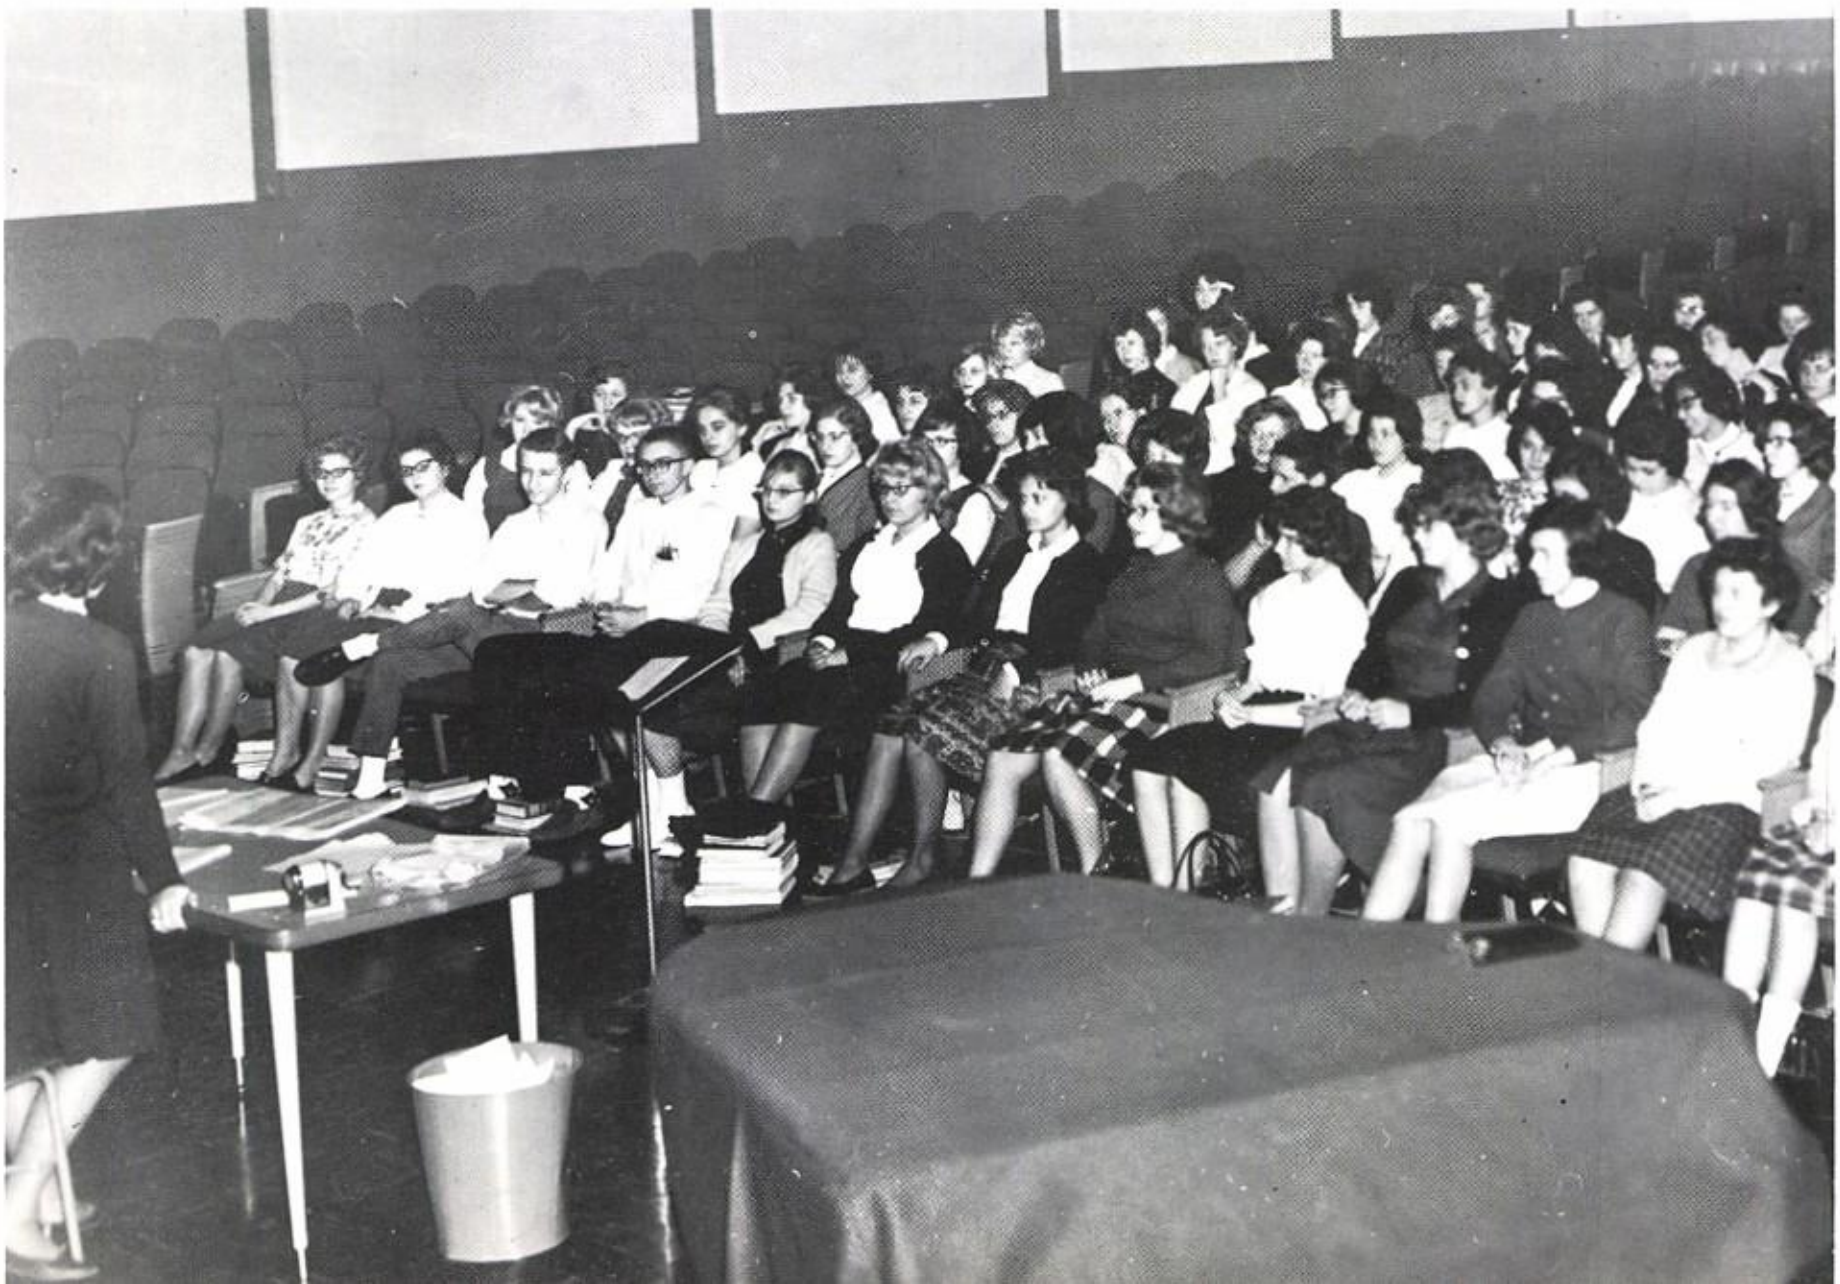
At first glance you may think that this is an assembly; but it is really the regular Thursday-morning meeting of the Business Club. This is the first year for this club which is composed of our hard-working commercial students.



The Mystic Stage Entices Many Young Thespians

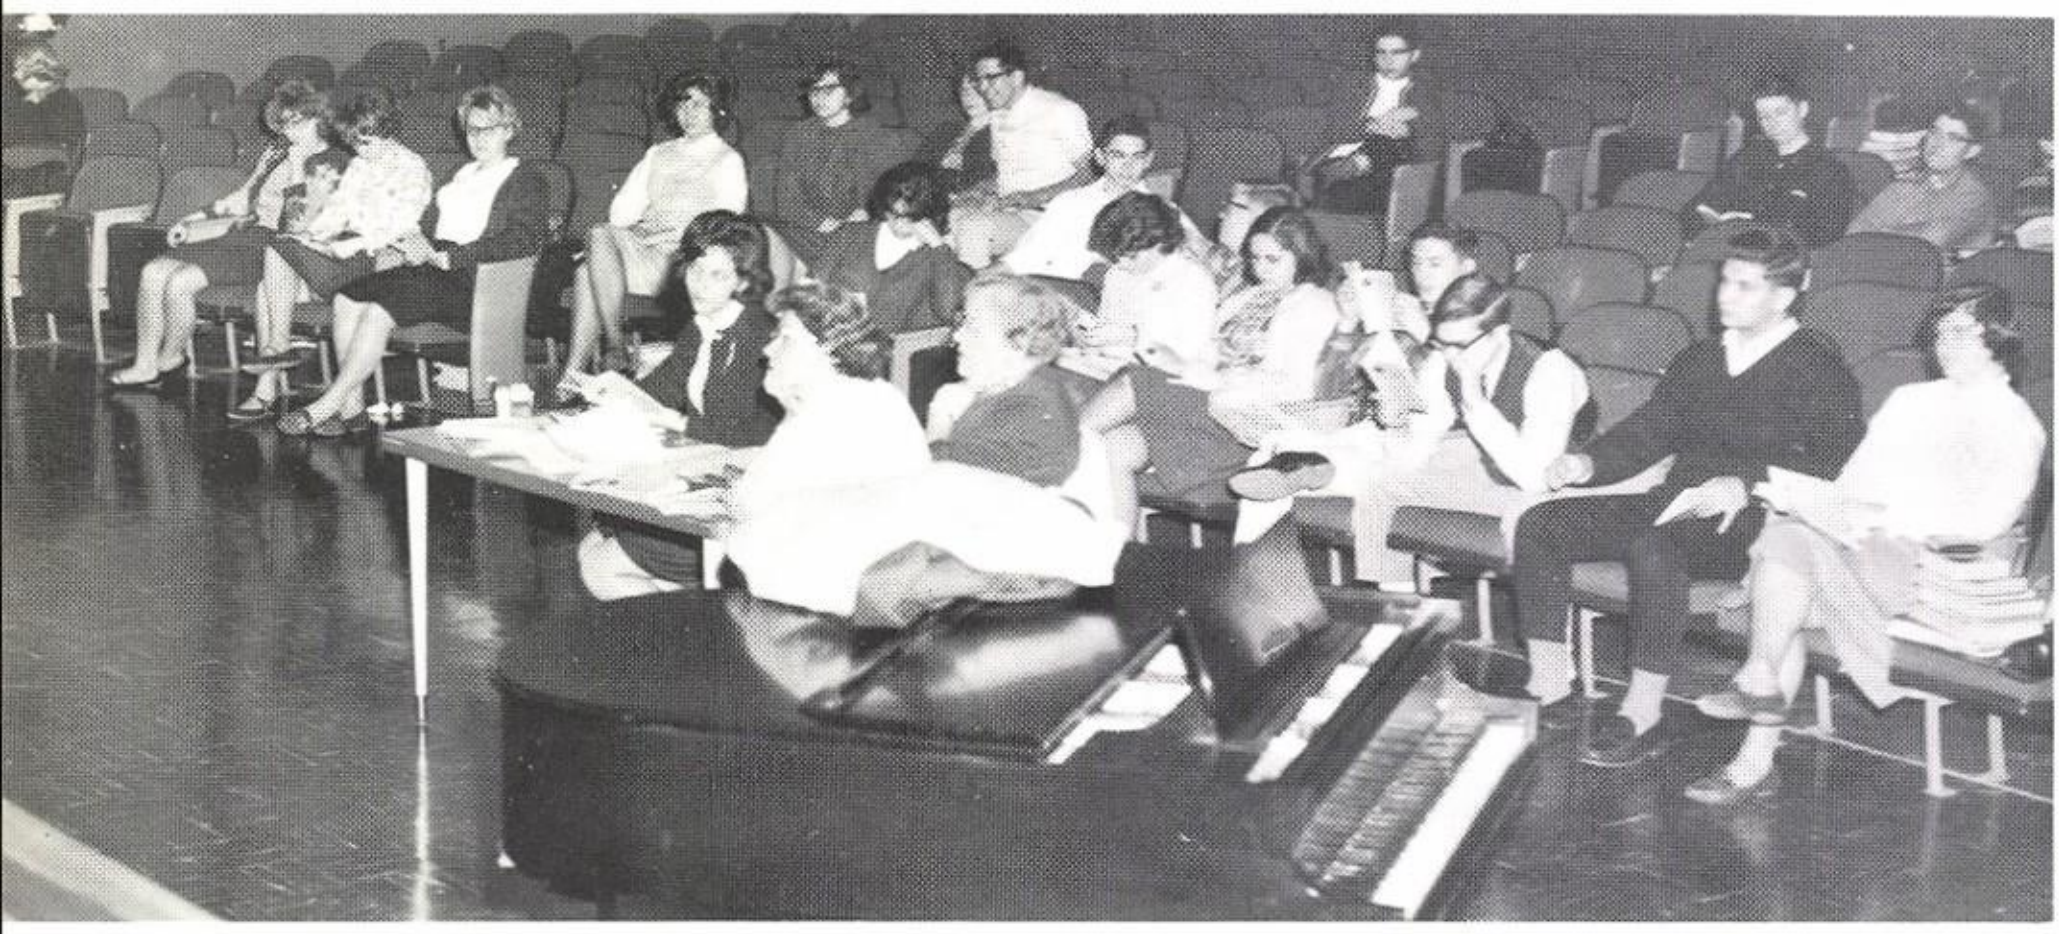
The actors who comprise the Dramatics Club have displayed their talents in many productions throughout the year, the most outstanding being the Jr. and Sr. Play. In addition to the major parts in the plays, there were many committees that labored behind the scenes.

The ticket sellers were out in abundance to drum up the large audience that was greeted by the ushers, while the students in charge of properties were busy setting up the stage.

Not to be forgotten are the boys on the stage crew, who with little recognition, did much work on lighting and sound effects. All these groups working together made a successful play.

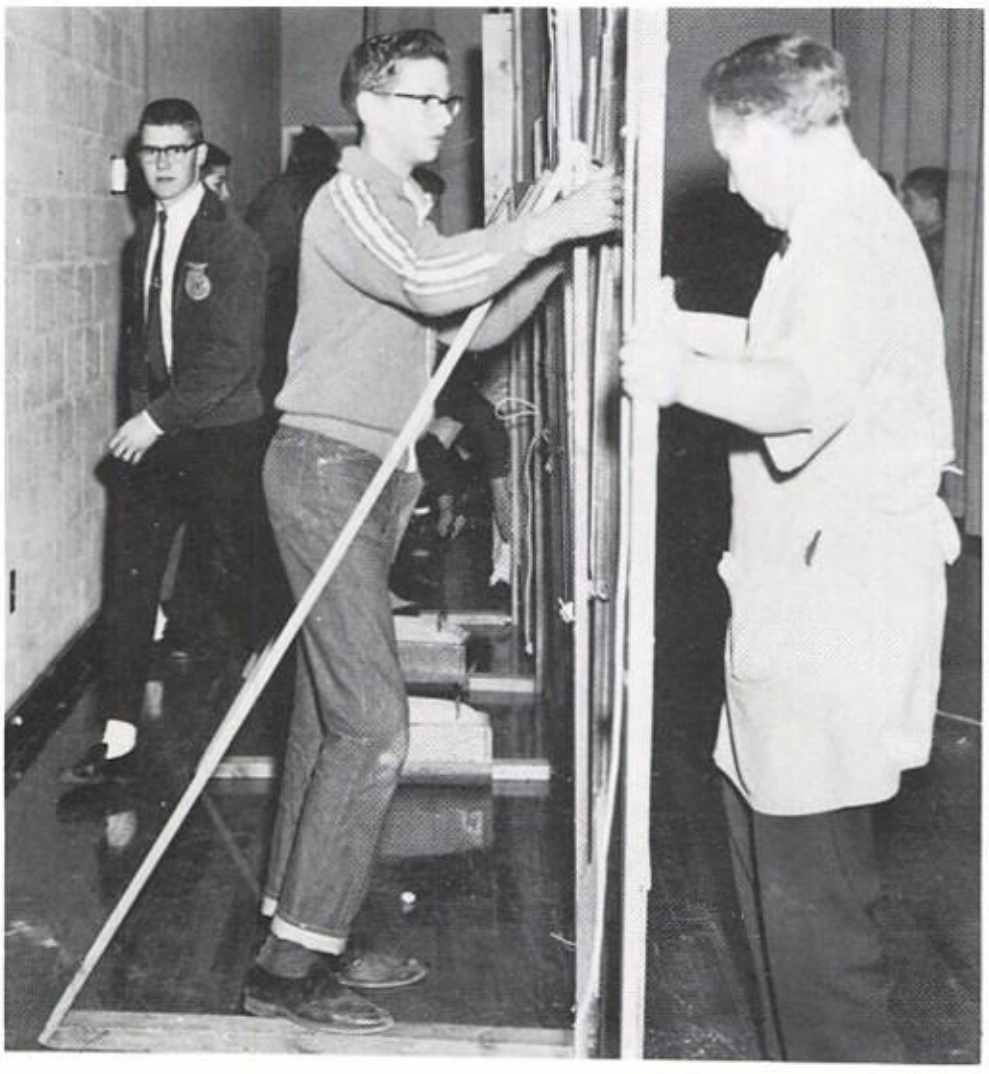
An event in the school life of juniors is play tryouts. Treva Stermer, Stephanie Stabley, and Lynn Stump thoughtfully study their lines in order to put their dramatic talents into full effect.

Engrossed juniors study their lines or watch the ability of others. There must be real talent on the stage for Miss Myers, Mrs. Jackowick, and Cindi Keesey (play directors and student director respectively) look on with fascination.



At first glance, it looks as though this lively group might be the Art Club in the midst of painting scenery, but a second look shows the Stage Crew under the supervision of Mr. Bachman, hard at work preparing for an assembly.

Don't let that fall, boys! Both Paul Jordan and Joe Jacobs, two members of the stage crew, arrange colorful scenery for the various plays and assemblies performed during the year. Here they put some walls in place for the Junior Play.



"Someone hand me the hammer." Jerry Stearn and Mr. Kenneth Bachman, stage crew advisor, piece together the background scenery for a stage production as Tim Kohlbus runs for the hammer and the nails.

Art and Photography

The shutter bugs of the Photography Club need only film and a subject to come up with candid shots. When not busy in the darkroom developing pictures, they can be found snapping students in humorous and awkward poses.

The Art Club works hard to fill display cases in the lobby with pointings, clay figures, and carvings. These fine artists meet every other week with Mr. Barclay.

Developing pictures in the light doesn't work! A few seniors, Reynold Grove, Charles Frey, and Larry Shaffer are explaining a few principles of photography in the chemistry room.

Photography Club members Jeanne Snyder, Retta Crowl, Kay Stine, Sue Bosley, David Young, Bradd Sprenkle, and Dale Neff learn the processes involved in developing a picture, from the snapping of the shutter to the drying of the print.

Enhance R. L. A. H. S.

Demonstrating her artistic abilities, junior Ralene Flaharty exhibits the knack which made her the artist for the yearbook. Ralene's interesting and attractive sketches, which coincide with this year's theme, dominate the inside cover pages of our '64 LION. Besides her work for the LION, Ralene participates in Art Club.

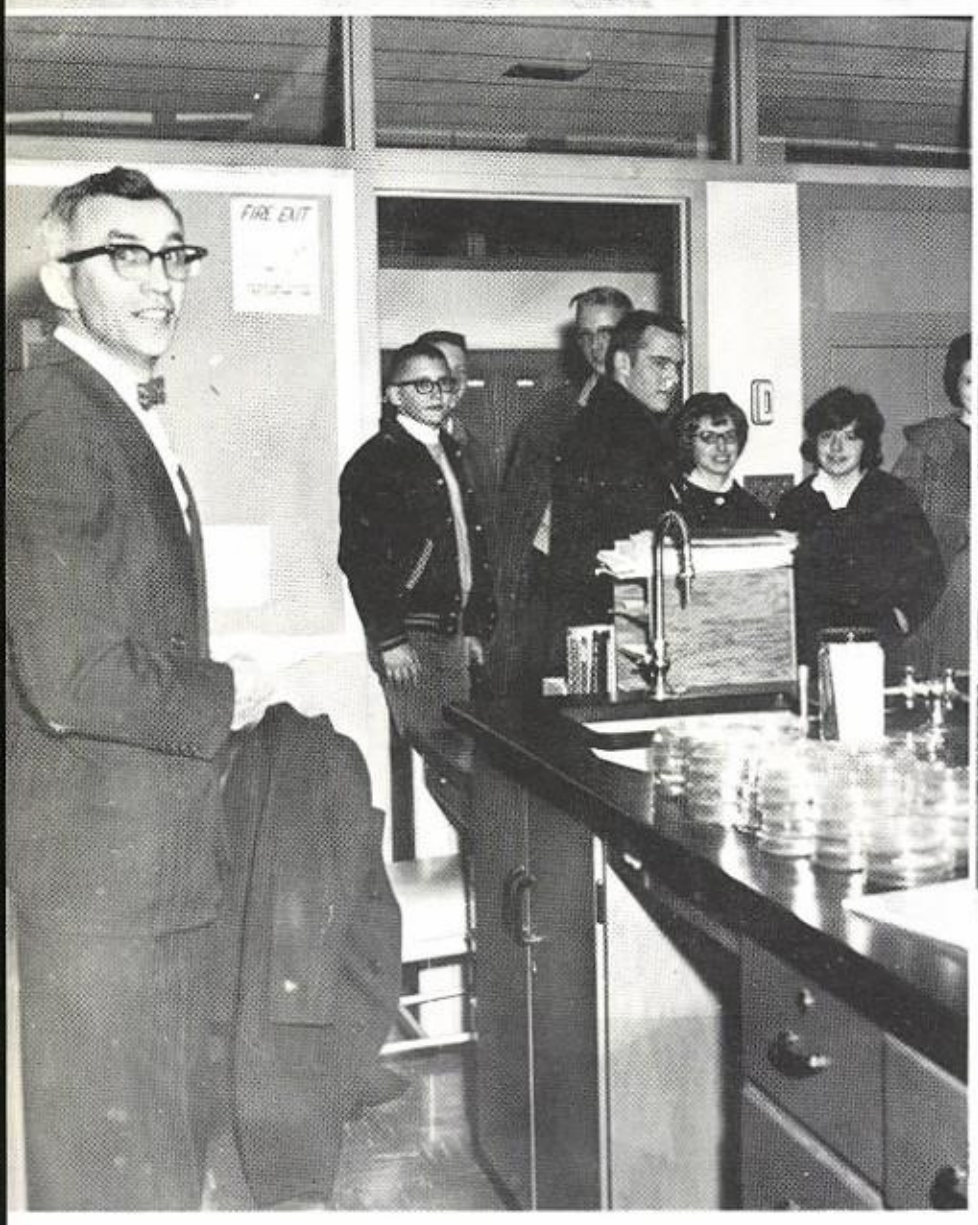
One of our industrious art students, Kenny "Percy" Paules expertly pours a pastel mixture over some unpainted goblets. This is only one of the many projects done by both the art students and members of the Art Club throughout the year which enhance the beauty of the school.

Mr. Joseph Barclay aids Sharon Druck, Carol Grim, and Jerre Frey on their drawings in the art room. These creative students make various works of art for themselves and also prepare settings for plays and posters for school events.

Science Clubs Supply Nourishment

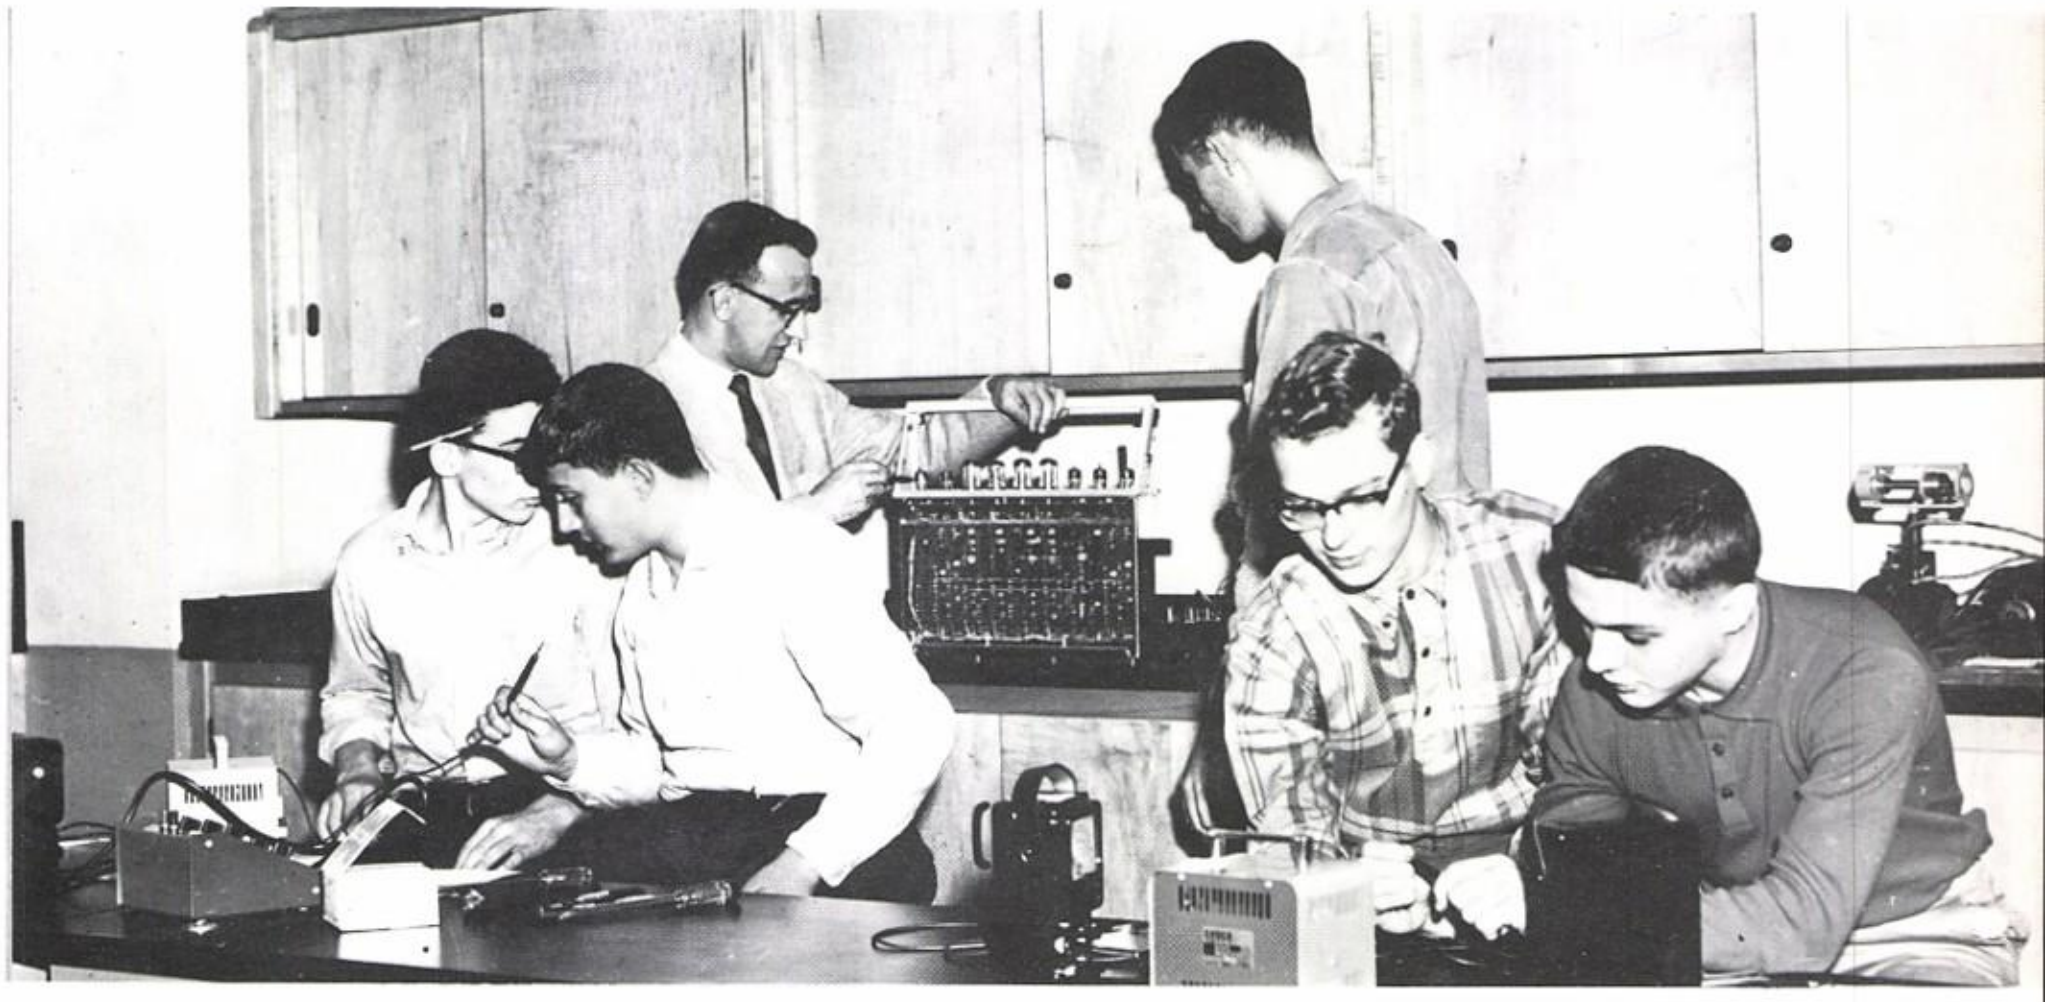
For curious minded young astronauts, the science clubs provide the necessary mental satisfaction which all scientists need. In the beginning the 9th Grade Science Club, headed by Mr. Myers, works for the understanding of basic laws and principles. Being more specialized, the Biology Club, directed by Mr. Posey, deals with the microscopic "beasts." Finally, as the thirst for scientific knowledge increases, these advanced students become a member of the Electronics Club.

Working after school, interested members of the Electronics Club are: Mike Dietz, Mike McGlauflin, Lynn Crone, Mr. Shaffer, Richard Oberlander, Terry Rohrbaugh, and Dean Haugh.



Going on one of their previously planned excursions, the Biology Club receives some last minute instructions from their leader Mr. Posey. This year's schedule, like every other one, calls for a trip to the Pennsylvania State Farm Show. News acquired on the trip will be discussed at the next meeting. Above: Betty Posey, Shirley Tolley, and Lois Hively lead a discussion.

for Hungry Minds of Students



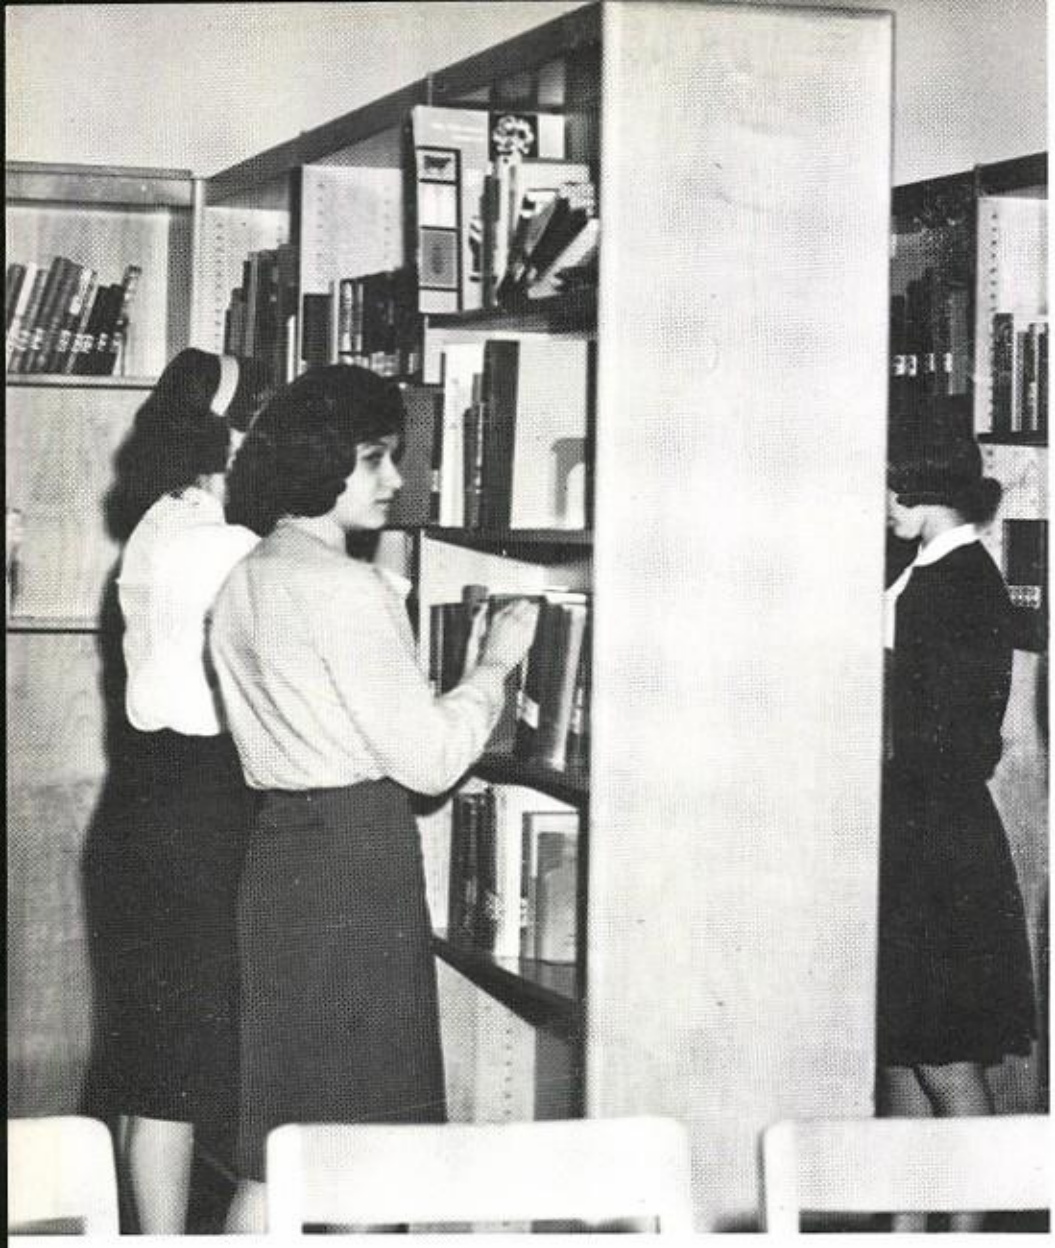
Our camera is focused on the Electronics Club, as Mike McGlauflin, Mike Dietz, Lynn Crone, and Sherwood Shoff study the basic functions of electronics. Meanwhile Dave Pfaltzgraff listens while Mr. Shaffer explains a computer bank.

Benjamin Leighty and Leroy Sterner enjoy watching the aquarium and studying the life in this environment.

Mathematics Club members, under the supervision of Mr. Ziegler, fervidly work with their teaching machines. Results of their time spent on these books outside of school are reported periodically to their advisor.

Library Assistants Lend

For those students who have an interest in library work, the Library Club offers opportunities in this field. These young librarians meet every Wednesday with Mrs. Miller to clean shelves, repair old volumes, to return books to their proper places, and to make noteworthy showcase displays. The Library Club not only offers valuable background to future librarians, but also provides information to students on the inner functions of the library.



Three members of the Library Club perform one of their assistive duties, stocking books on shelves so that they are easily accessible to students. The girls in this club spend much of their time in the library.

Four library assistants, Eleanor Pickel, Kay Vasellas, Ester Van Dyke, and Bonnie Waltemeyer, are busily at work behind the desk signing out books, collecting overdue fees, and repairing damaged materials. These girls attain a great deal of satisfaction in helping Mrs. Miller with her numerous routine duties. Throughout the year these young librarians also participate in activities of the Library Club, which provides numerous services to the library.

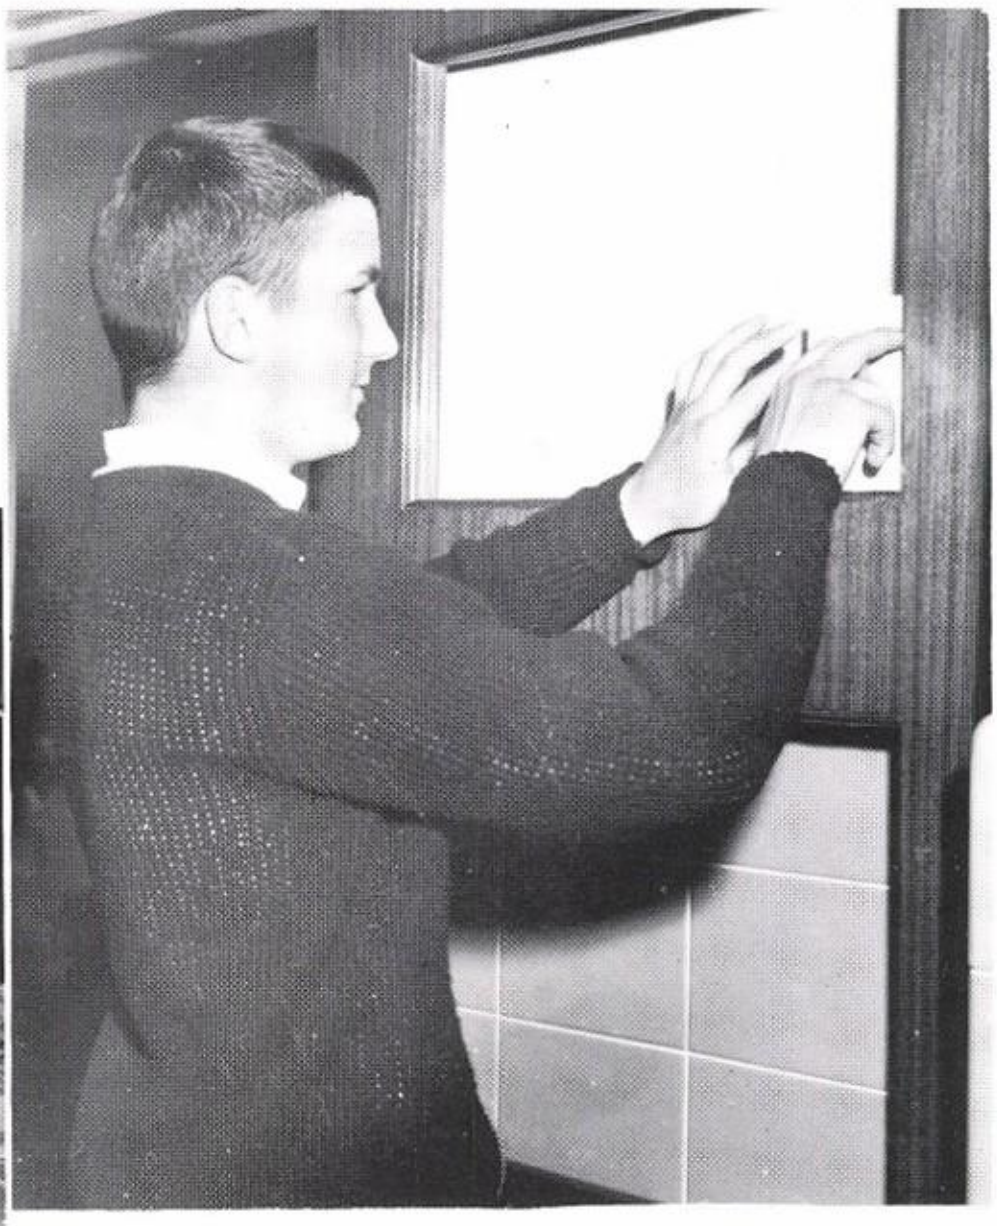
Clubs of the Present

Today's world necessitates much preparation for life and each person's work; hence, R.L.A.S.H.S. provides many Future clubs which help our students gain insight into vocational pursuits. The F.F.A. provides a background for future agriculturists while the F.H.A. prepares all interested girls for homemaking. Members of the F.N.A. and F.T.A. also make plans for their future years as nurses and teachers respectively. Organizations such as these prove to be very beneficial as well as enjoyable.

The members of the Future Teachers Club under the guidance of Mrs. Edna Sheckart prepare for their assembly. Rodney Haugh rehearses for his part as a newscaster while the group listens intently.

Ed Heindel, one of our future farmers, proudly displays a window sticker on his homeroom door announcing the annual F.F.A. week. The F.F.A., a large "future" club, contributes much to school life at Red Lion.



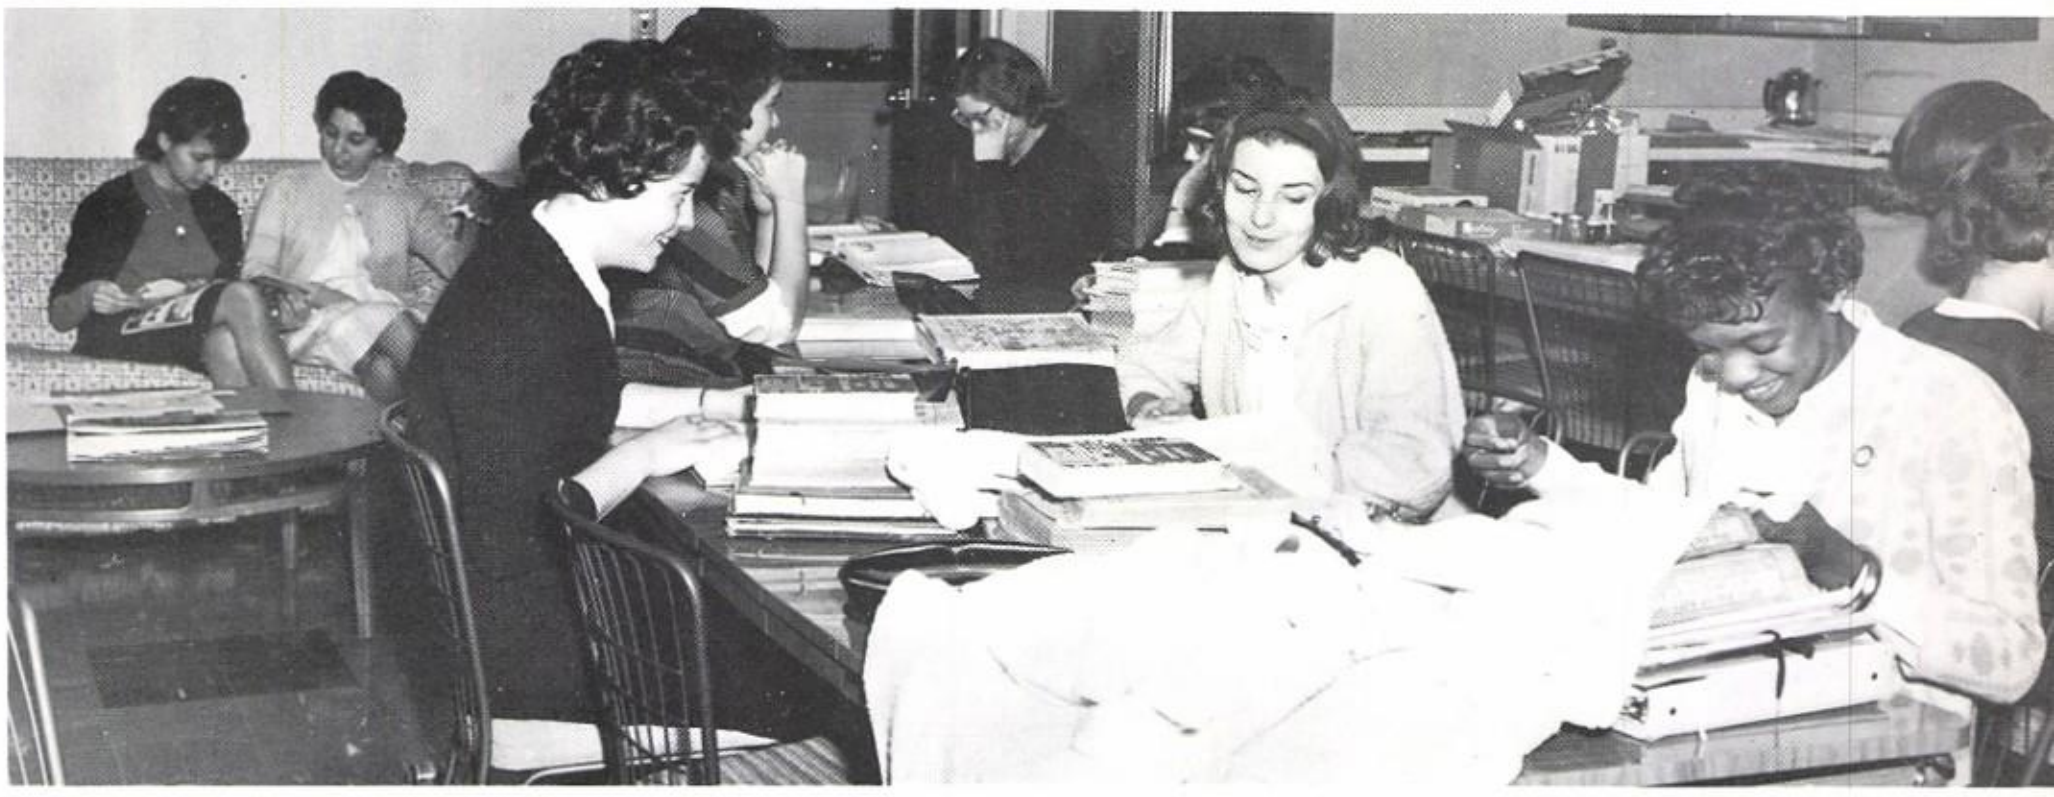
Don't let that get away! Jane Shive clasps her material as she works diligently in home economics class. Using various sewing techniques, these girls become skilled in making articles of wearing apparel.

Plan for the Future

Members of the Future Nurses Club, Janet Henry and Linda Hunt, discuss the health display located in the Nurses Suite. Looks as if they have learned something from the drawings which depict good health habits.

"I'm just wild about Barry" comes the cry as some of our future teachers perform in their organizations assembly program. These vivacious girls are Brenda Gemmill, Carole Ashton, and Pat Geesey.

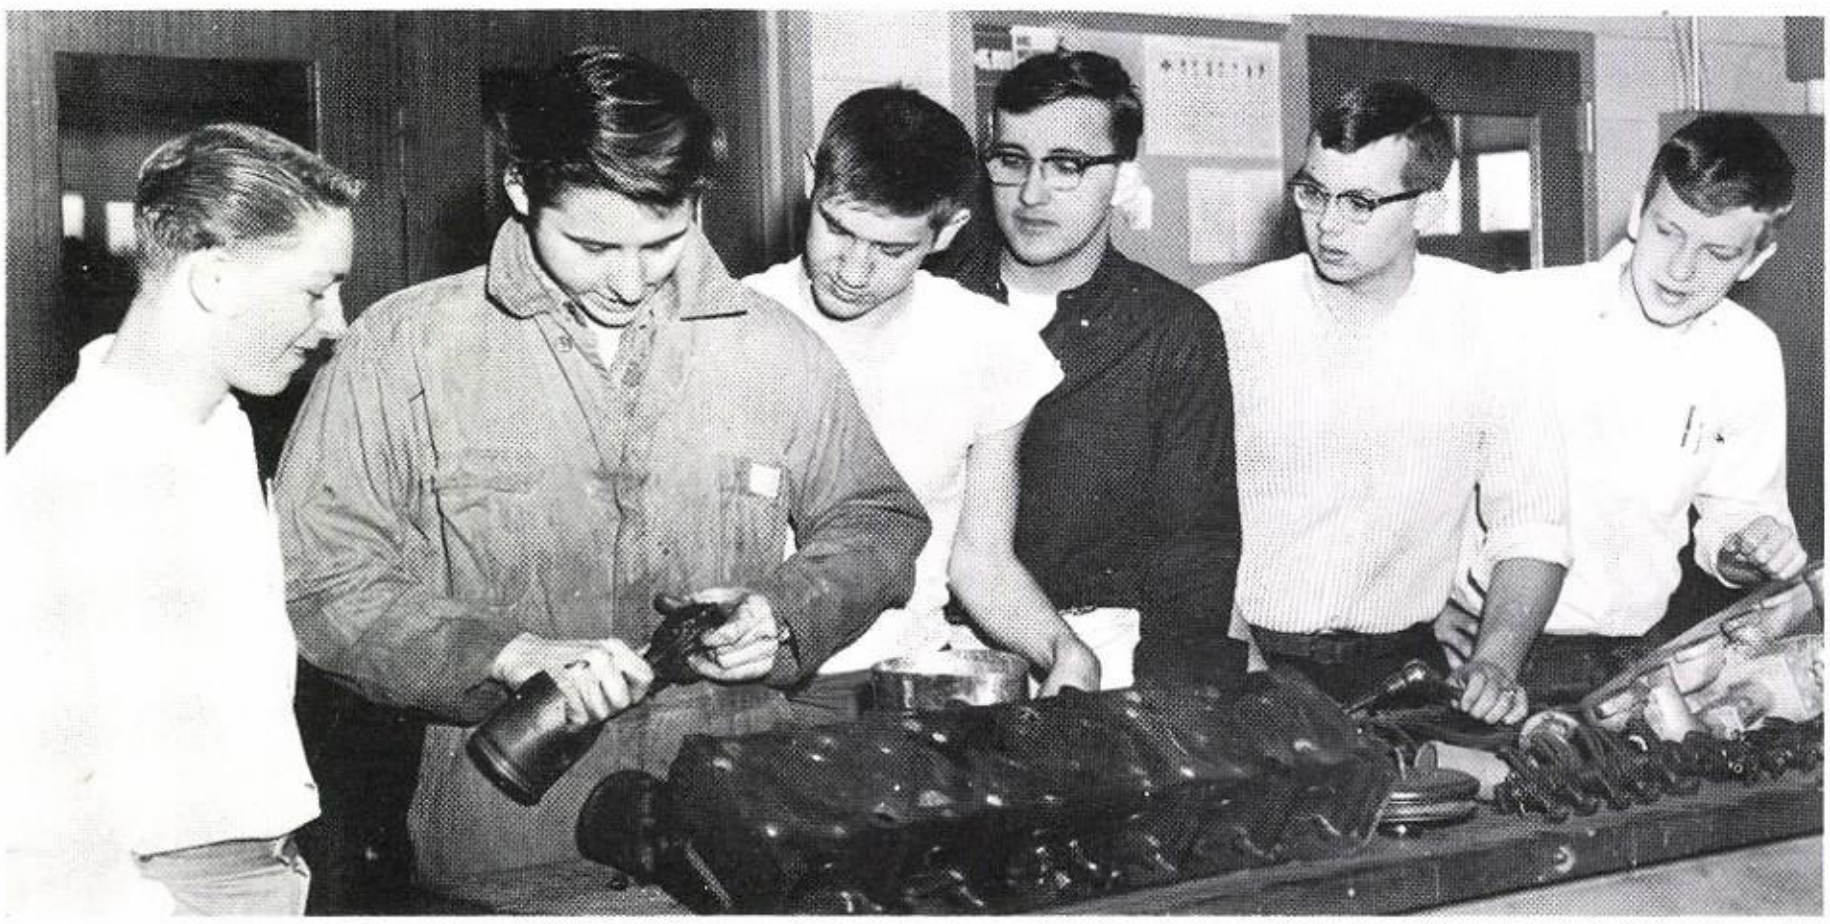
Ranging from sewing to studying, a variety of activities take place in Homeroom B-106. Though strictly a junior homeroom, girls from the freshmen to the senior classes can be found there every day. This morning's agenda calls for some repair work by Phyllis Buchanan, some last minute studying by Rachael Amspacker, and some daydreaming by Bonnie Crouse. Brenda Frey and Janet Ness seem thoroughly engrossed with a fashion magazine.



Knowhow and Practice

The wide range of special clubs offered in our school covers many different interests. Mechanics Club offers members the chance to take apart intricate equipment and examine the inner workings, certainly a treat for these amateurs. For the military-minded individual, marching club specializes in many involved routines and drills, which develop a well-coordinated body (and a strong back). Archery Club teaches young hunters and sportsman, who are interested in this hobby, the fundamentals of using the bow and arrow in healthy outdoor recreation.

Jeff Patterson demonstrates for Mary Jane Stein a method of using a bow and arrow. From the expression on his face perhaps his enjoyment comes from his acquaintance with Mary Jane than from his bow and arrow.



Lynn Morgan is caught in the act of demonstrating several of the techniques which will come in handy when cleaning and assembling the various parts of a motor. He must be getting the point across, because Rollin Ream, Terry Leik, Bruce Shaw, Roy Hanna, and James Hyson, certainly seem intrigued by this explanation. Wouldn't Lynn make a good teacher?

Go Hand in Hand

Jim Kuhlman, Tim Hershner, Bob Emenheiser, Frank McDermott, Elwood McCleary, Eric Rexroth and Nicky LaVenture, members of the Mechanics Club check the heartbeat of an engine.

Mr. Fitzkee must have given a serious command, since these members of the Marching Club have such a solemn look on their faces. Terry Rider, Dale Young, Darwin Dosch, Bill Eveler, Sherwood Shoff, and Dick Eline come quickly to attention at the sound of their director's voice. This group practices precision drills and other intricate techniques of marching.

Young Astronauts Catapult High School Careers

Spirited leaders of our Busy Freshmen Class: Jane Roseman, Barbara Holtzapple, Jane Kopp, and Lorna Laucks.

Newcomers to our school this year, the Freshman class, orbited into a whole new world of exciting activity. After several weeks of frenzied room-hunting, they finally settled into the routine of school life. These industrious young Lions showed signs of ability from the start as they expanded into the many extra-curricular activities. They did not win top honors with their float, but these young Lions deserve credit for their efforts. In the field of sports, the Freshmen football players shared the championship with two other schools. The freshmen are bound to gain many lasting friendships and valuable experiences as they continue their travel with Leo.

As They Continue in Their Four-year Orbit

What's for dinner? It must be something good, judging from the looks on the girls' faces.

Well! Everyone seems to know the answer to this question. Hope they have the right one!

Taking a test can be a difficult task, especially if you're not prepared! This is not a problem here, however, since freshman Margaret Frey seems to know exactly what she's doing.

Mr. Myers looks on as two of his amateurs are busy at work learning the principles of science. It's anybody's guess what the project is that they are working on, but needless to say, they seem fascinated by the experiment, for it's much more interesting than the book.

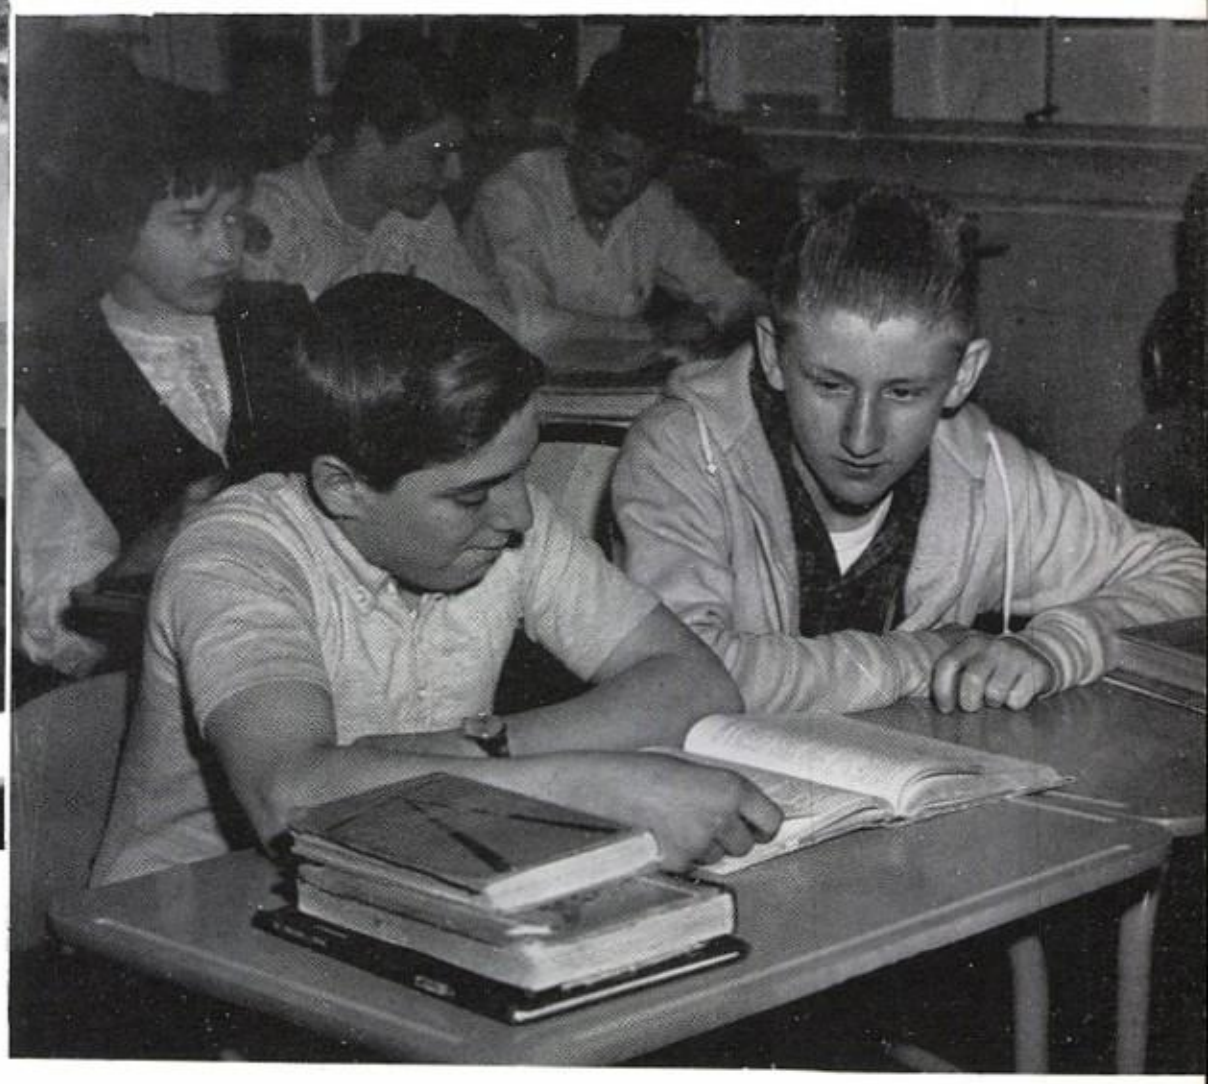
These boys, as well as everyone else in Mr. Beckley's general science class, seem to be having fun while they learn the important principles of science. They may be studying anything from the planets to the six simple machines.

It's a typical Monday morning at Red Lion! These freshmen students, like many others, are working as hard as they possibly can to get their morning assignment finished on time. Good luck!



Sophomores are Supplied Fuel for Orbits

With one full year of experience behind them, the sophomores have begun to take an active interest in school life. In many activities they have already shown that they are a functioning part of R.L.A.S.H.S.; these members, the class of '66, can be found anywhere throughout the school. They make up a part of the cheerleading and majorette squads. They are the nucleus of the junior varsity football and basketball teams. There is even a sophomore on the first string of our championship varsity football team. The sophomores can be complimented on their artistic abilities, since they worked together to produce the second place float in the annual Homecoming Parade.

Juniors Await Their Turn in the Spotlight

Looking forward to one more year in high school, the class of '65 shows its many talents in practically all facets of school life. The junior athletes constitute a large part of both the varsity football and basketball teams. The girls, also, add to the entertainment as cheerleaders and majorettes. In the fall the juniors put their energy into the preparation of their Homecoming float "Victory Time." Although the float captured no prizes, the first prize of the door decorating contest at Christmas time went to junior homeroom A206. With the last big year approaching, juniors will soon choose, their class motto and colors.

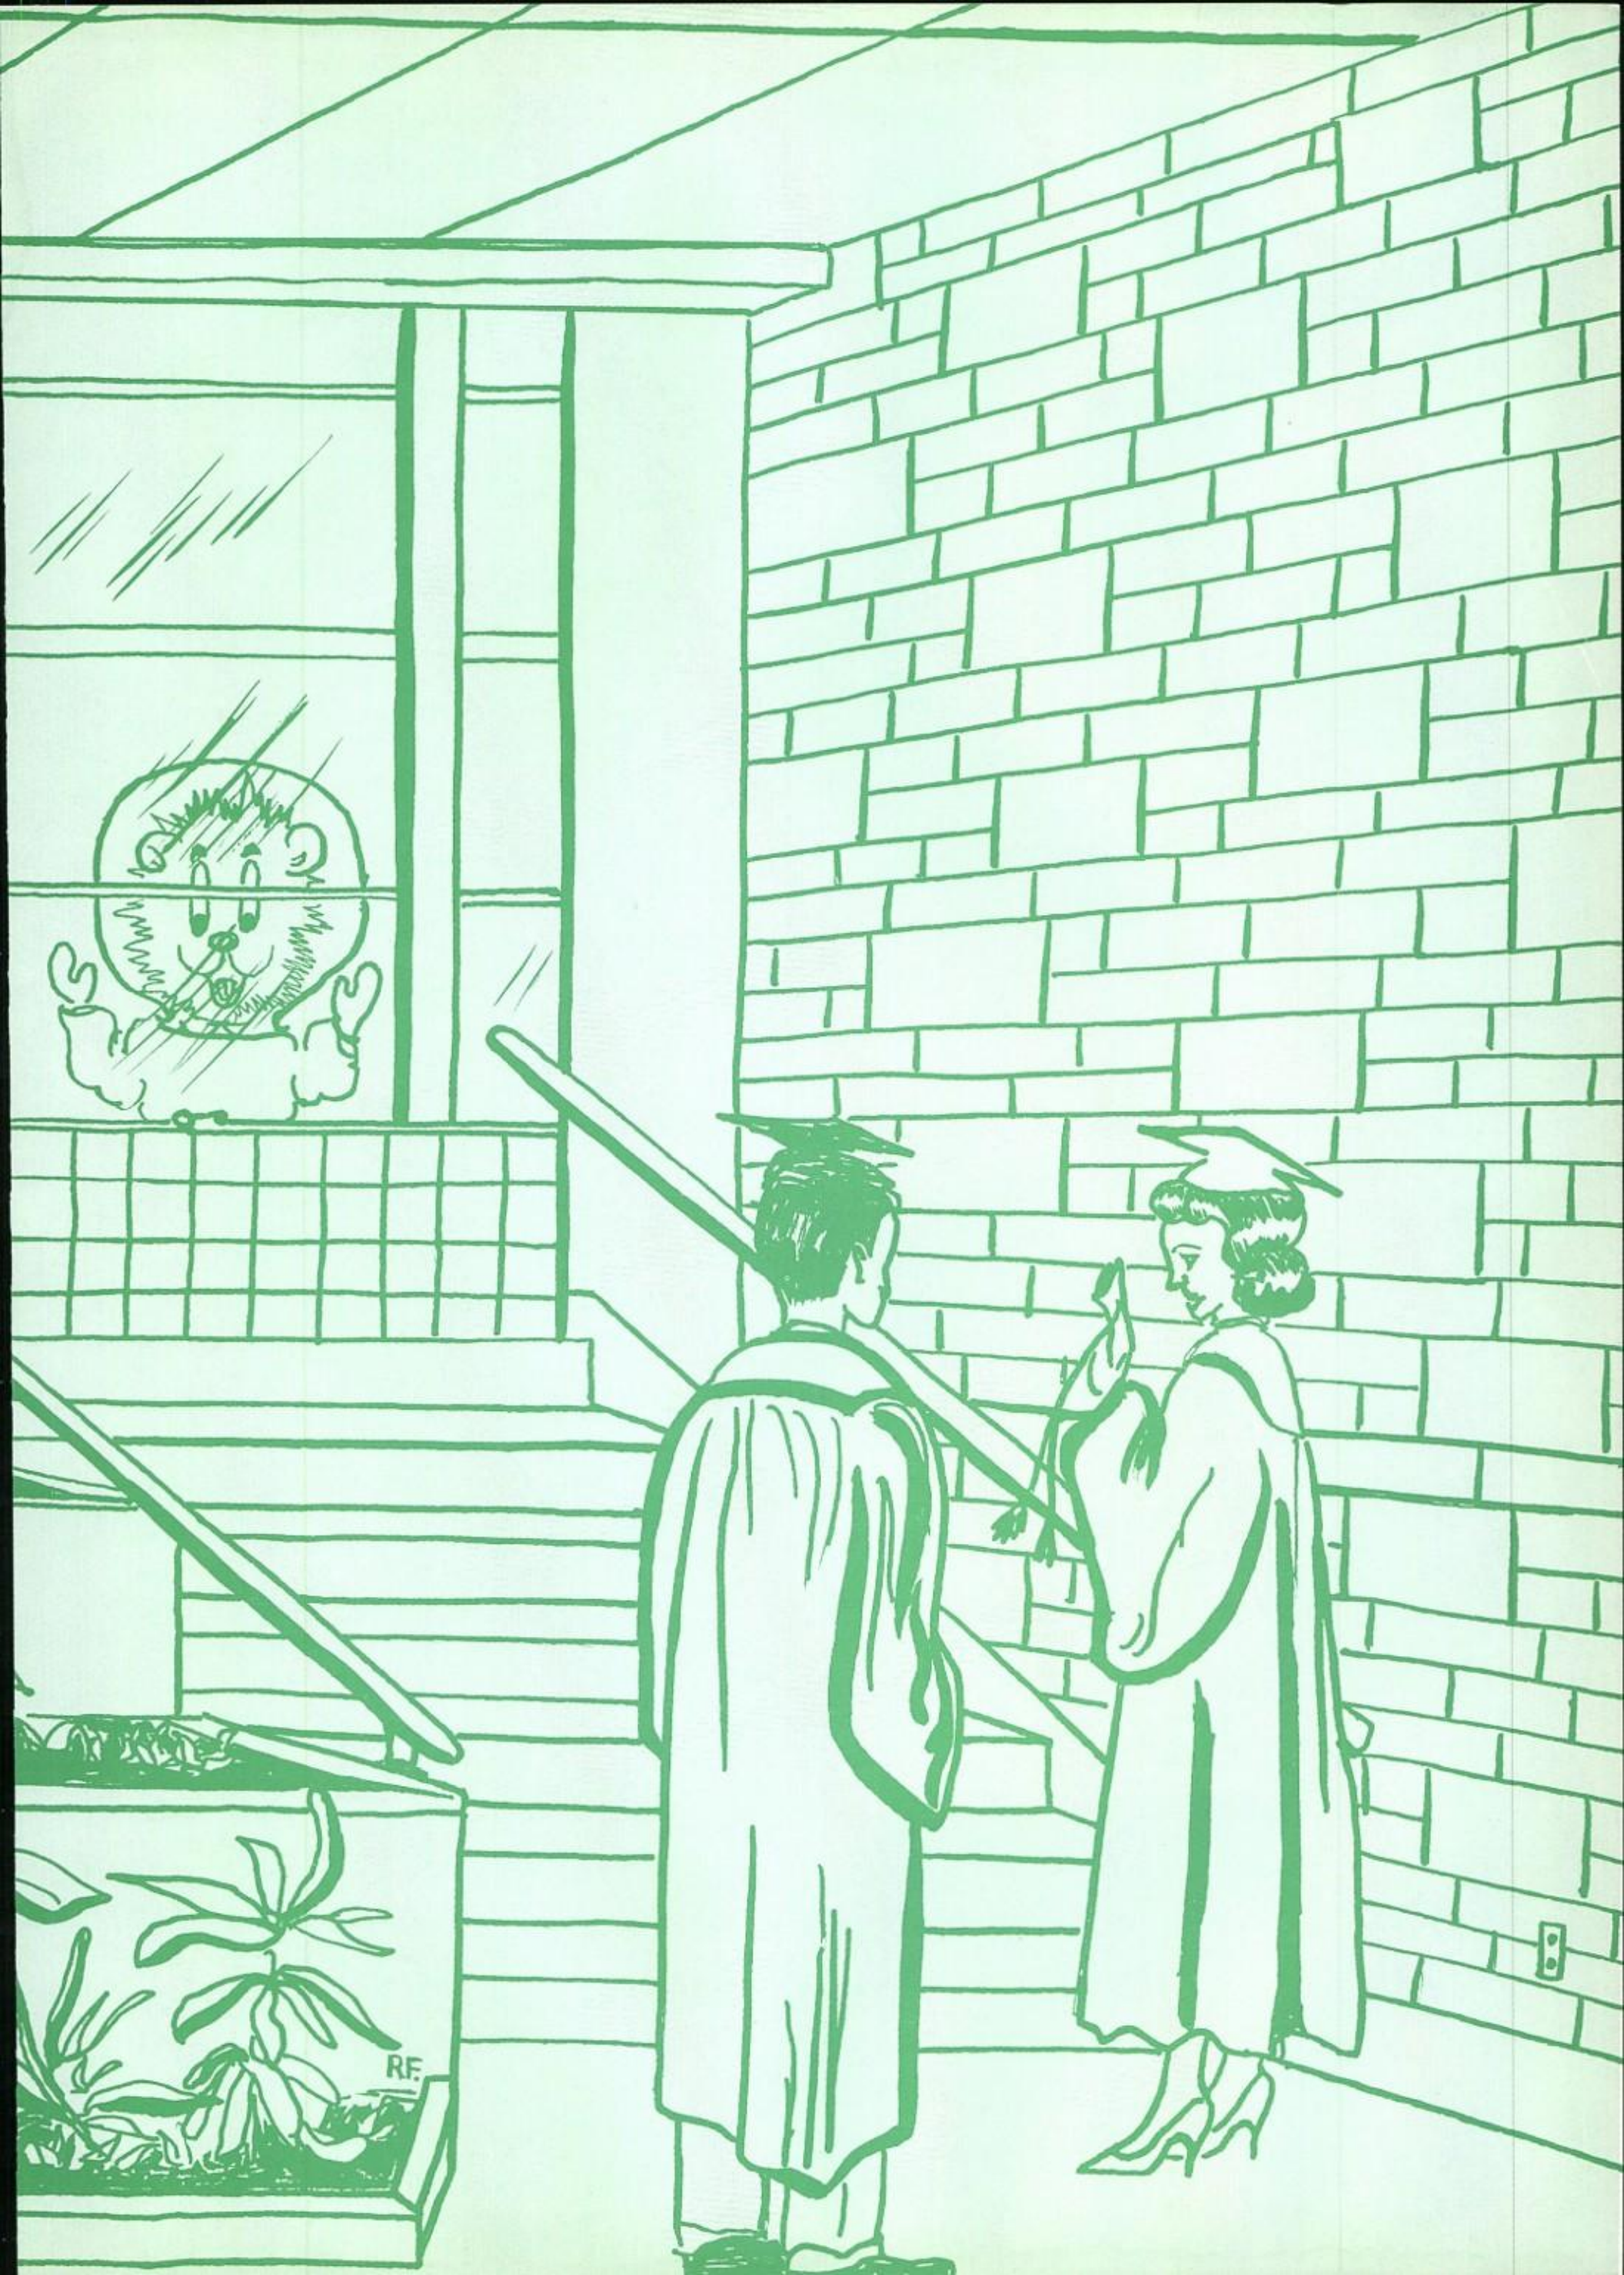
SPRING PREVIEW



RF.

Developing Talents in

As the earth brings forth her bud, life also springs up at Red Lion. Students start to realize that school is nearing its close, and everyone has a case of "spring fever." Now that projects are finished and semester rushes are over, sighs of relief can be heard throughout the corridors and classrooms. Both scholars and instructors come to life after a long hard winter and look with anticipation for the coming year. New editors and staff members take their positions on the school's publications, while spring sports and dramatic and musical events swing in with full force. Many clubs and organizations take on new forms of entertainment and work to meet the longings for the out-of-doors. Although students fancy the bubbling forth of nature, they still spend much time on classwork and put the finishing touches on heavily-loaded schedules.

Mrs. Jackowich discusses parts in the Jr. Play with Susan Flinchbaugh, Richard Smeltzer, and Jane Sechrist.

Juniors Susan Emenheiser, Cheryl Davis, Linda Buecker, Cindi Keesey, Linda Pomraning, and Ward Yorks, who hold positions as apprentices on the LEONID, gain experience for the jobs they will have next year as editors of the paper.

Acting and Journalism

NATIONAL SOCIETY . . . Outstanding juniors and seniors are honored at the traditional National Honor Society assembly in April.

JUNIOR PLAY . . . The Junior Class presented "Love Is Eternal" March 13 and 14. This three-act drama deals with the life of Mary Todd Lincoln.

SCIENCE FAIR . . . Students taking a science course can be quite proud of this remarkable display—a result of many hours of hard work.

CAREER CONFERENCE . . . This annual event, a scheduled part of the school day, is a guide to many students in their choice of vocations.

"Homer, what bony ribs you have. You ought to try some of the cafeteria's food."

Students Begin Varied Projects

As the close of this school year draws near, plans for the '65 LION begin to take form. Those juniors who are interested in yearbook work, attended a meeting at which Miss Warner and Miss Clevenger explained staff requirements.

Mr. Zerbe thanks Dr. Reed and his assistant for administering the tuberculin skin test.

EXCHANGE ASSEMBLY . . . March 20 Red Lion and Dallastown, rival schools not only in sports but also in entertainment, exchanged their top talent.

STUDENT COUNCIL ELECTIONS . . . The campaign and election for student council officers brings enthusiasm to the student body.

NIGHT OF MUSIC . . . The various musical groups combine their talents to present a well-rounded program for an evening (May 11) of enjoyable listening.

SPRING BAND CONCERT . . . The band, directed by Mr. Ward, honored all senior members at its annual performance in Fairmount Park May 17.

in the Spring

Harold Keeports and Donald Arnold are caught in the act of developing yearbook pictures during the LION rush.

Chuck Rost, working with a Geiger counter for his physics project, explains its operation to a classmate, Marty Neff. Many projects involving the use of this instrument are completed for the science fair each year.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM . . . The prom culminates the social activities for this year. All juniors and seniors realize that this is a "night to remember."

CLASS DAY . . . Seniors really work to contribute the results of their time and talent to the treasury of memories hidden in this alma mater.

BACCALAUREATE . . . One of the final events included in the graduation ceremonies is baccalaureate. This service is sponsored by the local churches.

COMMENCEMENT . . . This program is the final touch to high school life. Once alumni, these seniors will cling merely to memories of their ORBIT WITH LEO.

Mrs. Uhler lends a helping hand as Mrs. Horner unwraps the gifts presented to her at a bridal shower given in Mrs. Horner's honor. The kitchen shower was appropriately held in the home-ec room.

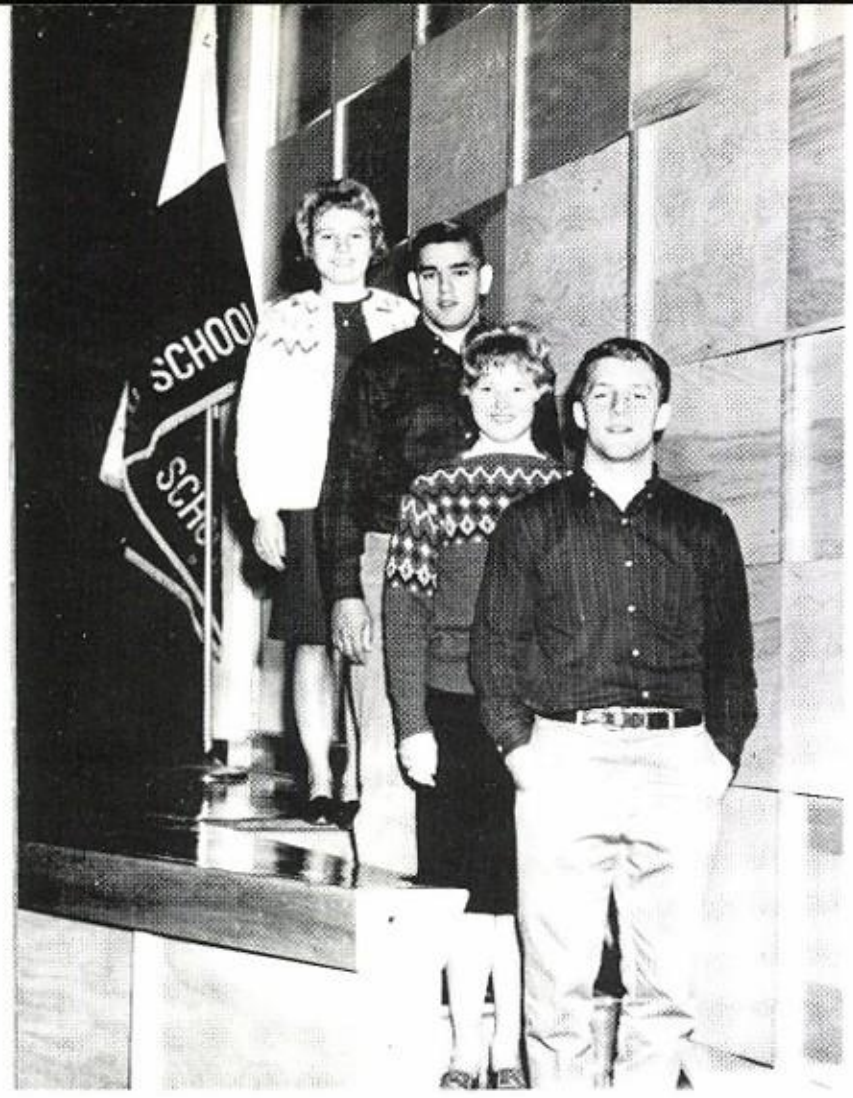
Hopeful Lions Launch



Senior Class Officers: L. Markel, J. Pitzer, J. Ellis, B. Workinger.

The final months leading up to graduation marked the end of a long orbit for a group of travelers at Red Lion; a trip which took them on the paths of many rich experiences and fond memories.

Determined to make the most of their final year, the seniors took a leading part in sports, studies, and various organizations. Along with their many personal decisions, seniors found time to set an excellent example for the up and coming underclassmen.

Sooner than they realize high school days are only a memory. The prom and graduation are a thing of the past, and there is only the future ahead.

Mr. Posey's advanced biology students, Cynthia Kaltreider, Kathy Posey, and Denny Thompson, enact the delicate procedure of dissecting their feline friend. Observation is of utmost important since this is the purpose of the course.

Creative agriculture students, Paul Ruppert, Dale Rexroth, Lester Swope, Dennis Seitz, and Robert Emenheiser examine products of their endeavors. Throughout the year these prospective future farmers participated in the school's extensive agriculture program for which they design and complete various original projects.

The class of '64 wishes to dedicate the following meditation to Mark Joseph Burg.

MEDITATION 17

—All mankind is of one author, and is one volume; when one man dies, one chapter is not torn out of the book, but translated into a better language; and every chapter must be so translated. God employs several translators; some pieces are translated by age, some by sickness, some by war, some by justice; but God's hand is in every translation; and His hand shall bind up all our scattered leaves again for that library where every book shall lie open to one another.—

John Donne

Senior classmates would like to acknowledge Mark's great interest in basketball and tennis—both as an avid participator and spectator.
